Tax rate is up two mills

The Tofield taxpayer will find his taxes increased by 2 mills this year—from 65 to 67 mills.

Although School costs were up by almost $7,000, only 2 mills will be passed on to the homeowner because of increased taxable assessment for 1968 and because the Municipal mill rate was decreased by 3 mills.

This means the average homeowner with an assessment of $4,000 will pay $8.00 more than in 1967.

County Council briefs

Following are the minutes, in part, of the regular meeting of the Council of the County of Beaver, held Thursday, May 9.

D. J. Bussard, District Engineer, and the Assistant District Engineer attended the meeting and discussed with the Council the work to be done under the Articles of Agreement. Mr. Bussard stated that, as yet, he had not received information on the amount available to the County, but he expected the grant to be the same as in 1967 The Councillors inquired if it would be possible for the County's own equipment to do the work on the special contingency grant road this year. Some considerable discussion took place and it was calculated that some 120 days would be required to do the work under the articles of agreement. (this would be approximately six months, and Mr. Bussard suggested that the Council should look to 3 half of the proposition He stated that the M.D. of Provost had tried it and had not been able to complete the special contingency work in that area and furthermore, had not been able to do enough work to cover the grant under the articles of agreement. The Councillors were of the opinion that it would be of no advantage for the County to try to do the work on the special contingency grant road under the circumstances.

Mr Bussard requested the County to look after the weed spraying on Highways 14 and 36 as in previous years

Sister passes in Ontario

Mrs. Roberts of Tofield received a phone call from Ontario on May 17 announcing that her sister, Mrs Alma Morris of Owen Sound, Ontario, had died of a heart attack at the age of 62 years Mrs. Roberts and her daughter Marguerite went by plane to Toronto on Saturday, and from Toronto to Owen Sound by bus, arriving there at noon on Sunday, and attending the funeral on Tuesday.

Mrs. Morris is survived by one sister, Mrs. Roberts of Tofield, and six nieces, Mrs Mae Ferguson, Tofield, Mrs. Phyllis Fitzpatrick, Calgary, Mrs. Marguerite Bailey, Edmonton, Mrs. Lois Knock, North Bay, Ont., Mrs. Violet Stott, Owen Sound, and Mrs. Betty Krane of Markdale, Ontario.

Fever is lowering

The election fever raised by all the nomination conventions has cooled off somewhat, but with active campaigns getting underway, should slowly start to boil again, and reach a fever pitch by election day. More Canadians are showing more interest than in any previous election, and it could very well turn out a record of people will go to the polls.

It would also appear that the Trudeau balloon has levelled off somewhat, but as voting day approaches, it should rise to new heights. Mr. Trudeau is somewhat of a controversial figure and this should not change noticeably before the vote. Many people have a great distrust of what the teenager likes, and 'they' obviously like Trudeau, and this will lose him some votes. It should be noted that at many of his receptions, the greater part of his fans are teenagers who do not have a vote.

Mr Stanfield, on the other hand is making the most of his image of a steady, honest businessman and is slowly gathering more support. In recent days the has even displayed flashes of wit that have stood him in good stead. Tommy Douglas is repeating the same old lines from the past, and if anything, the NDP are gradually being pushed out of the picture. Doubtless they'll win seats, but not as many as in previous elections.

Achievement Day

There is no better way to learn than by doing. This is the answer, and the proof is in the remarkable results shown by youngsters involved in the various 4-H programs. At this time of year, many of the young people are receiving an assessment of their training at the many 4-H Achievement Days and nights, and 4-H Beef Sales.

The value of the training is most apparent in the area of the beef clubs, where the young farmers of the future offer the results of their winter's labour for sale to the highest bidder, and also compete for some very handsome trophies and honors. The boys and girls of this district, and their leaders who devote much time and effort to instilling their knowledge of the livestock industry into young minds, are to be commended for a fine show. This will be evidenced in this area on Monday, when the Tofield 4-H Beef Club will be staking their annual Achievement Day, Sale and Banquet.

White for danger

Recent reports from Russian engineers are that an inexpensive method has been found to prevent roads from heaving because of rising ground waters, which would be most welcome in this part of the country, and mountain drivers will welcome a new technique of Canada's National Research Council to improve the forecasting of avalanches.

But we think skeptical eyes will be turned at a report from Safety engineers that red is no longer the color for danger, but white. They may be experts, but humanity seems instinctively to associate red with danger, while white is an empty color.

Future fire stoppers

It's too late when the fire gets going, of course, like all the rough fires in Alberta's north right now, but it's highly interesting to note that scientific tree planting may be used in the future to help control fires. Grown by the Ontario Paper Co. in Thorold, a hybrid poplar tree has attracted the atte[illegible] Ontario's department of lands and forests which has gathered 1,4[illegible] the cuttings from a company pla[illegible].

It was also mentioned that a boarding allowance could be given which also would reduce the cost for ... pupil resident in other than the Viking attendance area.

It was moved that Grades 10, 11 and 12 at the Viking School be operated on a Semester basis during ... school year and that the Dept. of Education be requested to give necessary permission. Carried.

RECONVENED MEETING

The Reconvened Meeting was called to order at 10:10 a.m. on Wednesday, May 15.

Proposed Budget

Copies of the proposed Budget for 1968 were given to each member of the School Committee. The Budget was discussed item by item with explanations furnished by the Superintendent and the Secretary-Treasurer.

Teacherage rentals was referred to, and the method of setting the rentals was explained and appeared to be satisfactory.

High School Textbook Rental was referred to by the Superintendent. No provision for this had been made in the Budget but Mr. Bruce explained how the system would work. The County is able to purchase the textbooks at 60% of cost and this will make it possible to have a very attractive rental system: possibly 25 or 30 cents per credit per year. One advantage in having the rental system is that the books would be on hand when school started in the fall, and this would be particularly advantageous under the proposed semester system as there would be no time loss for the students obtaining the required textbooks. The rental system had been recommended by the School Principals. Mr. Bruce suggested that a start could be made with grade 12 in September of this year and in three years time the plan would be in full operation.

The Budget, as presented to the Committee, provided for Revenues in the amount of $1,667,272 with expenditures in the same amount.

After a full discussion, it was moved and carried that the Budget for 1968, as presented to the School Committee at this time, be accepted.

It was moved and carried that the appointment of Mr. M. O. F. Hosein as science teacher at Ryley and Mr. Peter ... Stackleberg to the staff of the County be approved.

A motion that the resignation of Mrs. Winifred Beveridge, effective in July 1968, be accepted carried unanimously.

It was moved and carried that Miss Linda Dudd's request for leave of absence from the staff of the County of Beaver from September 1 1968 to August 31 1969 be approved. (Miss Dudd intended to return to the U of A to complete her studies.)

(By Colleen Wyllie)

Don Rudzcki won the championship of the Tofield 4-H Beef Club — Basic Achievement Day, Monday, with his outstanding, smooth, well-finished Hereford-Shorthorn steer. Reserve champion went to Ed Kallal with his Hereford steer. Pee Wee Champion went to an excellent quality Hereford-Angus steer shown by Elaine Jones, and Reserve Champion went to Larry Schacher's Hereford.

Judge for the difficult task of placing the calves was Roy Ballhorn of Wetaskiwin, a long-time breeder of Angus cattle. Showmanship judge was Don Hollesen of Holden. He picked out five for good showmanship, in the following order: Gordon Antonuk, Colleen Wyllie, Ron Kallal, Lyle Heiberg and R. Holowayeuk. The Pee Wee Showman-ship awards went to Larry Schacher, Elaine Jones, Teresa Kallal and Marilyn Davison.

Hanrmaster for the day was Glen Jones, and John Moore did the announcing.

An excellent showing was made by a number of members who exhibited cattle in the Breeding classes. In the yearling heifer class, 1st place went to Ross Causey; 2nd to Gordon Antonuk. The two-year-old class was captured by Doug Finseth; 2nd going to Lyle Heiberg. Doug also won the Herd competition.

The two top heifers of each class competed against each other, with Doug Finseth emerging as winner with his two-year-old tyney Hereford heifer. Second place went to Ross Causey and his yearling Hereford heifer.

4-H BANQUET

In the evening the Tofield Mennonite Church Ladies served a delicious meal to 180 people. Lyle Heiberg, president of the club, was chairman for the evening.

A welcome from the Town was given by Mr. Simons. Showmanship judge Don Hollesen gave a few words of praise to the 4-H members on their well-done job. Bob Park, district agriculturist, commended the club for their excellent Achievement Day. Guest speaker of the evening was Alderman Bill Fowler from Camrose and head of the Camrose Booster. Introduced by Terry Moore, he gave a challenging and inspiring talk on "Maturity".

Homesteaders Holiday is planned for July 1

(By Grace Phillips)

Time to get those old-fashioned costumes out again! This year and, it is hoped, in succeeding years the Tofield Community League's annual Dominion Day celebration will be known as "Homesteaders' Holiday".

So, cast your mind back to your, or your parents', or your grandparents' homesteading days, and get in the right frame of mind to participate in Tofield's big day.

July 1 was, in reality, the homesteaders' holiday in the Tofield area. Well over sixty years ago, the homesteaders celebrated Canada's birthday by taking a well-earned holiday to enjoy the sports of baseball and races, as well as to visit with seldom-seen neighbors.

In keeping with tradition, Homesteaders' Holiday this year will have the baseball tournament in which Tofielders have always delighted. The horses too, will be present as in the pioneer days. This year they will not be racing but jumping for top money.

Food, as always, will be plentiful. The ladies' booth, Johnny Haergen's hot-dog booth, and the Bert Everett's barbecue supper will provide food for all varieties of tastes.

Visiting will be a highlight of the day as in the past. Old-timers will be served coffee and will entertain each other with reminiscences of early days and with recent news of old friends.

The children's entertainment will be the only truly modern note in Homesteaders' Holiday. A Ferris wheel and a merry-go-round will be on hand for the pleasure of the younger set.

It is hoped to have a second fashion show modelled after last year's, which was such a success. So, shake out the Centennial Costumes — this year they will add color to the Homesteaders' Holiday!

Bardo gets win, tie to lead the PLBL

Bardo has moved into first place in the Power Line Baseball League after one week of play, as they picked up a win and a tie in two outings.

Their first game was a 6-6 tie with Viking in the latter center. Viking led the game 6-5 after one inning of play before rookie pitcher Don Whiteman settled down with relief help from Richard Foshaug. Then Bardo struck for six runs in the fifth and final inning to tie the score. Gib Bissard started for Viking and was relieved by Dave Asi in the fifth.

The second game, in Bardo, saw the homesters wallop Round Hill 13-2, with Bobby Foshaug the winning pitcher, getting relief help from Richard Foshaug. Vic Zemark was tagged with the loss, getting help from Lyle Hodge in the 6th inning.

Tofield was their only start of the week as the Lions travelled over to Ryley and returned home with an exciting 9-7 victory. Ed Williams went all the way to pick up the victory, striking out eight and walking none. Robert Lyolo and Blaine Lyolo pitched for Ryley. Between them they struck out five and walked six.

Ryley gained a split for the week as they proved to be poor hosts to the Viking team, whipping them 1-2. Blaine Lyolo went the distance for the winners, allowing only three hits. Dave Asi and Gib Bissard leased for Viking, with the latter being charged with the loss.

Tofield Community League plans for July 1 'Homesteaders Holiday'

(By Grace Phillips)

The regular meeting of the Tofield Community League was held June 4 in the Community Centre, with president Jack Lampitt in the chair and slightly over a quorum of members present.

In the absence of the treasurer, the financial report was given by Arnold Swift, who was also pro tem secretary.

Hans Christensen reported that the leaking section of the kitchen roof had been replaced at a cost of $275 for an area 20'x8'.

It was reported for the Theatre committee that the film "The Jungle Book" had been more profitable than most films. It was announced that Stan Kwasney had won the most recent 100 Club draw.

The annual Dominion Day Sports' Day was the chief item on the agenda. Committees were suggested or appointed for various areas of the activities necessary for a successful Sports' Day. Unfortunately, there were too few present to finalize arrangements in many areas.

Horace Soller reported that once again the Jumping and Cutting Horses will be in Tofield on July 1.

The baseball tournament was discussed, but arrangements are not yet complete. It may be necessary to start baseball at 10.00 a.m. if six teams are competing.

Exhibition games will be played by the Tofield Pony League, Little League, Pee Wee A and Pee Wee B teams.

Acme Novelty will again be on hand with the Ferris wheel, a larger merry-go-round and games of chance.

The parade, always an important feature of Sports' Day, will move off at 11.15. Committees to register floats entered were suggested. It is expected Art Francis will again be parade marshal.

The theme of the Sports' Day this year will be "Homesteaders' Holiday", and those attending are asked to wear the appropriate costumes which added so much to the gayety of the Centennial celebration.

A gate prize will again be drawn for, late in the afternoon, from the ticket stubs placed in drums at the entrance to the Exhibition Grounds.

Vince Bates will be barbecuing the meat this year, and Bert Everitt will have the barbecue supper ready to feed the hungry populace at 4:15.

The ladies will operate a booth with salads, pies, etc. John Baergen is in charge of the hot-dog booth.

Other features such as the fashion show, the tug-o-war, etc., were discussed. Announcements regarding them will be made later.

Fifty dollars was donated to the Junior Sports' Committee to further the sports activities of the town's youth.

At the close of the meeting, Petra Stauffer and Annie Hunley served coffee and lunch. This was much appreciated by the League members, who moved a hearty vote of thanks to these thoughtful ladies.

Tofield JHS graduands are honored at banquet

(Janice Murray)

The banquet honoring the Tofield JHS graduands was opened with a welcome by the chairman Judy Moore. The meal then began with Annie Ingram singing the Johnny Appleseed grace.

Toasts were given as follows: to the Queen, Berry Whitlaw, to the graduands, Gregg Seib, reply Miss Isaac; to the school, Lyle Jacobson, reply Mr. Meger.

Due to the death of his mother, Bruce Hogle, the guest speaker, was unable to attend, but in his place was Mr. Lorne Thompson. His introduction was given by Pat Kallal. Mr. Thompson gave an interesting talk on the responsibilities of the youth to their country along with the increasing amount of leisure time in our automated world.

Elvera Balzer spoke on behalf of the grade nine class to thank Mr. Thompson.

Esther Poetzcker thanked the grade eight class for giving them such an enjoyable evening.

Mr. Lampitt, speaking for the school administrative staff stated the advantages to the student of having staff trained in special subject areas. Mr. Robson, on behalf of M. Bruce and himself wished the graduands success. The students are still quoting his closing remark' "I have stood up to be seen, I have spoken to be heard, now I will sit down to be appreciated."

The program put on by the grade eight class consisted of three songs by the choral group and two short skits. To conclude the evening, some of the members of the choral group sang a song extending their good wishes for the future to the grade nine class. They were accompanied on the piano by Sandra Anderson. The program chairman was Brendan Roberge.

The hall and the tables were decorated by several grade eight students using a spring motif.

The Tofield Gun Club hosted a lot of noisemakers on Sunday when they held their annual black powder shoot. This was just one of the many events on the program — the 100 yard bench event. —Larry Wilson Photo.

Local Gun Club hosts 'black-powder' shoot

The annual shoot was held on Sunday, June 9 at the Tofield Gun Club range under partly cloudy skies. The temperature was just about right, neither too hot nor too cold, and the shooters from all over the province were able to put in the day in a most comfortable fashion.

Big winner for the day was Warren Werner of Bluffton who won first prize in the 50 yard offhand rifle event, the 100 yard bench rest event, second place in the Traditional Muzzle Loading event, and also did sufficiently well in the remaining events to carry off the huge new Grand Aggregate Trophy presented by the Custom Gun Shop of Edmonton.

The Grand Aggregate Trophy was one of three new permanent trophies presented for annual competition this year; besides the aggregate there is the 100 yard Bench Rest trophy presented by the Tofield Gun Club, and the Traditional Muzzle Loading trophy presented by Eddy Electric of Edmonton.

Winners in the other events were: Gordon Jorgensen of Camrose, 50 yard pistol event, trophy by Paul Fung. The 50 yard off-hand trophy was presented by Baldwin & Johnstone Sporting Goods of Edmonton. The Eddy Electric trophy was won by Arnold Bugge of Ryley, who also won the miss-and-out shotgun trophy, presented by Robinson's Stores of Tofield. The trophy presented by John Widrynoski for the best bear shooter was taken by Gordon Warner of Sherwood Park. Gordon Garford of Tofield won the Klondike Arms trophy in the Standard Trap event.

The Bill Kwasnie trophy (one shot offhand at 100 yards) was won by Eugene Burzewicz of Edmonton. The trophy presented by Arnold Bugge for the one best shot of the day went to Bob Hallam of Hinton, and the trophy presented by Charlie's Place of Edmonton for best costumed shooter of the day went to Stan Beaudoin of Edmonton, who had on a very good Mexican garb. The Northwestern Utilities Ltd. trophy for team stake shooting went to a team consisting of Eugene Burzewicz, Lance Paul, Ray Lathlin and Bob Place, all of Edmonton.

Several place winners were as follows: 50 yard rifle, Bob Backman fo Hinton; 50 yard handgun, Paul Fung of Edmonton; 100 yard Bench rest, Lars Rude of Bardo; Traditional muzzle loading event, Warren Werner of Bluffton; Standard trap, Bob Harries of Lethe, and second in the Grand Aggregate was Gordon Jorgensen of Camrose. All received medals, which were presented by the Tofield Gun Club.

All competitors received a ribbon signifying that they had attended the shoot. The Tofield Boy Scouts were once again on hand to run the concession and served to be doing a land office business. The canteen crew got off a number of shots, noisy and smoky enough to please the most discriminating watcher. All in all, the club members feel that it was a very successful shoot.

Bardo still unbeaten in Power Line League

Bardo picked up two wins during the past week to run their unbeaten streak to four games as they moved four points in front, in the Power Line Baseball League.

Last Thursday they squeezed Ryley by a close 8-6 margin, and followed this up by blanking Tofield 5-0. Ken Sandifer started the first game and was relieved by Richard Fusheng in the third inning, with the latter getting credit for the victory. Robert Lyolo was the starting and losing pitcher for Ryley, being relieved by Warren Werner in the second inning.

Merv Yoder picked up the shutout victory in his first start of the season, as he allowed only three hits while striking out nine. Allan McNaughton was the starting and losing pitcher for Tofield and was relieved by Ed Williams, who in turn gave way to Floyd Taylor.

Crown Lumber opens new Tofield showroom

The new showroom and warehouse facilities of Crown Lumber Company Limited in Tofield will be officially opened Tuesday, June 18, branch manager Jack Whyte announced today. Crown Lumber is a division of Crown Zellerbach Canada Limited.

The new building is located on the same property as the former Kallal Lumber, which owner Charles Kallal sold to Crown Lumber about a year ago.

The official "Board-Cutting" Ceremony will take place at 10:00 a.m., with Mayor W. H. Freebury officiating. Mayor Freebury is expected back this weekend from his overseas trip. Jack Whyte and his two assistants, George Boose and Walker Neufeld, will be greeting customers and advising on building and renovating hours, 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Crown Lumber general manager Robert G. Johnson, marketing manager David A. J. Stephenson and Alberta district manager Neil C. Lowes, all from Calgary, are expected to be in Tofield for the occasion. Branch managers Claude Seibert from Edmonton and Lee Berrington from Camrose will also be in attendance.

Many manufacturers' representatives are also expected to be present, with demonstrations and displays of their products.

Local manager Jack Whyte and his staff are very pleased with the new showroom. "It's made a real difference in the more efficient way we've been able to serve customers and fill their orders", Mr. Whyte said. He has been manager of the Tofield branch since 1964. He started his career with Crown Lumber in Tofield, but also served at Irricana, Trochu and Clarnehoim.

Eglinski enters election fight

Another new candidate has appeared on the scene in this constituency, and by his appearance could turn the battle for the right to represent the area in Ottawa into a real dog fight.

George Eglinski, who lost out to Don Mazankowski of Vegreville in the fight for the Progressive Conservative nomination in a convention in Two Hills that lasted until 3:00 o'clock in the morning will run as an Independent Conservative.

Mr. Eglinski and his followers have charged the Tory executive with mismanagement of the Two Hills convention, claiming that delegates were pushed around and turned away because of a lack of accommodation due to poor management. Mr. Eglinski was nominated at a convention held in Two Hills, with delegates from Tofield, Willingdon, Vegreville and Lamont in attendance.

The nomination of Mr. Eglinski could easily split the Conservative vote right down the middle and make it a three-way contest. Previously it appeared that Mr. Mazankowski of the Tories was leading, with St. Paul Mayor Jules Van Brabant of the Liberals running a strong second. NDP latecomer Joe Lindgren of Derwberry is considered to have only an outside chance at winning the election.

Missionary tells UCW of sojourn in Japan

(Mrs. Ellen Eaton)

LAKESHORE McKENZIE — The general meeting of the UCW was held May [illegible] in the church with Lakeshore Unit hosting the [illegible].

After the business agenda was completed a most interesting talk was given by Mrs. Balzer about her five and a half years as a missionary in Japan. Mrs. Balzer had a number of articles she brought back from Japan which added to the evening's interest. The UCW missionary study this year is centred on Japan and the members were indeed fortunate to have someone with experience in church work in that part of the world to tell them about the country and the social and religious problems there.

Mrs. Balzer stressed the fact that illiteracy is not the problem in Japan as it is in places like Africa and they have their own doctors, nurses, teachers and other professionals but [illegible] it does need Christ. A very small proportion of the large population is Christian although the Japanese are a very religious people.

Mrs. Balzer found housekeeping in Japan different from in Canada and told of amusing and some not so amusing accidents in regard to housemaking there.

The cities in Japan are quite modern with electricity and all the helpful appliances at hand, but smaller towns and outlying parts still are not highly modernized and this latter being the situation in their first home in Japan Mrs. Balzer learned to sweep and dust and do other chores in the Japanese way.

Tame and over-rated

It's too bad that the very general reaction to Sunday's highly publicized two hour debate program between the leaders of Canada's political parties should have been one of such disappointment. It was highly advertised beforehand as sure to be an exciting affair, and one which the leaders were highly concerned about, wary of accepting because of the dangers which might attend such a free-for-all in front of the nation's television cameras.

In the final event, of course, there was no chance really given for any flashes of wit, or any surges of criticism or sparks of righteous indignation. All that was eliminated through the stultifying procedure of three reporters in turn asking the same question of each of the performers, some of the questions not even being particularly important in the election campaign. One gained the impression that the promoters of the program carefully planned the whole affair so as to eliminate, in the greatest measure possible, any chance of color there might have been.

A parable

And it came to pass, in the city of Edmonton that the chiefs of the pageant, Klondike Days, deliberated at great length and came forth and spake. "Lo, let the people who come within our gates enjoy refreshment in the form of beer and wine in the great outdoors.

"And we will build an edifice open to the skies where citizens on a hot day shall slake their thirst, lo, like they do at other great pageants, like Expo."

And the people were encouraged and spake among themselves and said, "This is good."

And the chieftains took their hopes to the great king called Liquor Control Commissioner and said "Our people cry [illegible] in thirst on hot days, and we will provide a space outdoors where their thirst may be slaked."

But the King looked unkindly on the chieftains and sternly rebuked them, saying "It is not right that citizens should slake their thirst under the great dome of the sky, either by day or by night.

"If our people thirsteth, let them go inside, away from the public and there they may drinketh all their wish, but in the open air, to drink is against the law of the land, and there shall be no outdoor restaurant, only but to eat."

And the Klondike Days chieftains hung their heads in shame and reported back to the people: "It passeth all understanding and we sorrow with you, but to drink in the open air is a sin in the eyes of the law."

And there is no appeal. [illegible] the word of the Liquor Control [illegible]mission is the law.

VISITORS FROM ONTARIO

Mrs. Wainwright and a friend from London, Ontario, have been visiting for the past several days with old-time friends in Holden and district. Mrs. Wainwright, the former Maizie McVittie, resided with her family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McVittie, old-time residents, on a farm north of Holden, and later on the property now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Clint Armstrong in the village. Mrs. Wainwright has been staying with the Armstrongs during her visit here. Her father passed away about three years ago but her mother is still living and the good age of 87. The McVittie family, after leaving Holden, made their home in Ontario. Mrs. Wainwright and her friend were Friday morning guests with Mr. and Mrs. L. Nordstrom.

Bev's record comes out on Monday

Bev Munro, local country and western singing star, announced today that his first record on the Capitol label will be released on Monday. Featured on this record is "Hello Operator", a song that Bev wrote himself. This song was released before on the Rodeo label. On the flip side will be "Be Nice To Everybody".

Mr. Munro was the first artist west of Toronto to have signed a contract with Capitol, who are considered to be one of the top recording companies in the business. Bev signed with them last year.

The contract with Capitol gives them an option on all future songs to be recorded by Bev, who writes the lyrics and music for most of the songs he sings.

An album, also on a Capitol label, is expected to be released some time this summer. This album will feature some of the old favorites as well as new selections.

Bev's career began in Manitoba, where he had his own band, and in 1959 he was named "Mr. D.J. of the U.S.A.". He came to Camrose and CFCW nearly four years ago, and is regularly making public appearances all over Alberta.

Locals . . .

Last Sunday, guests at the Ole Hjelter home were Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmer Hjelter of Newbrook, Alta., Mrs. Olga Romfo and James Eide of Vallhalla, North Dakota, U.S.A.

What's everybody's hurry? Heaven knows, in Lethbridge we take our own sweet time brewing the beer behind that lively label. Then we age it slowly and naturally. For a flavour that goes over great.

Homesteader holiday plans nearly finished

(By Grace Phillips)

July 1, Tofield's Homesteaders' Holiday is almost here. Jack Lampak, president of the Tofield Community League, announces that arrangements for the Big Day are almost complete.

Marie Warton reports that a team reserved is being taken in Boats for Homesteaders' Holiday parade. The theme should lend itself well to ideas for floats. Judges for the parade have been secured by J. E. Simms, and Art Francis has planned the route of the parade.

Staff - Sergeant Coates' band from the Tofield School will lead the parade. The band is practising hard for the occasion and, having recently given concerts in Ryley and Holden as well as leading the Holden parade last Friday, they should be a real attraction.

Tofield Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, under the direction of Norman Glover, will have charge of the gates. Tickets will be obtained in large drums and a gate prize will be awarded the lucky winner of the draw held late in the afternoon.

Harold Schultz will be master of ceremonies, and will give out the prizes to the winners in the parade. The Tofield Gun Club will favour Homesteaders' Holiday with a 3-gun salute at noon.

Baseball will be, as always on Tofield's Dominion Day celebrations, a major attraction. The teams are entered, and the Alberta Umpires' Association is supplying umpires.

Exhibition games are being arranged for Pony Leagues, Little League, Pee Wee's "A" and Pee Wee's "B".

Horace Seiler has again been able to secure the Jumping Horses and the Cutting Horses for Homesteaders' Holiday. Not many towns the size of Tofield can present an outstanding horse show on July 1.

Old Timers' headquarters this year will be the skating rink waiting-room, where they will be served coffee, courtesy of the management. Tales of the "early days" and other homesteaders' holidays will be the order of the day as old friends are united.

The local police and the fire brigade will be on hand to ensure orderly parking.

Food will be varied and plentiful. John Beergen will again be dispensing hot dogs and coffee, with his efficient staff. The ladies will serve pies and salads from the curling rink waiting-room this year. Chocolate bars and ice-cream will be sold at another booth.

Bert Everitt promises a fine barbecued meal at 4:30. The barbecue has always been a feature of Dominion Day doings, and this year will continue the tradition. Vince Bates will barbecue the meat which will be supplied by Carol Swanson.

A bigger merry-go-round and a Ferris wheel will entertain the small, and not-so-small, by Last year the midway was extremely busy . . . the children will want to have a repetition of their excitement.

Costumes desired for Dominion Day

(By Grace Phillips)

The Centennial Committee invites everyone to wear old - fashioned costumes to Homesteaders' Holiday. Everyone will remember how much the costumes last year added to the appearance and spirit of the celebration. Edmonton has its Klondike Days — Tofield's counterpart will be Homesteaders' Holiday.

It is hoped to have another fashion show this year if arrangements can be made for someone to be responsible for it. So, bring the costumes down from the attic and prepare to saunter forth in splendor on Homesteaders' 86th day!

WORK PARTY NEEDED

Much work, says Thomas Jacobs, needs to be done on the Exhibition grounds in preparation for Homesteaders' Holiday. Work parties have already accomplished much, and one more evening's work should be sufficient to have everything shipshape.

Ministik United Church is dedicated June 16

(Mrs. J. Reddish)

"The history of the United Church in Ministik dates back to 1911 when a few gathered in a home to hold services. But we shall pick up the story from the year 1920 when it was deemed possible to purchase the old Ministik School to be converted into a church.

In June, 1920, on hearing that the school building was up for tender, and emergency meeting of the congregation was held and delegates were chosen to canvass the district for donations to be used toward the purchase of the building. Howard Munro was student minister at the time and each day for a few weeks he and one of the chosen delegates started out on their mission, and at the end of this time more donations than they had dared to hope for were received, making the purchase of the building possible.

The congregation then had a building, and next moves were, in time, to convert it into a church. Students came and went, on both summer and winter semesters. But as time went on donations and memorial funds were increasing. The first stage was the removal of the blackboards, and replacing of the walls. Then the old stove was replaced by an oil burning unit, followed by a new floor.

When Harold Dunham, secretary, announced that finishing services should be held in June of 1966, a deadline was set and work progressed again. Painting and varnishing was done and Billed as the "Great TV Debate" the program turned out to be neither great nor a debate. It was [illegible] the reaction of most of the viewers [illegible].

But Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau either by design or accident came out of it ahead of the game because he projected an image of a sound responsible, respectable politician doing what he thinks is in the best interest of the country. He looked and sounded like a man who could fill the post of Prime Minister. He offset the [illegible] image that has dogged him throughout his campaign for the Liberal leadership and during the current election campaign.

ed Trudeau; 9% Stanfield; 19% Douglas, and zero for Caouette.

French speaking—42% favoured Trudeau; 1% was for Stanfield; 3% for Douglas, and Caouette again drew zero. The remainder in each case was "undecided".

LENT CREDIBILITY

Strangely, Mr. Trudeau who is "at home" on TV and has mastered the medium, appeared uncomfortable and ill at ease. He said he hoped such a TV show will never again be inflicted on the long suffering Canadian people.

However, Mr. Trudeau took on credibility as the Prime Minister of Canada in the eyes of many middle-class and older Canadians who following the Liberal leadership convention have found it hard to accept the non-conformist Mr. Trudeau as a successor to Louis St. Laurent or Lester B. Pearson. Now they are more satisfied.

He switched easily from French to English in answering questions. But the simultaneous translation when Mr. Trudeau was speaking in French left much to be desired by the English viewers. The translator speaking in English had difficulty following Mr. Trudeau and in keeping up with the Prime Minister's flow of language.

Mr. Stanfield appeared as had been expected and did as well as had been expected. He handled the questions capably but on two or three occasions hemmed and hawed and appeared at a loss for words and thoughts. Overall his image was not as flattering as it might have been.

THE OLD PRO

Mr. Douglas was the typical Tommy Douglas — the old pro — who for years has been answering such questions. He gave answers calculated to appeal to the little man and the man in the low middle income brackets, the fellow on salary or wages. He seemed to be the most relaxed politician in the quartet and most at home in the cramped confines of the format.

Mr. Caouette aimed his answers at his own areas in Quebec. He gave replies calculated to attract support from French Canadians.

Mr. Trudeau managed to get in a sly dig at Mr. Stanfield and Mr. Douglas for having French-Canadian lieutenants who spoke differently and advocated different policies, he said, in Quebec that the national leaders were putting forward outside of French Canada. Mr. Stanfield managed to get on the record that he was falsely accused with having agreed to construct a tunnel from Newfoundland to the mainland, whereas all he had said was he would launch "feasibility" studies.

The TV program may have ensured another minority government will come out of the election—by strengthening the appeal of Mr. Douglas. Insofar as the average viewer was concerned it was a farce and a flop.

Climax comes Tuesday for Canadian politicos

The day of reckoning is rapidly approaching with the climax being reached on Tuesday, as voters all across the country go to the polls to vote for the candidates of their choice. Candidates from all parties are involved in last minute feverish activities to gain the favor of the electorate.

In the Vegreville constituency, 207 persons cast ballots in the advance poll. No figures could be obtained on the advance poll in 1965. There are 23,021 eligible voters in this election as compared to 23,109 in 1965.

Both radio and television will be giving up-to-the-minute reports of election returns beginning at 7:00 o'clock in the evening.

VEGREVILLE

Four candidates are seeking the seat won in the last election by Progressive Conservative Major Frank Fane. Don Mazankowski of Vegreville is the Tory hopeful in this election, while Jules Van Brabant of St. Paul is running for the Liberals, and Les Lindgren of Dewberry is contesting on behalf of the NDP. An Independent Progressive Conservative, George Eglinski of Two Hills, is also in the contest. All four candidates wind up their campaign with an FUA Forum in Derwent on Friday night.

In the last election, Major Fane rolled to one of the biggest majorities in the entire country, as he collected a total of 13,163 votes as compared to 2,151 for the Liberal, 1,798 for the Social Crediter, 985 for the NDP representative and 207 for the Communist candidate.

How did those six Sioux get on our beer label? (Six? Count 'em. Six.) To say nothing of three crows. And a Hupmobile. And twenty nine trees. And our House of Lethbridge. How? Frankly, we don't remember. It all happened many moons ago. But one thing's certain: we'll never change our label. Or the great beer behind it. In Lethbridge, we go right on brewing it the slow, natural way, for real flavour. We have spoken.

Modern etiquette

Q. When I am dining out with friends is it proper for me to continue [illegible] while someone else is directing conversation at me?

A. Quite all right — provided of course you can do so and at the same time give every indication of attention to what is being said to you. And don't attempt any words yourself while there is food in your mouth!

Q. Is it really considered in good taste for a woman to use scented stationery, and if so, how may she best produce this scent?

A. This is in quite good taste and the best way to do it is to put a sachet bag in the drawer or box in which the stationery is kept.

Q. In a double-ring marriage ceremony, whose ring is presented first, the bride's or the bridegroom's?

A. The bridegroom places his ring on the bride's finger first.

Q. Who should alight first from a taxi, the man or the woman?

A. The man always goes first, then turns to assist the woman by offering her his HAND, not his arm. In assisting her INTO the vehicle he places his hand under her elbow for support, allowing her to go first.

Q. When giving an informal dinner in her home, how should the hostess let her guests know the seating arrangement she wishes?

A. She stands at her place at the table, and tells each guest just where he or she should be seated.

Q. To whom is the bride supposed to throw her bouquet?

A. She does this before she leaves to dress for going away, party where you know only your host and hostess, and they neand only the unmarried bridesmaids should be eligible to vie for the flowers.

Q. If you are attending a guest to introduce you to anyone else, what then?

A. All guests under one roof are automatically considered introduced. So just go ahead and identify yourself, saying something like, "How do you do? I'm Betty Anderson."

Q. When my husband and I have only one male guest at a meal in our home and my husband does the carving of the meat, should he serve the man first?

A. In this case when the hostess is the only woman present, she should be served first.

Dress rehearsal for drowning

A drowning person in panic is his own worst enemy. Overwhelmed by fear, he gasps for air and gulps water instead. He expends energy at a terrific rate until he's too weak to struggle and finally loses consciousness. Chances for revival diminish rapidly. As the minutes tick away the heart and brain stop functioning.

To help swimmers and non-swimmers combat panic in a drowning situation, Red Cross has developed a new water safety course. It's called Survival Swimming.

Most of the tests require the candidate to wear light clothing instead of a bathing suit. In more ways than one, it's like a dress rehearsal for drowning.

One test requires a Forward Roll Entry into the water. This simulates the way most people enter the water and drown either by falling off a dock or out of a capsizing boat. Confusion results. Underwater it is difficult to establish which way is up. Learning how to orient oneself quickly helps overcome panic.

Survival Swimming can be taken entirely on its own or as part of the regular Red Cross swimming program after Junior level. Courses are conducted under the guidance of a Red Cross trained Instructor and are available in most communities this summer.

June 23 to 29 is Red Cross Water Safety Week. This summer we join with Red Cross and urge you to be careful in, on or near the water.

tiles laid on the floors, all work being voluntary and many hours were enjoyed by willing workers. A new communion table was needed and a new pulpit was made to match, both being built by Mr A McSporran.

DEDICATION JUNE 16th

Then came the actual day of dedication which was June 16th, 1968.

It was most fitting that Howard Munro, who is now an ordained minister, should be chosen to conduct this special service. He was accompanied by his wife, the former Dawn James, who had been a student minister ten years prior to her husband's term. Both services were held in the Community Hall

During Mr Munro's two year term on this field, Mrs. Munro would take an occasional service to relieve her husband.

Many students of former days had been notified of this special day; some sent their letters of congratulation and some their regrets at not being able to attend due to duties or distance However, Tom Powell and Mrs. Powell and Rev. Dwight Powell found it possible to attend. Also Robert Smith, present student and his wife.

After the singing of some favorite hymns by students and congregation alike, the dedication of the building was conducted by Rev. Howard Munro and the congregation.

The communion table was dedicated in memory of Mrs. Kate Dunham from her husband and family, followed by the dedication of the pulpit, donated by Mr. and Mrs. A. McSporran.

Many memories were recalled by Rev. Munro, some sad but mostly happy ones told in his humorous way.

Thus, June 16th, 1968, was a dream come true to many who wondered, years back, if a church in Munsila could be a reality

And Ask For A Friendly AD TAKER!

(By C. A. Gordon)
You Are The Detective

You gaze down at the body of Roger Amos, the well-known stage and TV actor, now sprawled lifeless on the tile floor of his bathroom in his apartment. Your eyes take in the fresh white shirt, the meticulously knotted blue paisley tie, the charcoal gray trousers, and the fact that there are no shoes on his black, arched feet. You also note the ugly-looking, blood-encrusted gash on his left temple and the fresh white bandage covering his right hand. Then you turn to Betty Hill, the victim's fiancee, and Richard Tanner, his secretary, who phoned you of the tragedy.

"Roger and I had a date for this evening," explains Betty between sobs. "I was waiting for him downstairs in the cocktail lounge when I was paged and came up here to find . . . this."

"Tanner chimes in, pointing to the spots of dark blood on the edge of the bathtub "These bathroom accidents! Somehow he must have slipped on the wet floor tile, striking his head on the tub as he fell. I was taking a nap in my room at the time. Roger and I had been discussing a little business at about five o'clock here in the bathroom, and I had put a fresh bandage around his hand . . . he broke some bones in the hand yesterday afternoon in a fall from a horse he was training to jump fences . . . the breaks in the bones weren't serious enough to warrant a cast, but they did require bandaging and the hand was so painful he couldn't even sign his name to some documents I had for him. Anyway, when I left him, he was in the bathtub and preparing for his engagement with Betty here."

"And then you went to your room and were in there sleeping until about seven when you awoke, came to the bathroom, and found Roger Amos lying on the floor dead?" you ask.

"Yes . . . and no one could possibly have come into the apartment without my knowing it," Tanner replies. "I'm a very light sleeper, and I would have heard either the ball or voices if any one had visited here."

"And when did you come in?" you ask Betty Hill.

"I think it was 7:15. Richard knew I was waiting downstairs for Roger, and he told me he had already phoned you when I arrived here. Oh, such a horrible thing! Roger was so active and athletic . . . It's so difficult to accept the fact that he had to meet death from an accident like this . . . slipping on his bathroom floor!"

"This doesn't look like an accident to me," you state. "I think Roger Amos was murdered!"

What makes you think this way?

SOLUTION

In the first place, the seeks on the victim's feet would certainly have provided too much traction to permit any chance of his having slipped on the wet floor. In the second place, you around his hand . . . he broke have noted the "meticulously knotted" tie the Amos is wearing, something a man with a bandaged, painfully broken right hand could hardly have accomplished. Tanner is quite suspect in this case, since by his statements he has exonerated Betty Hill and has insisted that no one else could have entered the apartment without his knowing it.

Round Hill posts their first 'win'

Round Hill won their first game of the season on Tuesday when they edged first-place Bardo by a score of 10-9. In order to win, Round Hill had to score three runs in the bottom half of the last inning.

Vic Zimach went all the way on the mound for the winners. Ken Chandler was the starting pitcher for Bardo, giving way in the fifth inning to Richard Pedang who was tagged with the loss.

Ryley travelled over to Bawlf the same evening, and the Rebels returned home on the right side of a 10-6 score. Roger Oslund started for the winners, but after running into control problems gave way to Blaine Lysio early in the game, with Lysio getting credit for the victory. Bob Campion went all the way for the losers.

In the two sports days to date, Tofield came out on top on both occasions winning the Bardo Sports Day tournament by defeating Round Hill 6-2 and edging Bardo 10-9. Then at Ryley, they again beat Round Hill in their opening game, and outslugged Ryley 13-9 in the finals.

28th Anglican Conference held at Wainwright

Among those who attended the 28th annual conference of the Wainwright Deanery held at Edgerton on Wednesday, June 19th were Mrs. Earl Dafoe, Mrs. Ross Flemming, Mrs. G. Norland and Mrs. J. W. Robinson. They were accompanied by Rev. David V. Bloom.

Mrs. L. D. Moore, president of the Edmonton Diocesan Board of the Anglican Church Women, Mrs. A. Ridley Living Message secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. R. D. Randall chairman of social service were also present from the Edmonton Diocesan executive. There were 62 ACW members present.

The social service secretary was delighted with the grand display of mittens, socks, caps, scarves, quilts, layettes and other articles of clothing handed in by the various branches. Ladies attended from Hardisty, Killam, Lougheed, Provost, Tofield, Viking and Wainwright. Interesting reports were given from the various centres which showed a good deal of work had been accomplished during the year.

The theme was "Be not afraid but speak; and hold not thy peace for I am with thee" (Acts 18 verses 9 and 10). The Rev. B. Hart of Vermilion was the celebrant of Holy Communion, and the Rev. H. C. Morton of Sedgewick was the preacher. Luncheon was held at 12.30 p.m. at the Elks Hall, Edgerton, and before leaving for home lunch was served by the St. Paul's ACW of Provost.

Services continue in the newly dedicated United Church with Robert Smith conducting. (Your correspondent stated inadvertently that A. McSparran had made both the pulpit and the communion table. My apologies to Ralph Dunham who had constructed the communion table.)

Robert Smith read several letters from students who had been on this field back as far as 1939, who sent their regrets at not being able to attend the dedication services, due to heavy schedules and distances. One was Rev. Ernest Nix of Hillhurst United Church, Calgary, who spent 1944 and 1945 terms here, boarding with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leach, now both deceased.

It was beginners' day at school last Monday. Beginners from our district this fall will be Lorraine Davenport, Randy Paterson, Eric Nielson, and Bernice Stepanow. Some grades are out of school now; others are busy writing departmental exams.

Mrs. Maud Mowat of Edmonton is a guest at the Alex Kleinschroth home. On Thursday, they were guests at the David Hughes home, at Looma.

Mrs. Helen Hennessy is preparing for a family union on July 1st, celebrating their 54 years in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter George of Edmonton were guests on Sunday of Mrs. S. George, who returned to the city with them for a couple of days.

Ryley Sports Day rated best yet

(Mrs. R. Davich)

The Ryley Sports Day got underway in fine weather on Saturday June 22, beginning with an excellent parade led by Edmonton Girls' Drum and Bugle Band, featuring 110 girls in their attractive full-dress uniforms.

The band was followed by several colorful floats, spanking horses, late model cars and decorated bicycles. Entries were of a surprisingly original design in most instances, and participants helped greatly in making the day a big success.

Parade entries were placed in different groups with winners being

Commercial: 1. Camrose Junior Chamber of Commerce float; 2. Town of Tofield float.

Non-Commercial—1. Ryley 4-H Beef Club. 2. Bruce Lutheran Church.

Vintage Class—1. Team of oxen and covered wagon. 2. Indians.

Decorated Bicycle — Ronald Teske.

BALL GAMES

In the ball games, Tofield defeated Round Hill in the first game by a score of 9-5. Ryley defeated Bardo 6-4 in the second game, while in the third game Tofield defeated Ryley 12-8, to emerge the top winners of the day.

In the Pee Wee game, Ryley won easily over Tofield, the score being 16-2.

The booths did a roaring business, providing refreshments to the crowd of participants, and fans who attended the games.

Bringing the Sports Day to a most successful conclusion was the dance held in the evening, with music supplied by "The Travellers"

Friendship Group aids mission work

(Mrs. G. H. Taylor)

HOLDEN. — The Friendship Group held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday, June 20, at the home of Mrs. R. Reeder.

Devotions were taken by Mrs. Maud Corliss. The secretary read an acknowledgement from the missionary group regarding the used stamps sent to them. In the first three months of the year the headquarters had received a ton of stamps, which had been sold for $1,000, and they advised that they can use all the stamps sent to them. The funds are used for purchasing supplies in the leper colonies and other missionary work.

They also advised that they are able to use all kinds of used cards such as Christmas, birthday cards, etc. They requested the groups who are interested in their work that they have been asked to obtain small plastic pill containers, these to be used for giving pills to patients in the hot countries to keep them from deterioration.

The Group will not hold meetings during the months of July and August.

First 'Homesteaders' Holiday' was a huge success in Tofield

Friends, in modern and old-fashioned dress gathered in Tofield on Monday to help celebrate the first version of "Homesteaders' Holiday". This was one of the scenes during the competitions of the fashion parade.
— The Mercury Newsphoto.

The first "Homesteaders' Holiday" was held in Tofield on Monday, July 1, with a very large crowd in attendance

The big day got underway at 11:15 a.m., when a cavalcade, headed by the Tofield School Band, left the former CPR station and wended its way to the exhibition grounds. This was one of the best parades ever seen in Tofield, and the lovely floats drew rounds of applause from the large crowd.

At the Fairgrounds, Mayor Dr W. H. Prestcary welcomed everyone to "Homesteaders' Holiday" and the results of the parade competitions were announced It was pointed out that the rain on the weekend had left some doubt as to whether or not the day would be celebrated or postponed until a later date.

After the official ceremonies, the baseball tournament got underway, and was followed shortly afterwards by exhibition baseball at Little League and Pony League levels. At 2:00 o'clock, riders, mainly out of Edmonton, put on a jumping competition that was viewed by crowded stands.

Hungry stomachs were filled late in the afternoon, when barbecued beef was served, and the day reached a climax with a dance in the Community Centre in the evening.

RESULTS

Five teams entered the ball tournament, which was late in starting due to the extensive work that was needed to get the playing field in shape after the heavy rainfall. The Tofield team spent over four hours working on the diamond before the first game got started.

In the opener Tofield whipped Ryley 9-4, as Ed Williams struck out ten of the visitors to lead the Lions to victory. In the second contest, Bardo, although out-hit 13-12, managed to squeeze out a close 7-5 victory over the Camrose Cubs, to advance to the tournament finals.

Round Hill, after drawing a bye in the first round, fell victim to the Tofield Lions in the semi-finals by a 7-1 score. The Lions followed this victory up by trouncing Bardo 13-1 in the finals to win top honors.

PARADE CONTEST

Judges for the parade competitions had a difficult task, as this was easily the best parade ever seen in Tofield. Following serious deliberation, the decisions were announced as follows:

Best Decorated Float—1, Town of Tofield; 2, Town of Viking; 3, Tofield School (Primary).

Best Decorated Commercial Float—1, Alberta Wheat Pool; 2, Charlie's Royalite Place.

Best Decorated Horse, or Group of Horses—1, Muriel and Cindy Rabbit, Lindbrook; 2, Carly Boddo, Edmonton; 3, Don Wood, Allan Gill and Marty Jane.

Best Decorated Car (commercial)—1, Tofield Bakery; 2, Texaco; 3, Travellors.

Beaver County Council meets

Following are the minutes, in part, of the regular meeting of the Council of Beaver No. 9, held Thursday, June 13:

Business Arising From Minutes

In regards to Lot 14 in Block 5, Plan 1562 W, Kinsella, which had been acquired from W. A. Whidden for the fire hall, and dealt with by Motion 246/68, the Secretary-Treasurer advised that this lot had now been registered in the name of the County.

It was moved and carried that the report be accepted.

In regards to the liquid calcium chloride, dealt with by Motion 240/68, Cr. Roddick reported that the representative from Allied Chemical Canada Ltd., had called at his place concerning this matter. Cr. Roddick stated that he had placed some 300 yards per mile of gravel on the road, and the representatives from Allied Chemical Canada Ltd. suggested that another 150 yards per mile should be put on in order to make a satisfactory test for the chemical application. Cr. Roddick stated that the application would be made in the near future.

Moved and carried that the report be accepted.

In regards to the Flood Control Projects, the Secretary-Treasurer advised that he had contacted R Hilme, Engineer with the Department of Water Resources, in connection with the McVeigle Flood Control Project, and had been promised a profile and cost estimate as well as advice as to the acreage involved from the various farmers in the area; the same was also to be received in regards to the Shonts and Krepelnicki Projects. However, to date nothing had been received.

In regards to the proposed road tour, it was moved and carried that this tour be held in the east end of the County on June 21, starting at Viking at 9.30 in the morning; arrangements for a tour of the west end to be made at that time.

In regards to the Alberta Farm Purchase Credit Act, the Secretary-Treasurer advised that on April 11 he had written to the Minister of Agriculture expressing the County's concern over the fact that no more money was being put into the fund this year. A letter dated May 8, in reply, explained and indicated that the monies paid on contract to the revolving fund be available for re-

Moved and carried that the report be accepted and the letter filed.

Correspondence

Letter from Sigurd Lefsrud, Solicitor for the Town of Viking, requesting the written consent of the County for annexation of Pt. S E. 36-47-13-W 4th to the township of Viking, was referred to the Council.

It was moved and carried that the Licensing Branch of the Department of Industry and Development be advised that Council has no objections to the operation of an automotive service station and retail business dealing in confectionery and tobacco in Lots 1-3 in Block 5, Plan 1363 W, Kinsella.

Moved and carried that the request be granted.

Re. Water and Sewer at Bruce

A delegation from the Hamlet of Bruce consisting of K. Stambaugh, G. Fredericks, R. Koppel, W. Dary and B. Modin attended the meeting at this time with a request that the Council revive matter off water and sewer was the Hamlet; also present was S. Nelson of the firm of W. J. Frankl & Associates, Consulting Engineers Ltd., who had handled this matter in 1967 when the matter o frater and sewer was first brought up. Mr. Stambaugh stated that there was a definite 50 hook ups in the Hamlet and possibly more. It was mentioned that in other small Hamlets the water and sewer was paying its own way with a frontage tax of $1.25 per foot, $6.00 a month for water and $2.50 a month for sewer. Mr. Nelson mentioned that construction cost appeared to be somewhat less than last year, at least this was indicated by bids that had been opened so far this year; however, as the interest was higher the overall cost could be approximately the same. Mr. Stambaugh stated that the people in the Hamlet would very much like to proceed with a limited frontage tax being applied. It was pointed out that under the new Municipal Government Act, Chapter 68 - 1968, Section 275, the Council could exercise the powers

Cubs tame Rebels

Ryley Rebels visited Camrose last night, where they played the Camrose Cubs in an exhibition baseball game played at the Fairgrounds.

When the game was called after eight innings of play because of darkness, the Cubs were declared winners as they were leading by a score of 12-0.

Ron Wilson and Rod Schell combined to toss a two-hitter for the Cubs, while walking none and striking out eight. W. Kushnir was the starting and losing pitcher for Ryley, getting relief help from Blaine Lysło. Together they gave up 12 hits, walked eight and struck out three.

A return game will be played in Ryley at a later date.

Homesteaders' Holiday

Once again the July 1st celebrations in Tofield were a smashing success as large crowds were on hand for all parts of the program. About the only area that fell down was costuming. Not too many came dressed in the old-styles, although these that did were very picturesque. But, there were so many persons dressed in the manner and style of hippies' as there were clad as homesteaders.

It would seem that the theme is not going to be an overwhelming success. This is, to some ways easy to understand. The weather in the summer is not at all ideal for wearing that much clothing when it can be avoided. These people dressed in the finery of a century ago must have found themselves very warm and uncomfortable on Monday.

The past is something that should be remembered, and although it will probably not be recalled as it was in fact, our history and remembrances should always be treasured. But, after Monday, is the Homesteaders' Holiday theme the way to do it? The Community League should give this a very thorough study before next year and decide whether or not a new theme is needed, and if so, what theme, and if not, then some method must be found to stir up more interest. This decision should be made soon while the picture is vivid in the minds of every one

Why no consistency

It's hard to see where the Alberta Department of Agriculture is fair in the conditions it has imposed for the establishment of a marketing board in two areas of farm production, one being hog marketing, the other being egg marketing.

Only recently hog breeders were informed a vote would be called on the question of marketing hogs only if 21 per cent a small fraction of the breeders [illegible] all producers [illegible] the province favored the proposal. Western Hog Growers Association [illegible] the proposal, but [illegible] of the province, could force a marketing board on [illegible] And now we have the announcement of the government that [illegible] egg producers have been [illegible] the matter [illegible] Only 1,500 [illegible] producers have [illegible] majority [illegible] the province favor [illegible] marketing [illegible] Ottawa [illegible] would have [illegible] Ottawa [illegible] Ottawa [illegible] Ottawa provided in Section 370 and 373 in a specified part or parts of the Municipal District, in which event only the proprietary electors of the specified part or parts of the municipal district would be entitled to petition for a vote on the bylaw, i.e., for the purpose of this bylaw the residents in the Hamlet of Bruce only would be considered and the indebtedness would be applied to the Hamlet only.

An old-fashioned Miss

Little Cindy Rude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lars Rude won top honors in the fashion competition for children six years of age and under. The competition was very close in all categories.

After some considerable discussion, it was moved and carried with one Councillor voting against the motion that the request from the Hamlet of Bruce be accepted and paid.

The Secretary-Treasurer reported that he had authorized extention of the natural gas line in the Landrose sub-division to 5 Solaris and 6 Landis, being the last two properties in the south in the sub-division.

Moved and carried that the action of the Secretary-Treasurer be concurred in.

In regards to the situation at Nugget Lake, motion 266 66 and page 98, the Secretary-Treasurer reported that he had contacted the County's Solicitor in regards to the validity of "no-trespassing" and "private property" signs. The Solicitor had been of the opinion that these signs certainly are valid providing the per[illegible] putting up the signs makes a reasonable effort to see that they are complied with.

In regards to the proposed reserve at the east boundary of the lake where it says Mr. Mainland's land, the Secretary-Treasurer suggested that possibly a log-boom with a fence on top would be sufficient to keep people from going onto Mr. Mainland's land. The Council thought that this might be worth considering. It was also noted that power boats were being used on Nugget Lake as well as on Camp Lake, and the Secretary-Treasurer stated that he would contact the Department of Lands and Forests in this matter as, in his opinion, power boats were not allowed on these small lakes.

Moved and carried that the report be accepted.

Mr. & Mrs. Carl Blake mark 40th anniversary

Mr and Mrs. Carl Blake celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary on Sunday, June 30. Their daughter and son-in-law, Evelyn and Denis Blakeman and their young daughter, Laurie, and son, Robert, greeted guests at their home in Edmonton. The Blake's daughter and son-in-law, Jeanie and Angus Richardson, flew there from Vancouver for the occasion. Also present were their daughter Enid, and daughter and son-in-law, Yvonne and Hank Jans, and their small son Bruce, of Edmonton.

Guests from Tofield at the celebration were Mr. Richard Blakely, Mr. and Mrs. Thomson (John and Dorothy), Mr and Mrs. Ferguson (Russell and Mabel), and Mrs Moore (Mary). Clint Blake and Mr and Mrs. Jack Blake, who reside in the Mayerthorpe area, had planned to attend, but were prevented from doing so by unforseen circumstances.

A toast to the bride and groom of forty years was proposed by Mrs Blake's brother John Thomson. He complimented the Blakes that their family of four daughters have followed worthwhile professions, two in Education and two in Nursing. A lovely buffet lunch was served by the hostess and her sisters.

Egg Producers Must Register to Vote for an Alberta Egg Board

July 15th, 4:30 p.m., is the deadline for the return of registrations to the Alberta Agricultural Products Marketing Council, Agriculture Building 9718 - 107th St., Edmonton. If you have not received a registration form in the mail you may obtain one from the Council (phone 229-4219) or from your District Agriculturist.

[illegible] for voting by egg producers as long as [illegible] consumption in 1967.

[illegible] the Alberta Agricultural Products Act requires certain conditions to be met. The COMBINED 1967 egg marketings of those who register must be a minimum of 12,000,000 dozens. This is a tough condition. It means egg producers who want this chance to vote simply must register, and visit and phone their neighbors to be sure that they too will be registering. Twelve million dozen eggs means the producers registering must have marketed approximately 2/3 of the eggs marketed in 1967 or there will be NO VOTE.

This plan for an Egg Board was promoted entirely by egg producers of Alberta organized into the Alberta Commercial Egg Producers Association. The Alberta Government has recognized our association as the voice of egg producers by accepting our plan. NOW ALL egg producers in Alberta are having a chance to vote for this plan. A favourable vote is the only glimmer of hope for producers in the egg business. The Broiler Producers led the way. Let's not lag behind.

The plan definitely states there will be no interference with egg producers' established markets. The Egg Board will have the authority to set prices to be paid to producers for eggs and to establish a system of marketing quotas to protect the producers [illegible] business.

Providing there will be a vote, each producer who registers will receive a detailed copy of the plan with his ballot.

For further information write Alberta Commercial Egg Producers Association, P.O. Box 8275, Station F, Calgary, or Box 205, RR4, Edmonton.

NEVER LOOKED BACK

Mr. Diefenbaker survived the tidal wave of Liberalism. Funfully he must reflect on how all the campaigning and expenditure of party funds was unnecessary if the Official Opposition had really done its job last February. Gordon Churchill, former Conservative veteran member, had agreed with Mr. Diefenbaker that the Opposition should continue to apply the pressure in Parliament and force Prime Minister Pearson to resign over the defeat of his government on the third reading of the income tax bill. But Mr. Pearson bluffed Mr Stanfield into giving him time to recomp his demoralized forces and finally succeeded in convincing the House that it should accept an "official" vote of confidence to determine if the Government had been indeed defeated. If Mr. Diefenbaker had been Leader of the Opposition there is no doubt Mr. Pearson could never have pulled this off and would have had to resign and either called an election or leave Governor General Vanbenar to call on the leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition to form a government

The Tories lost their great chance and the Grits never looked back.

(Mrs. G. H. Taylor)
(Intended for last week)

HOLDEN—The Brownie, Guide and Mother annual banquet was held Monday, June 3, closing the meetings for the summer, with the O.D.R.P. Lodge catering to the banquet.

President of the mothers' association, Mrs. Adele Dery opened the program, calling on Brownie Darlene Shavchuk to propose the Toast to The Queen. Mrs. Story then introduced the guest of honor, Commissioner Mrs. George Wood of Camrose, who offered a vote of thanks to the ladies of the O.D.R.P. for catering to the banquet.

At the conclusion of the supper, Brownie Sherri Michlich proposed a toast to the Mothers, which was replied to by Mrs. Dennis Shavchuk on behalf of the mothers; also thanking Mrs. Wood for attending and expressing thanks to all volunteer leaders and executive of the Mothers' Association.

Mrs. June Cooper, leader of the Girl Guides, then spoke, commending that it was a pleasure for the leaders to work with the Brownie aged Guides in the district.

Commissioner Wood gave a very interesting talk on club matters, and gave out books relating to "Guides in Other Countries".

Brownies and Guides were presented with their various crests from the Leaders for achievements throughout the year, and Commissioner Wood inspected the Girl Guides with Leader Mrs. June Cooper

The evening closed with the Guides enacting a short play, dressed in ragged costumes, and directed by Mrs. Cooper.

Spilstead Ladies Society observes 21st anniversary

(By Mrs. T. W. Fairbrother)

About 45 persons gathered together at the Spilstead Hall on June 22 to celebrate the twenty-first anniversary of The Spilstead Ladies Society.

A lovely supper of Kentucky fried chicken, salads and pies was served to all members, past members and their husbands and families, as well as a few honored guests.

George Lee gave a run-down of the progress the club has made since its beginning on June 3, 1947. Some members feel it started before this date, but as near as could be figured from past records, the first meeting was held at the home of Polly Spilstead on that date Polly was elected president and Mary Schmidt secretary.

Some of the original members were present at the supper, and received a big ovation when Mr. Lee asked them to stand They were Bertha Belcourt, Myrtle Swarz, Gea Hoflin, Leslie Winder and Mary Schmidt These ladies are still active at the club, although Myrtle Swarz is no longer a member, having moved to Camrose several years ago.

Mr. Lee pointed out that in October, 1959, the organization received The Certificate of Incorporation, and in December of the same year received from the County of Beaver No 9, the Transfer of Title to the Spilstead School

Since then the School has been put on a foundation, with a full-size basement, power has been installed and the grounds levelled, with a good baseball diamond. This has all been paid for, and the building makes a fine Community Hall

Many donations have been given by this organization to several worthy charities, and to individuals in need of assistance, such as widows, fire victims, etc.

When Mr. Lee expressed the appreciation of the Community to the ladies for all the work done over the years, there was loud applause from everyone.

Bertha Belcourt, president, thanked Mr. Lee for his kind remarks, expressing appreciation from all the members for the many times he has helped the organization over the years. Secondly, she extended thanks to Lorne Swarz, George Druce and Herbie Sunre for all the work they did on the building and grounds during the past few years; and the husbands of the members for the support they have given their wives in their endeavor to better the Community.

PLBL teams battling for league's top spot

A fierce battle for first place in the Power Line Baseball League has developed, with only two points separating fourth place Viking from first place Bardo.

Bardo moved back into first place after the past week's action when they split two games, dumping Viking by a score of 10-5 after losing their week's opener 7-5 to Tofield.

Tofield moved into a second place tie by winning two games. Besides edging Bardo, they swamped Round Hill to the tune of 24-3 in a game played on Sunday.

In the only other game played during the past seven days, Ryley snuggled the hapless Round Hill team by a score of 11-4.

Bardo has now completed their part in the regular schedule; Viking and Round Hill each have one game remaining, while both Ryley and Tofield have two games left.

League officials are hopeful that the playoffs will be getting underway Tuesday evening, but failing this, definitely will begin next Thursday.

Bardo	4	1	1	9

Ruth Dickson winner of the Melnyk Award

(By Grace Phillips)

Each year the Melnyk Award, in memory of Michael Melnyk who was killed in a car - train accident while a teacher in the Tofield Junior High School, is given to the best all-round student in the Junior High School, as judged by students and teachers.

The winner for the 1966-67 term was Lyle Heiberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Heiberg. Due to technical difficulties, the award was not presented to Lyle till May of this year. Lyle was a room representative to the Big 3, a member of the basketball team, a member of the school band and, of course, a good student.

Following closely on this presentation was the one also made by J. C. Lampkil, vice-principal of the Tofield School, to Ruth Dickson, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Dickson and the late Bill Dickson, for the 1967-68 school year. Ruth was an outstanding student and a member of the basketball team. She was also the social convenor for the many activities of the Big 3, which she managed most efficiently.

Runners - up for this year's award were Patrick Kallal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kallal, and Judy Moore, daughter of Mr and Mrs. John Moore. Both Judy and Pat were active in sports and in student activities; Judy was president of the Big 3 and Pat was treasurer.

The criteria for ascertaining the winner of the Melnyk award are: (1) academic achievement, (2) ability in sports, (3) sportsmanship, (4) leadership qualities in student activities, (5) behavior at school and at school-sponsored activities.

Leslie was one of 24 graduates in various fields of technology chosen from high school graduates throughout the province in 1966, to participate in a Government of Alberta sponsored Technical Institute Bursary Program.

The program provided an integrated program of summer work experience at prevailing salary rates, and academic training under a government bursary of $100 per month.

Mr Appleby has worked for the last four summers with the Department of Public Works and is now employed on a full-time basis with the Engineering Branch Department of Public Works, in Edmonton.

The Intermediate Cutting Horse competition was won by Les Perry on Royal Tate. In second place was Cliff Ross on Hollywood $, while Hales Ross on Peppi Tate finished in third place.

Glenn Gray acted as judge for the jumping sweepstakes, while George Golden acted in the same capacity for the cutting horse competitions.

Other stables not mentioned as winners, but competing in the program, were Glenn Gray, Jeeol Stables, Jim Klein, Ila Harrison, George Orlesky, Lloyd Patterson, John Rabbo, John Tottenell, Harold Bannister and Peter Semeluk. There were 18 jumping horses and eight cutting horses entered in the competitions.

County School briefs

Following are the minutes, in part, of the regular meeting of the County of Beaver No 9 School Committee, held Tuesday, June 11:

Business Arising From Minutes

In regards to Vegreville Association for Mentally Handicapped Children, motion 170-68, Cr. Krevpielnicki and the Supervisor of Instruction, Keith Robson, reported on the meeting that they had attended on May 31. It appeared that the main object of the meeting was to try to find ways and means of getting funds for construction of a residence for mentally handicapped children. The person who is now looking after some of these children was not prepared to continue to do so. It appeared that five or six school jurisdictions would be involved and it was not a full representation at the meeting. It had been suggested that a complete survey of the area should be taken and that possibly a per capita assessment might be considered.

The Superintendent suggested that the question of opportunity rooms in the County should be considered on a purely County basis.

In regards to the retarded children, the matter of boarding as well as capital cost would have to be considered. Mr. Bruce suggested that all possible information should be obtained from the Department of Education; also, a local survey should be made to ascertain the actual need in the County.

It was moved and carried that the report be accepted and the suggested information be obtained from the Department of Education and that the Committee, consisting of Cr Krevpielnicki and the Supervisor of Instruction, Keith Robson, attend the next meeting, whenever called, in Vegreville.

Correspondence

A letter from the Director of School Administration in connection with the County's request for an Educational Survey motion 160-68 stating that due to pressure of current demands the request could not be handled at the present time. The Director asked if the study could be undertaken in the fall of the year. After discussing the matter with the Superintendent the Secretary-Treasurer had informed the Director that it would be quite in order for the survey to be undertaken in the fall.

Moved and carried that the action be concurred in and the correspondence received and filed.

The Secretary - Treasurer informed the Committee that the Chief Superintendent of Schools had entrusted him towards the end of May advising that, subject to approval of the County, it was the Department's intention to appoint William Bock as Superintendent of Schools for the County during Mr. Bruce's leave of absence. The letter had been referred to the County Council and the Council had been of the opinion that the appointment was satisfactory and a letter to the Chief Superintendent of Schools had so advised.

Moved and carried that the action be concurred in.

It was moved and carried that the Bus Supervisor's report for the month of May be accepted as read.

Tenders for providing and installing a new heating system in the Kinsella gymnasium were dealt with at this time, the following tenders having been received: Golka Plumbing Ltd., $1,455; Tower Plumbing & Heating Ltd., $1,781.38; Watson (Tofield) Ltd., $2,200.

Moved and carried that these tenders be referred to the Building Committee for acceptance.

It was moved and carried that the School Caretakers be requested to take their holidays during the month of July, with arrangements to be made with the building supervisor.

Superintendent's Report

It was moved and carried that the following resignations be accepted: Mrs. Barbara Arnett, Mrs. Bernice A. Empey, Mr. Kesh Singh, Mr. Leland Barr, Mr. Joseph Fornal, Mr. Robert Hibel, Miss Julie Carles.

It was noted that Mrs. Bernice Empey was retiring after 18 years of service in the County, and also that Mrs. Beveridge was retiring as Educational Secretary. It was noted that the ATA would, as usual make a presentation to the retiring teachers, and that possibly the County should in some small way remember the long service of these two teachers.

It was agreed to that a presentation would be in order, and it was moved and carried that Cr Haddick and Mr. Bruce be appointed a Committee to act in this regard.

David F. Penner requested leave of absence for two years to study and travel from September 1, 1968 to September 1, 1970. Mr. Penner owes one year in any community to the County, but would like to have this deferred for the two years when he would return to the County to teach.

Moved and carried that the leave of absence be granted.

John Pullen, who has been on leave of absence during 1967-68, requested a further year's leave for the 1968-69 school year to return to university. Mr. Pullen, who is a teacher trainee in business education at the University of Alberta, felt that he required another year of study to be able to adequately handle a business education teaching assignment.

Moved and carried that John Pullen be granted leave of absence for the 1968-69 school year.

The report advised that Mrs. Diane M. Challman had tendered her resignation as a school secretary as of June 30, 1968.

Moved and carried that the resignation be accepted.

The report stated, in regards to Supplementary Examinations, since there were fewer than 20 candidates writing at Holden last year in August, the School Committee would be required to assume the cost of operating Holden as an examination centre for Supplementary Examinations in August, 1968. The Committee was of the opinion that it was very advisable to maintain Holden as an examination centre and it was moved and carried that the School Committee assumes the expense of operating the examination centre for Supplementary Examinations at Holden; that Mr. Peter Jenny be appointed custodian of exam papers and that Mr. E. M. Reedy be appointed presiding examiner.

In regards to Driver Training the report indicated that Robert Hobol of Tofield had registered for the instructors course in July of 1968 and that a training car would be required at Tofield School; however, it was noted that Mr. Hobol on this date had tendered his resignation from the County's teaching staff. Mr. Lindberg, the instructor at Holden, had suggested that the course should start earlier in the fall so that some driving could be done before winter. Mr Bruce advised if the same dealers, who supplied cars for this year's driver training, should be approached again or should an effort be made to rotate the supply of cars. The Committee was of the opinion that all dealers affected should be given an opportunity to supply a different training car if they so desired.

The report stated that Mr. W. T. Worbets Inspector of High Schools, had visited some of the County's Schools on May 23rd, analyzing the business education program offered in the County's Schools. He had visited Tofield and Ryley and made a detailed study of the programs offered in Viking. He commended the County for offering such a comprehensive program in all the schools, however, he was somewhat concerned about the low enrolment in the senior courses. He recommended that the senior courses be offered in only one or two schools and probably transporting students to a central school for a half day would result in a more economical and a broader program. The Superintendent's report outlined the suggestion in detail and what could be offered if Mr. Worbets suggestion was carried out. After some considerable discussion it was moved and carried that the recommendation of Mr. W. T. Worbets, Inspector of High Schools, be carried out if at all possible.

In regards to the textbook rental plan the Superintendent stated that he would recommend putting the plan into effect in grades 10, 11 and 12 and that the estimated cost for the School Committee would be $6,000.00. Revenue from rental of the books was estimated at $4,800.00. It appeared that the Principals were quite anxious to have the plan in effect and from a survey, that had been taken in the schools, it appeared that most parents were much in favor of the proposed plan. Mr Bruce suggested that each pupil be assessed 20 cents per credit; that certain guide lines be set up for the purchase of books to be purchased at discount prices. It was moved and carried that the report be accepted and the textbook rental plan be put into effect as of September 1st., 1968.

The bus supervisor attended at this time and discussed with the School Committee the matter of the bus routes in the County as outlined by Mr. Reid on maps. It appeared that by some rerouting it could be possible to eliminate one or more routes during the next school year. The matter of efficiency in operating the bus fleet was also considered and it was suggested that consideration might be given to the following points:

1. Maximum length of route to be tolerated, i.e. as long as possible without making it unduly hard on the students.

Ross Creek United Church is dedicated on June 23rd

(Mrs. L. VanBunkirk)

ROSS CREEK — On June 23, 1968, Ross Creek United Church members, neighbors and many former residents gathered at the newly constructed church for service of dedication.

The service was conducted by Rev. Arthur Birse, Lamont; Rev. Eldred G. Miller, chairman of presbytery and Rev. Norman R. McDonald of Beverly United Church.

Following the prayer of invocation, the keys to the church were presented to Rev. Miller by Alex Duncan, who did so on behalf of the contractor Ernest Ferrel who was not present. Mr. Duncan had attended church services in the old log school house in the early days and had watched with great interest the new church being built.

Passages from the scriptures were read concerning things we do in the church— baptism, confirmation matrimony, burial, and the Lord's Supper.

The pulpit and chair, donated in memory of Oscar Ole Pedersen by Kenneth was dedicated to the glory of God. The communion table, donated in memory of Martin Knutson by Flora Maddock, Marie Henry and Nellie Malcolm was a gift to be accepted as a sacred trust.

With responsive reading by Rev Miller and the congregation the church was then dedicated to God Rev. A. Birse then inducted the assembly why Rev. Nat Rev Musto, Rev Kolber and Rev. Elson, all former Ross Creek ministers could not be present. A special welcome was given to Mrs Kirk, widow of the late Rev. Kirk who had held services in both the old schools 25 years ago.

Rev Birse spoke of the many hours that had been spent in building the church by volunteer workers. Special mention was given to Ernie Ferrel for all the work and skill he had contributed. In his closing words Rev Miller said "Each time you enter this church you are fulfilling all the prayers spoken in the dedication service held here today." He referred to the church as being a beautiful and very practical edifice and it was a pleasure to perform his duties at this service.

Two beautiful floral arrangements decorated the organ and pulpit stand. One was a memorial tribute in memory of the late Mrs. Susan McLachlan, placed there by her husband, Joe McLachlan Sr. and the other a gift from the Ross Creek UCW.

The program sheet contained a list of memorials purchased from the Memorial Fund and many individual memorials were also listed. The church elders Roy Reinhardt, Ivan Malcolm, Art Ferrel and Bennie Pedersen were all present.

OLD FRIENDS MEET

Following the benediction everyone gathered in the lower church hall where a luncheon was served by the UCW. There were many friendly hand shakes and good times were talked over by old friends who had not seen each other for some time. Mrs. Bertha Bailey of Australia, who formerly lived in the Ross Creek district met with old school chums and neighbors that she had not seen for years. Mrs Kirk was pleased to have an opportunity to meet with people she once knew so well and worked so willingly with in former days. Mrs Kirk formed the UCW in Ross Creek in 1946.

Mrs. Clara Yarsevich, president of the UCW, announced it was Rev. Birse's birthday and everyone sang "happy birthday".

There was a feeling of pride and admiration as this much needed church was dedicated and it is hoped that the community will join in the services and participate in social functions that are held in the lower hall. Plans are being made to do the finishing work in the lower hall and install a water system as willing hands and support are needed to complete the church. Church and Sunday school will be held the second and fourth Sundays of July and August at 2.30 a.m.; Rev. Birse Mrs. Shirley Ford in charge of service last Sunday school will be held the second day school under the direction of Mrs. Florence Malcolm and Mrs. Shirley Ford.

How did those six Sioux get on our beer label? (Six? Count 'em. Six.) To say nothing of three crows. And a Hupmobile. And twenty-nine trees. And our House of Lethbridge. How? Frankly, we don't remember. It all happened many moons ago. But one thing's certain: we'll never change our label. Or the great beer behind it. In Lethbridge, we go right on brewing it the slow, natural way, for real flavour. We have spoken.

From the mail bag

Dear Editor:

A few minutes after midnight on July 1st I was awakened by a sort of a boom. At first I thought that it was thunder, but wondered as there was no indication or forecast of a storm a few hours before, and, when another boom shook the house, a sleepy thought suggested that someone was blowing the bank or some other safe.

Fully awake, I jumped out of bed and, as I hastened to the door, another boom directed my attention to the sports ground, and I knew that it was the local cannon. And, of course, it was considered just fun. But I remembered that but a few months ago, in broad daylight, a teenager shot off a very small unit of fireworks, and was fined for it. And I wondered if the teenager had used a trifle bigger one in the quiet of the night, awakening a large part of the community, as the booms had, if he would not have been thrown into the hoose-gow for the balance of the night and then fined.

When creating a disturbance, it seems to make a big difference whether the kid is 14 or 41 years old. And so we ask the question, is not that kind of discrimination one of the causes of "youth rebellion" and the seed of Hippy-ism?

Geo. G. Abernethy.

ATTENTION HOG PRODUCERS

Soon you will receive a registration form to fill in to be eligible to vote on a MARKETING BOARD for HOGS. The government has set a registration requirement of 1,000 producers representing 100,000 hogs. This means that 10% of the producers could force a COMPULSORY BOARD on the remaining 90%.

The PLAN you will be asked to vote on will not define the regulations or the specific areas in which the BOARD will be given legislative power over the individual. THE PLAN MERELY GIVES SUFFICIENT SCOPE SO THAT ANY OR ALL POWERS LISTED IN THE ACT WILL BE IMPLEMENTED.

CONCLUSIONS
1. Hog producers do not wish to vote for a BOARD with COMPULSORY POWERS without knowing what these powers will be.
2. Our marketing problems can be solved by streamlining and upgrading efficiencies at our disposal now.

RECOMMENDATIONS
1. If you market hogs AND WISH TO EXPRESS YOUR VOTE AGAINST THIS PLAN, YOU WILL HAVE YOUR GREATEST INFLUENCE BY NOT REGISTERING e.g. In registration if you have 1,000 hogs you have 1,000 votes. In the plebiscite if you have 1,000 hogs you have only ONE vote.

— GET INTERESTED IN YOUR INDUSTRY —
— DON'T LEAVE YOUR DECISION TO LEGISLATION

Agricultural Fieldman's report

WEED CONTROL

The spraying season is here and there seems to be a certain amount of confusion regarding the use of the new chemicals that are being advertised on radio and in the press. Cultural control of weeds often neglected. Dry ground conditions have prevented farmers from destroying weeds before planting late crops and we can expect a heavy growth of annual weeds if the expected rains come. Perennial weeds are drawing moisture from a greater depth and are showing up in early sown crops.

One of the outstanding chemicals that are available are the Bromoxynil formulations sold under different trade names. These chemicals do a near 100% kill on tartary and wild buckwheat, smart weed (lady's thumb) and most weeds controlled by 2-4-D and MCP. Space does not permit a run down on all the weed control chemicals, especially where weather and moisture conditions are an important consideration.

Farmers should consider the following chemicals and get further information on their use: Carbyne and Avadex for wild oats, Nitrofen (Tok E-25) for weed control in Polish rape, Tordon for total vegetation control, TCA for green foxtail in oats and barley. Paraquat (gramoxone) for weeds in shelterbelts. Reglone A for water weeds and algae in dug-outs and numerous soil sterilants of persistent perennial weeds.

We will be glad to assist farmers and give further information on the use of these chemicals. Our demonstrations have revealed some interesting facts regarding the use of some of these chemicals when applied to our own area under practical conditions.

PESTS

Insect complaints in shelterbelts have tripled this year due to dry conditions. New species of insects are showing up that require different insecticides to control and identification must be made before spraying. Dealers have a fair supply of these insecticides and are able to get them on short notice.

The County does not handle herbicides, insecticides or pesticides for re-sale this year. Dealers throughout the area are well equipped to give good service.

The use of our 1010K unit is still available for spraying tall trees. Farmers must not use this unit for spraying 2-4-D unless it is thoroughly cleaned.

Complaints of cut worm and other field crop insects are increasing. Robert Park or myself will gladly assist in identifying these pests and recommend the proper control measures.

ROADSIDE SEEDING

We will not be seeding new worked roads or borrow pits till October first, however farmers may pick up grass and legume seed at the Committee office any time. This seed is free to ratepayers who have done extra work on roads and intend to cut hay along these roads.

MISCELLANEOUS

Some confusion seems to exist regarding phone calls. The Fieldman's office is not listed in the directory but may be reached from the County's office number (662-3720). My phone at home is (TOFIELD 662-3692).

Robert Potts of HOLDEN will be assisting me this summer in weed inspection and other Agricultural Committee projects. Bob needs no introduction to most farmers through his association with the County Seed Cleaning Plant.

Anyone calling at the office is requested to do so between 9:00 a.m. and 10:00 a.m.

(Mrs. Ellen Batten)

On Tuesday morning, July 2, Roy and Ruth Wickenberg accompanied Ruth's sisters, Mrs. Nettie Thomas and Mrs. Sybil Nelson of Lacombe (who had spent the holiday weekend at Ruth's) on a motor trip, first to Fort Assiniboine, where they spent Tuesday overnight. While there they visited Nettie's nephew, Ray and Theresa Thomas and family. On Wednesday they stopped at Sangudo where they called on Nettie's grandson Phillip Thomas, before continuing on through Drayton Valley to Breton where they visited Roy's cousin Art and Annie Westling and family, then on to Ma-Me-O Beach where they spent Wednesday overnight. Leaving there they went on to Rimbey where they were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Cheaver, old friends of Roy and Ruth when they all resided in Clive many years ago. After dinner they continued on to Lacombe where Nettie remained at her home, while Sybil brought Roy and Ruth back to Tofield, staying overnight before returning to her home at Lacombe Friday morning. They report a very enjoyable trip with nice weather all the way.

Mrs. Norm (Vivian) Jones and Janet Wickenberg of Edmonton were weekend visitors at the home of their parents Roy and Ruth Wickenberg.

Let's see. Two in the biplane and another three on the fence posts. That's five fast flyers. All this plus a speeding express train, a racing stagecoach and a hopped-up Hupmobile. What's everybody's hurry? Heaven knows. In Lethbridge we take our own sweet time brewing the beer behind that lively label. Then we age it slowly and naturally. For a flavour that goes over great.

Holden farmer passes suddenly at Banff

(Mrs. G. H. Taylor)

HOLDEN.—A well known farmer of Holden district, Hans Marius Brekstad, passed away suddenly at Banff, at the age of 68. Mr and Mrs. Brekstad were holidaying there with friends when he was stricken with a heart attack.

He leaves to mourn his loss: his wife, Ethel, of Holden; three sons, Claire of Golden, B.C., Leslie of Winnipeg, Man., and Ralph of Edmonton; and a brother, Ole, of Snowden, Sask.

Mr. Brekstad was born in Norway and immigrated to Edmonton in 1927, then coming to Holden, where he had farmed since that time. He served overseas during the Second World War with the Canadian Army, then returned to farming, on being demobilized. Mr. Brekstad was a prominent member of the Holden Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, and served as president for one term, taking part in all its activities. He was of great assistance when the Legion Hall was being remodelled. He has also taken part in affairs of the Holden Lutheran Church.

The funeral service was held Wednesday afternoon, July 3, in the Holden Lutheran Church, with Pastor Stanley Rude officiating. Interment was in the Holden Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Clint Armstrong, Arthur Story, Arthur Olson, Jim McLeod, Jim Christianson and Kenneth Sorgen.

Members of the Legion attended the service and graveside to pay their last respects to their departed Comrade, placing poppies on the beir which was partially draped with the Canadian flag and a wreath of poppies along with the family wreath. Gerald Ruskenveld sounded the Last Post and Reveille.

"NEW LOOK" FOR RYLEY HALL

The Ryley Hall is now completed with its stucco walls, cement pad out front and the centennial plaque on the wall.

The elevators occupied by Henry Podruzny and Fred Szott are getting a new look as the elevator paint crew for Federal Grain is in town.

About 65 relatives and friends gathered at the Burnstad home on Sunday evening to help Ann celebrate her birthday.

A number of farmers report receiving forms from the Canadian Wildlife Federation offering them renumeration for not draining any sloughs on their property. It seems most are very interested as this is another means of renumeration and it gives wild birds and animals a place of refuge.

(Intended for last week)

All Ryley elevators will be closed August 2nd and will re-open on August 19th.

Mayor Robert Cross has declared August 5th as a civic holiday for the town of Ryley.

Local cattle place well at Klondike Days

Live-stock men from Tofield have been successful in having their animals place well in the Edmonton Exhibition competitions held this week in connection with Klondike Days.

In the Interbreed Steer Class, especially, breeders from this area had some very fine exhibits, with Harold Weatherill's steer winning first place, and J. Schacher placing second. Both these men are from Tofield. In the same class, Howard Brown of Tofield won 6th place for his animal. This competition also includes carcass competition.

In the Hereford bull classes, Howard Brown had several bull entries. His bull calf won 11th spot, out of a class of 19 entries, and in the yearling Hereford bull class he won 9th place, with J. Schacher winning 7th. Brown also won a high placing for his two-year-old bull in that class. Justamere Stock Farms of Lloydminster won both the Grand Challenge and Reserve Challenge in the Hereford Bull classes.

Brown fared even better in the Hereford Calf class, where he won first place for a beautiful specimen; while in the Hereford Female two-year-old class he took second spot. His pen of four Hereford Females won fourth place, with the Grand Champion also won by Justamere Farms; and Reserve Champion by the Bird's Eye Ranch of Cardston.

In the Sheep classes, Henry Thiessen of Tofield has entries, but at the time of writing, these classes had not been judged, so we have no record of his standings.

It is the opinion of most livestock men who have been at the Exhibition, that entries in most classes have increased over some previous years, and are of very good quality.

TRIP TO ENGLAND

Neighbors gathered at the Salt Lake Centre recently to wish Mrs. Eberhard Lien a bon voyage, prior to her departure for Richmond, England, where she will visit her parents, the D. J. Walsh family and her sister Sheila and brother Ian. This is her first trip back since coming to Earling district in 1946. A social evening was spent in games and contests. Before the presentation of a gift of money by Mrs. Daniel Ileum, several suitable readings were rendered. Noreen (Mrs. Lien) expressed her thanks to all for the party and gifts.

PETE BREWSTER
Business Editor,
The Edmonton Journal

Tyrannosaurus Rex was a native Albertan. But he's gone now — been gone for quite a few years in fact.

Rex was the terror of Alberta several million years back: the toughest dinosaur around. He couldn't adapt to changing conditions though, and he finally died out.

The Banff School of Advanced Management picked Rex as their emblem "to exemplify the determination of the School and its alumni not to become obsolete in our practice of management, nor in our methods of teaching it."

CHANGING CONDITIONS

Seriously, I think we can all learn from Rex. We have to face the realities of changing conditions and adapt to them.

When, for example, as noted an American as George Ball, US ambassador to the United Nations says Canada is heading toward "substantial economic integration" with the States, it cannot be dismissed lightly.

It is fine to laud our great national heritage — to applaud the guts and determination shown by our forefathers in building Canada against great odds.

It is right and proper to point out that the United States has many undesirable characteristics which we as Canadians are loath to acquire.

By the same token, we should concede we are envious of their material wealth. We do not protest to loudly when they agree to buy our products.

Occasionally we squawk when they negotiate a deal such as the Columbia River Treaty. Something so blatantly in their favor can only result in ill will. But it should be directed at the short sighted federal government and the money-hungry administration of British Columbia, not to those shrewd neighbors to the South.

The Paley Commission during the early 1950s outlined the direction the U.S. must head to remain economically viable — North. They recommended a peaceful conquest and soothed those Canadians interested enough to read it by saying how smart Canadians are — what shrewd perceptive people these Northern natives can be when swapping wampum for their country.

CANADA LAGGING

The U.S. has since proceeded to outswap us at practically every turn — and on those occasions when we have come out ahead it has been good luck more often than good management.

Part of the reason, I think, is that we have been behaving like our friend Rex. We have not recognized the change in economic climate and have not attempted to adapt [illegible] like [illegible] a metaphor, we have [illegible] the sand.

It is time we recognized the situation Mr. Ball projects as a likelihood is well-nigh an accomplished fact.

I don't think we can reverse the trend. But if we recognize and accept it, then we are in a fine position to guide these wayward traders in paths that will be beneficial to us as well as them.

We are fortunate that they have [illegible] the same moral outlook as we do. They would rather [illegible] than fight an opponent. And we are certainly [illegible] position to [illegible]

But [illegible] can come away feeling they are ahead of the game, everyone will be happy.

Don't think for a moment this game isn't serious, that it isn't real.

The United States is rapidly running out of raw materials to feed the huge industrial complex it has spawned. It can no more survive without Canada than a fish can live without water or a man without air.

WASTED MUCH

They have torn up and wasted much of their once-bountiful timber, their economic mineral deposits are rapidly diminishing, they have ripped the protective top covering off thousands of acres of rich earth leaving it for wind and water to erode millions of tons of fertile soil.

They have polluted their once-clear streams and contaminated the skies of the eastern and mid-western States with the choking fumes of unbridled industry. crowds clutter the streets of their major centres and jam the once-tranquil beaches of smog-shrouded California.

Almost too late, they have recognized these mistakes and are moving to correct them. Billions of dollars are being spent on alleviating the wanton carelessness of years.

But you don't reshape a society overnight. Nor do you discard the greatest potential [illegible] from want without an [illegible] correct the ills while [illegible]

[illegible] the United States is going to need raw materials [illegible] It's going to need all the thousand and one things with which Canada is so bountifully [illegible]

It [illegible] Canada's best interest to [illegible] nation to the South. Economic integration can be a two-way street. It [illegible] they need us [illegible] than we need them. [illegible] Mr. B[illegible] closer economic and political ties are [illegible] I must agree. So unlike [illegible] Let's [illegible] invitation for them to join [illegible] on our terms, of course.

SHADES OF THE PAST

Foul!

Postal workers all across the country this week drew pay cheques for the amount of work they had clocked before the strike started (and a very few for work after the strike) in a special ceremony which saw the postmaster in each centre pass the cheques through a narrow slit in the door, or some such arrangement, while picket lines were carefully supervised to maintain the strike. Surely this is a ridiculous situation . . . we don't know who signs the pay cheques, but workers in every other line have had to make arrangements to carry their pay cheques from head office to branch office in some other manner. Yet the people who are blockading the normal distribution system are permitted access to a system not usable by anyone else.

If this isn't breaking the rules of the game, what is?

Law or justice?

An age-old question was raised recently again in the United States when a senate committee interrogated President Johnson's nominee as Chief Justice, Judge Abe Fortas. The question was over the place for justice in the courts of law, whether criminals who have even confessed their guilt should be freed on miniscule technicalities or convicted in spite of these.

One of the inquisitors charged that the courts are contributing to the rapid increase in the crime rate by their blind insistence on the absolute letter of the law, often completely overlooking the known and proven facts in the pursuit of legal niceties.

It might be fair to observe that we as a public broadly feel we want courts of justice, until such time as we are involved as individuals at which time we prefer courts of law, hoping that a smart lawyer can get us off on a technicality.

We can probably expect to continue to see courts of law rather than courts of justice, for even though the law is often extremely difficult to discover and define, it probably is infinitely easier to compare on the basis of precedents [illegible] judgment on a basis other than purely personal.

Justice is such a nebulous concept that it hardly compares with the comparative science of the law.

Bigness does help

A [illegible] new style in big business is [illegible] evident in the latest Financial Post rankings of the largest companies in Canada. The 100 largest industrial [illegible] The 10 biggest merchandisers make 40% of all store sales. The 25 largest financial companies control [illegible] of assets held by all financial institutions. The big firms are growing [illegible] by absorbing each other and smaller companies, The Financial Post says. But, it points out, some of the new combinations aim at bigness through broadness by joining enterprises as diverse as brewing, furniture and steel, beer, pharmaceuticals and milling. The implications of these developments for corporate life in the 1970s requires much hard thinking now. Government anti-trust policy must get [illegible] its long-held notion that bigness is sin. The whole thrust of Ottawa anti-trust policy must be changed away from purely legalistic concepts and toward assessment of the economic effects of [illegible] activity. New rules in accounting will be needed to get [illegible] disclosure by firms engaged in several unrelated activities. Investors will have [illegible] changed standards [illegible] appraisal as companies concentrating on growth devote a smaller share of earnings to dividends and more to re-investment in the business. U.S. data on the relationship between bigness and efficiency suggest that the largest producers in an industry have higher productivity rates than other companies in the same industry. Canada needs the productivity gains that size clearly can make possible. The Financial Post comments: Properly directed, the new style in bigness promises to make business in Canada among the most vigorous and competitive in the world.

Richmond, B.C. are champions

Richmond, B.C., are the "Little Canadian baseball champions of the Dominion following a three-day playoff in Penhold during the past weekend

The Richmond team won all four of their games, allowing the opposition runs in only two of the contests. Richmond were the smallest team in the playoff which got underway Friday afternoon, and finished on Sunday. Edmonton South Side represented Alberta in the national playoff and were awarded first place in the tears round as the result of a forfeit. Ruste issues statement about newspaper report

I wish to advise the citizens of Alberta that my department is aware of the publishing of a newspaper known as Alex News and the statements contained therein.

This material has been examined by the officials of the department

The reports contained in the Alex News are not correct. No arrangements have been made to dispose of any public land to the Alex people anywhere in Alberta to the present time.

I would like to state what information is available in order that Albertans may have a clear picture of what has happened to the present date.

A representative of Alex was in Edmonton several weeks ago to discuss the possibility of a commercial development for hunting and fishing in the vicinity of Andrew Lake in northeastern Alberta. A meeting was held with the Alex representative and the Director of Lands, Director of Fish and Wildlife and certain other staff of my department. At the time of the meeting, the Alex representative was informed that it was not the policy of the Department of Lands and Forests to give priority to any commercial operation without first advertising the operation. This is in order that as many parties as possible who might be interested in such a development would have an opportunity to submit bids which may or may not be acceptable.

There is no truth whatsoever to the statement contained in the Alex News that "six thousand square miles has been leased in Alberta". Further there is no intention to lease any large tract of land to any commercial concern for the type of development portrayed in the Alex Newspaper.

The Directors of Property, Fish and Wildlife and Lands have discussed the matter of commercial developments with the Deputy Minister and as a result, it has been decided to consider commercial development in the northern areas of the province, but on a very controlled basis. Only minimal amounts of land necessary for construction of a lodge or similar buildings would be made available of any concern At the same time, it is not my intention to give exclusive hunting rights or to provide for an exclusive operation for any individual or group or individuals

Where commercial development is allowed, for example, a hunting lodge, public access to all desirable areas will be preserved, plus the fact that other guides and outfitters would not be restricted from operating in on such developments would be the same area. The main restrictions which would be placed that certain building standards be maintained, and that the available fisheries and big game resources should be sufficient to support such an operation. In this latter respect therefore, it would seem desirable for our technical staff to assess the capabilities of each area to support commercial ventures catering to hunters and fishermen, and to lodges or similar operations necessary to see the number of which might be allowed within a specified region. In my event, we do not see the necessity for leasing large tracts of land for such purposes as lodge buildings and other ancillary structures which might be necessary for winter house storage and so forth.

In summary the statements contained in Alex News have caused an unfortunate reaction, because citizens of Alberta are naturally concerned with the disposition of public land. We feel it is desirable to encourage the development of a viable hunting and fishing economy in Northern Alberta, as I mentioned earlier, but obviously, the responsibility of Government is to its own citizens first. Commercial developments of any kind will be allowed where it is considered necessary to provide accommodation and services where these do not presently exist I trust that this explanation of the Government's future plans with respect to commercial hunting and fishing services will be enough to stop any fears concerning the manner in which these operations will be allowed to proceed

Copies of this statement will be sent to the Fort Worth-Dallas area of Texas where Alex News is published.

Ronning tells Couchiching U.N. should admit China

Chester Ronning speaking this week to the third session of the Couchiching Conference in Geneva Park near Orillia, Ontario, stated for the immediate recognition of the Peking government, and also urged that China be granted a seat on the United Nations Security Council

He Ronning said that Canadian policy should attempt to strengthen the United Nations so that it could settle power conflicts. He said that recognition by hands of the Peking regime would not bring immediate results, because this decision should have been made back in 1949

When asked what should be done about Nationalist China, Dr. Ronning replied "We would only recognize sovereignty of Peking over the land it controls, as France has done And we should replace Taiwan with Peking in the U.N. Security Council."

DEAR SIR: Why aren't all loans which are made to states with maximum interest laws covered by those laws? The only kind of loans available through most finance companies seem to be those which are exceptions to the law. — D.O.

Your question came from the United States, so I'll try to answer it in terms of state laws. However, for the benefit of Canadian readers, the same situation applies at the Federal level.

During the period in history when most of what you call "Maximum interest laws" (I assume you are referring to Usury laws) were passed, the most common type loan w as a commercial loan made to a business organization. It was a large loan, with considerable collateral backing it and was repayable in one lump sum at the end of a stated period. Thus the risk was minimum and there were only two transactions—making the loan and collecting it. The lender could get a fair return on his investment with a relatively small interest rate — in most cases, 6% was common.

However, in later years, when the individual consumer began to feel a need for cash credit, the lender's problem was different. He was dealing in most cases with borrowers without collateral —higher risks—needing smaller sums of money and having to repay them in sensibly handled installments, sometimes over a two-year period.

Credit investigation became a necessity, bookkeeping involved as many as 36 transactions as contrasted to the earlier two, and the smaller loans resulted in a smaller dollar return to the lender.

The lender could not operate at a profit under the restrictions of the Usury laws and would not make personal loans to individuals. The individual was forced to turn to illegal lenders —the notorious "loan sharks". Seeing this development, wise businessmen and legislators caused to have passed special Small Loan legislation which permitted interest rates under which legitimate lenders could make a profit.

It is these laws under which licensed consumer finance companies operate today.

IN MEMORIAM

VERGETTE. — In loving memory of my husband Herbert, who passed away August 6, 1956.

When all is still and silent,
And sleep forsakes my eyes,
My thoughts wander to the grave
Where my dear husband lies.
What would I give to clasp his hand,
His face again to see;
To hear his voice, to see his smile,
That meant so much to me.
In my heart I'll always keep
A special place for you,
And try to do my best to live
As you would want me to.
Twelve years ago you left us,
On the sixth day of August;
But the memory of that day
Will never fade away.

Ryley meets Tofield in Power Line finals

Ryley won the right, last Thursday, to advance against Tofield for the championship of the Power Line Baseball League.

Ryley squeezed by Bardo 5-3 in Ryley in an exciting game to win their best of three semi-final series two games to one. Ryley won the first game of this series but Bardo came back to even things up and force a deciding game.

Blaine Lyslo went the route for Ryley tossing a mean two-hitter at the Bardo team to gain credit for the victory. Bob Foshaug was the starting and losing pitcher for Bardo being relieved by Richard Foshaug in the fifth inning.

John Booth paced the winners at the plate getting two hits in three official appearances while Larry Foshaug led the losers as he belted a home run with a mate aboard to account for two of their three runs.

The first game in the finals between Tofield and Ryley is scheduled to be played in Tofield this evening, if weather and ground conditions permit. The second game will be played in Ryley on Tuesday, and if a third game is needed, it will be next Thursday in Tofield.

Lightning hits district farm

(Mrs. G. H. Taylor)

HOLDEN — Sam Laskosky, who farms east of Holden had the misfortune Sunday evening, July 28th, of having his barn completely destroyed by fire when the building was hit by lightning during the severe storm which passed through the district.

He also lost a goodly amount of hay in the loft, cream separator and milking equipment.

Their eldest daughter was home alone at the time and on seeing the roof on fire ran out of the house and managed to get her pony out of the burning building, then drove to neighbors for help. Although friends and help arrived, nothing could be saved as the entire top of the barn seemed to have caught fire at one and then collapsed. Luckily no animals were in the barn at the time, and the fire was contained to the one building.

Canada's biggest robbery

England's Great Train Robbery [illegible] the biggest single-incident [illegible] in history, was "small potatoes" compared to the annual [illegible] of humanity's arch enemy, the rat!

When considered en masse, the rat is, without a doubt, the most destructive creature on earth. His depredations are world-wide. In India, for example, Dr. H. A. B. Parpia, Director of the Central Food Technological Research Institute, has estimated grain losses from rats at 25% of crops in the field, plus an additional 25-30% in storage losses. In Canada, it is estimated that our crop losses are close to the world-wide average of 20% of all field production. In the United States, the Food and Drug Administration destroyed 417,000 tons of rat contaminated food during 1966 alone. In terms of dollar losses, the destructive impact of rats is equally as appalling. Professor R. Osburn of the Ontario Agricultural College quotes a figure of between $15 to $20 as being "the total cost of tolerating one rat per year". He points out that this figure, when originally assumed over ten years ago, included food spoilage and damage, so that on the basis of today's prices, it has almost doubled.

There are more than 550 species of rats throughout the world. It is, however, just one species—the Norway Rat (Rattus norvegicus)—that is responsible for virtually 100% of the rat damage throughout Canada and the USA. Ironically enough, he came over with the Pilgrims bringing his evil habits with him . . . including the following list of achievements. He can squeeze through openings as small as 1½" square . . . he can swim rivers and even flooded sewers . . . he can gnaw through dozens of sacks of flour, grain, etc., in an hour.

While the rat's reputation as the "universal pest of the human race" is familiar to us all, what is not so generally recognized are the scientific advances in the development of effective rodenticides. The first significant breakthrough came early in the 1950's with the introduction of Warfarin hailed by the Reader's Digest and many a technical journal as an outstanding contribution to rat and mouse control.

Previous to [illegible] been a "false alarm" introduction which at first appeared to be the Big Solution. This was the development of Antu, a tracking dust non-poisonous to humans and warm-blooded animals but lethal to rats and mice. But Antu proved to have one important failing. In theory it was only necessary for the rat to walk over an Antu dusted area picking up some of it on the feet. If, however, the rat didn't pick up the Antu in a sufficient quantity to kill it, he became immune to the poison for 30 to 60 days. After Antu faded out of the picture there was a period when the various brands of rat killers made with arsenic and phosphorous regained their popularity since there was nothing better available.

The user of these poisons had to mix his own bait, which was dangerous because they are deadly poisons. Also it was nearly impossible to mask the taste, consequently the rats developed "bait shyness" and results were far from satisfactory. Warfarin, however, was practically tasteless and odourless. So little was needed (a 20th of 1%) rats could not eat it alone—it had to be mixed with a bait to attract the rats, so the Warfarin would [illegible] into them.

But there is one special characteristic of the rat which aids greatly in his survival, and that is his wily suspicion of any variation of the taste of any food which he normally relishes. [illegible] the strange food has been ignored for a few days, a rat samples it in minute quantities. If the rat becomes sick, other rats may sprinkle the poison bait with their urine or feces, to warn other members of the colony. However, if the sampling rat survives for a couple of days with no ill effects, then the rest of the colony will eat it.

With Warfarin, rats must eat the bait [illegible] over a [illegible] of four to six days. Being a synthetized anti-coagulant chemical that greatly reduces clotting time, rats bleed to death internally without pain or any feeling of illness. Consequently [illegible] rats in the colony do not become suspicious of the poison-treated bait.

From this it will be readily understood that the really important problem is not simply a matter of developing a rodenticide which has no negative reaction to the rat's eating habits— Rather it is the problem of perfecting a bait which rats will relish in preference to the many other foods available to them. When the barns are empty, almost any cereal bait will serve the purpose, provided the poison itself is relatively tasteless. But when 5 or 10 pounds of cereal bait have to compete with tons of corn, oats, wheat, etc., only a rodenticide which is irresistable to rats can do an effective rat-killing job. In other words, the bait must [illegible] only [illegible] palatable to rats, [illegible] go further in attracting rats to it.

The news therefore, that Wilson Laboratories of Dundas, Ontario, have developed a cereal bait of remarkable efficiency in attracting even well-fed rats, marks a most important milestone [illegible]. Starting point for the firm's research work was the fact that cheese has long been recognized as a rodent delicacy. By experimenting with mixtures of cheese and other foods, they [illegible] bacon [illegible] effective rat attractant and that the combination of both, in just the right proportions, mixed with corn meal, would attract rodents to this Bacon and Cheese bait regardless of what food was stored in a farmer's barn.

No article on rats would be complete without some reference to the fact that in past centuries rat-borne diseases may have killed more people than all the wars in history. Everywhere the rat goes, he spreads contamination. Since the days when it was discovered that their fleas spread the dread bubonic plague, rats have been found guilty of disseminating no less than 34 other types of disease epidemics including typhus which has a conservatively estimated death toll of [illegible] 200 million people over the [illegible] centuries. The latest of these disease epidemics was the deadly Bolivian virus which took hundreds of lives before a team of medical detectives tracked down its source to rodents in the district. In this case, it proved to be the Calomys mouse that was the carrier, but it reflected a familiar pattern common to both rats and mice.

When it is noted, that under ideal conditions, a single pair of rats could theoretically [illegible] over 300 million descendants in three years, the importance of waging constant war on these dangerous pests cannot be over-estimated.

Old French recipe delights the palate

CHICKEN MORNAY, an old French favorite, has long delighted gourmets. The base is the rich Mornay Sauce made from butter, flour, cream and chicken bouillon cubes. Then it's poured into a casserole over layers of chicken pieces, almonds and freshly-cooked green beans, French-style, of course. With a sprinkling of Parmesan cheese on top, the casserole requires only a short "warm up" in the oven.

CHICKEN MORNAY

(Makes 6 Servings)

- 1 (10-oz.) pkg. frozen French-style green beans
- ¼ cup butter
- 5 tablespoons flour
- 2 [illegible] cubes dissolved in 1 cup water
- ½ cup whipping cream
- ½ cup dry white wine
- ½ teaspoon salt
- few grains pepper
- ½ tspn. Worcestershire sauce
- 1 (10-oz.) can button mushrooms, drained
- 2 cups cut-up cooked chicken
- ½ cup toasted slivered almonds
- ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook beans in boiling salted water until crisp-tender, not completely cooked. Drain thoroughly. Butter a 2-quart casserole. Preheat oven to 375°F. Melt butter in a saucepan, blend in flour. Gradually stir in chicken broth and cream. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until smoothly thickened. Stir in wine, salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce and mushrooms. Place beans over bottom of prepared casserole. Spread chicken and almonds over beans. Pour sauce over all. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake in preheated oven until heated through, about 20 minutes. Broil until cheese is golden and bubbly.

Plans proceeding for curler's bingo

At a meeting last Monday Bob Wyllie was given the difficult task of heading up the Curling Club bingo which will be held on Friday, August 23rd.

Bob heads a group of willing workers who will be both selling tickets and preparing the curling rink for the bingo. Total prizes for the ten-game bingo will be $1,000 in cash with the final blackout game worth $300. All advance ticket holders will also be eligible for a $50.00 door prize draw.

Mr. Wyllie has already appointed ten captains to look after the ticket sale, and to date the sale of these have been fairly brisk, probably due to the fact that it is about 16 years ago that a club has put on a fair sized bingo in Tofield.

Hyde - Booth rites solemnized June 16

The marriage of Vera Aileen Booth and Clarence Henry Hyde was solemnized on Sunday afternoon June 16, in the Seventh Day Adventist Church Edmonton. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Booth of Ryley, and the groom is the only son of Mrs. Sylvia Hyde and the late Mr. Hyde of Rhodesia, Africa.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, to the strains of the Wedding March played by her cousin, Lorna Manderson at the organ, and was given in marriage by her parents. Elder A. J. Mustard of Victoria B.C., an uncle of the groom, performed the ceremony. Soloist was Mrs. H. Laen of Ryley, accompanied by Marilyn Price at the piano.

The bride's floor-length gown was of white peau de soie fashioned with long sleeves and buttons down the back and a semi-circle train draped from the waist. Her chapel veil of illusion net fell from a [illegible] circlet and her cascade bouquet was of red roses.

The bride's attendants Mrs. Dianne Booth, Mrs. Kaye Bartter, and Miss Jean Booth wore gowns in sky blue peau de soie with matching lace jackets and carried bouquets of white carnations.

The groomsmen were Gordon Booth, brother of the bride, Elder Edward Bartter brother-in-law of the groom and Andrew Mustard cousin of the groom.

An open reception was held later in the afternoon in the Legion Hall at Ryley. The three-tiered wedding cake was made by the bride's mother, and decorated by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Fritz Munkedal.

The bride is an R.N., and is head nurse of the Cardiac Care Unit of the New England Memorial Hospital at Stoneham, a suburb of Boston, Massachusetts, where the couple will reside. The groom, who was born in Kenya and took his schooling in East Africa, where his father was a missionary for 30 years, is now a Sociology student at Atlantic Union College, South Lancaster, Massachusetts.

Ness - Humphries wedding solemnized in Edmonton

St. Paul's United Church in Edmonton was the scene of a recent lovely wedding when Rev. Ian MacMillan, in a double-ring ceremony, united in marriage Fern Helen Gresham Humphries daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Len Humphries of Edmonton, and Randolph Peter Ness, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ness of Ryley.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was lovely in a long white gown of ruffled lace over satin, featuring a slim line skirt and a long sleeved jacket with rounded neckline. The shoulder length illusion veil was held in place by a crystal tiara. Her bouquet consisted of white sweetheart roses, blue cornflowers and stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Gwen Moth, sister of the groom, and the bridesmaids were Sheila Hughes, Debbie and Linda Humphries, sister of the bride. Their floor-length gowns were chiffon over peau de soie in cornflower blue and they carried bouquets of yellow and white miniature mums and wore flowers in their hair.

Little April Humphries looked delightful as flowergirl in her long white dress with empire waistline and three rows of lace on the long skirt.

Larry Moth, brother-in-law of the groom was bestman while the other male attendants were Myron Johnson, Garry Piltingsrud and Barry Humphries brother of the bride.

During the signing of the register, Lary Benson sang "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied at the organ by Harry Farmer.

The bride's mother was charming in a lace over crepe dress in turquoise blue with white accessories. The groom's mother wore a two-piece lemon colored suit with white accessories. Each wore a corsage of red roses.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where the guests were seated for a lovely banquet. The three-tiered wedding cake was made and decorated by the bride and her mother. Mr. Hughes was master of ceremonies and toastmaster; and in reply to the toast to the bride, the groom, aptly and humorously responded.

The happy couple [illegible] a wedding trip to the west coast and will reside in Medicine Hat on their return.

Mrs. Lillian Humphries grandmother of the bride, of Weyburn, Sask., was an honored guest; and relatives and friends from various points in Alberta, B.C., and Saskatchewan were also present.

Police cars using wide-angle mirror

Five-panel "Wink" wide-angle safety mirrors are being installed by many police departments both in Canada and the U.S., reports Progressive Plastics. The mirror, which was a gold-medal award winner recently as the "most outstanding automotive safety invention," consists of a series of five mirrors precisely set in a glass-filled polystyrene housing 3 feet long, 2½ inches high and 1⅛ inches deep mounted to the inside of a car's roof at the top of the windshield. The mirror glass is an anti-glare type bedded in an adhesive which holds the glass in place if it should be shattered by a sharp blow, such as a driver's or passenger's head. The mirrors are made in Agincourt, Ont., by Fullview Mirror Co., which is currently completing arrangements for a sports car model and a four-panel model for compact cars.

Keith Bjorgum of Kingman, at right, is showing Bruce Carter some of the differences in trees and leaves between here and Kentville, Nova Scotia, where Keith comes from. 14-year-old Bruce is Keith's exchange partner in the Boy Scouts' travel and exchange program, sponsored by the Citizenship Branch of the federal government. A member of the Woodpecker patrol in the 4th Kentville Troop, Bruce joined Wolf Cubs at the age of eight, and holds his Leaping Wolf, Life and Religion Awards and his second class badge, after being in Scouts for three years.

The object of the exchange is to make the boys better acquainted with Canada. Bruce will complete 12 days with the Bjorgums on August 7th, and then he and Keith will travel back to Kentville, where Keith will visit for 12 days. Members of the Kingman group committee organized a wiener roast at 3rd Miquelon last Wednesday evening, to entertain Bruce and help people in the district to meet him. Keith is one of 16 Scouts in Alberta selected for the program. An interesting sidelight is that Bruce's grandfather in Nova Scotia is a good friend of LeRoy Flemming of the Kingman district.

Seafood Supreme delights gourmets

The lineup of shrimp, lobster and crabmeat in SEAFOOD SUPREME is enough to delight the seafood fans. But whether your guests are keen on seafood or not, they'll find it hard to resist second helpings of this delicious casserole. The secret is in the smooth cream sauce that is so flavorful and just the right consistency for serving over hot parsleyed rice. Along with a big salad, the main course is complete. To leave yourself free for other details the day of the party, make the casserole up the night before, omitting the topping. Keep it refrigerated until 45 minutes before serving time, then top with the crumb mixture and make as directed.

FISHING IS A NATURAL HERITAGE

To some people a forest vacation is not complete without an opportunity to fish. Clear, cool, clean water and abundant food are necessary for game fish, and in Canada's forest areas may be found many sparkling streams that fill these requirements. Good fishing grounds are not an accident. They require careful supervision to see that the waters are not contaminated by harmful waste. Game fish have natural requirements, just as the forest animals have, and these must not be disturbed. A fine trout stream, where trout have been plentiful for years, may be ruined by the dumping of waste from industrial plants. Indiscriminate logging or forest fires will remove the shade, and thereby change the temperature of the water so that fish cannot live. Destruction of the forest cover on stream headwaters will cause a quick run-off in the spring, with resulting destruction of fish food and fish eggs.

Next year the Canadian Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service anticipates that it will be necessary to collect one million blood donations every year to meet the needs of transfusion therapy in Canadian hospitals.

Ryley leads finals

Ryley took an easy one game lead in the Power Line Baseball League finals on Tuesday evening when they visited Tofield, and the home team could only put eight players in the field by seven o'clock deadline.

The two teams took to the field to play an exhibition game with Ryley coming out on top by a score of 7-3. Blaine and Robert Lysio shared mound duties for the visitors with Blaine gaining credit for the victory. Both pitchers showed excellent control as each recorded four strikeouts.

Floyd Taylor went the route for Tofield and was tagged with the loss.

As a result of winning the playoff game by default, Ryley now leads the best of three final series one game to none and could end the playoffs tonight when they host the Lions. If a third game is needed, it will be played in Tofield this coming Tuesday evening.

Both Ryley and Tofield earned a berth in the finals by winning the semi-finals the hard way. Tofield eliminated Viking in three games while Ryley was also forced to the limit before eliminating Bardo.

Hog and egg producers register for balloting

Registration of hog producers in Alberta for the right to vote on establishing a hog marketing board in the province was held up by the recent postal strike and the deadline for registration has been extended to September 9th.

Registration forms have already been sent out to hog producers and FUA president Paul Babey predicts that more than 6,000 producers will register for the vote. The FUA is currently conducting a program aimed at urging farmers to register and receive information on the details of the producers marketing board plan. Plans and ballots for voting on an Egg and Fowl Marketing Board will be mailed to registered egg producers by September 3rd, and must be returned to the Marketing Council by 4:30 p.m. on September 16th.

More than 900 producers representing 15 million dozen eggs have already registered to decide by voting, whether or not they want such a board to be set up. The egg marketing plan will be put into effect if registered producers give it a simple majority or over fifty per cent.

Gilmore - Ferguson vows

Tofield United Church was the scene of a summer wedding on Saturday, July 6, when Evelyn Dianne Ferguson became the bride of Gordon Robert Gilmore. The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ferguson of Tofield, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Waters of Deroche, B.C. Rev. Stanley Beasey of Tofield United Church officiated at the double-ring ceremony. Wedding music was played by Mrs. J. E. Stinson.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was radiant in a full-length gown of bridal satin, and organza. Styled with lily-point sleeves and lace bodice trimmed with seed pearls, the full length skirt featured an overlay of organza in deep scallops with lace inserts. An organza train trimmed with lace inserts fell softly from her shoulders. Her veil was of bouffant style and she carried a bouquet of white gladioli. Her only jewelry was a gold brooch, fashioned from her great-grandmother's wedding ring.

The bridesmaid was Marjorie Ferguson, sister of the bride. Her floor-length gown was of deep pink peau-de-soie with a matching organza overlay and train. Her headpiece was of matching organza, and she carried a bouquet of yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Best man was Allan Gill, cousin of the groom. Ushers were Stewart Ferguson, cousin of the bride, and Richard Holtman, friend of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ferguson chose a two-piece suit in a deep blue shade. Her accessories were white and her corsage was of red roses. Mother of the groom wore a beige suit, white accessories, and yellow roses on corsage.

A reception was held in the church parlors with the Lakeshore U.C.W. catering. The bride's table was laid with a white linen damask tablecloth which had belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. Olive Cookson. The same cloth had been used on her grandmother's wedding table and also at her mother's wedding. The beautifully decorated cake was flanked with white tapers.

Mr. Oscar Epp was master of ceremonies and called on Rev. Beasey to say grace. A toast to the bride was proposed by Earl Rose and was ably responded to by the groom. In charge of the guest book was the bride's sister, Lois Ferguson. Honored guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Ferguson of Devon. Other out-of-town guests were from Leduc, Edmonton, Sherwood Park, and Deroche, B.C.

An informal open-house reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in the evening when relatives, friends and neighbors called to wish the young couple happiness. Assisting Mrs. Ferguson as co-hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Margaret Bruce and Mrs. Kay Ferguson, aunts of the bride.

The newlyweds left by car on a honeymoon trip to Jasper and points in B.C. For travelling, the bride chose a two-piece suit in an aqua shade. Her corsage was of yellow roses. A topcoat of pastel yellow completed her ensemble. Upon their return the newlyweds will be making their home in the Tofield district, where the groom is employed by the CNR.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ferguson chose a two-piece suit in a deep blue shade. Her accessories were white and her corsage was of red roses. Mother of the groom wore a beige suit, white accessories and yellow roses on corsage.

A reception was held in the church parlors with the Lakeshore U.C.W. catering. The bride's table was laid with a white linen damask tablecloth which had belonged to her grandmother, the late Mrs. Olive Cookson. The same cloth had been used on her grandmother's wedding table and also at her mother's wedding. The beautifully decorated cake was flanked with white tapers.

Mr. Oscar Epp was master of ceremonies and called on Rev. Beasey to say grace. A toast to the bride was proposed by Earl Rose and was ably responded to by the groom. In charge of the guest book was the bride's sister, Lois Ferguson. Honored guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Ferguson of Devon. Other out-of-town guests were from Leduc, Edmonton, Sherwood Park, and Deroche, B.C.

An informal open-house reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in the evening when relatives, friends and neighbors called to wish the young couple happiness. Assisting Mrs. Ferguson as co-hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Margaret Bruce and Mrs. Kay Ferguson, aunts of the bride.

The newlyweds left by car on a honeymoon trip to Jasper and points in B.C. For travelling, the bride chose a two-piece suit in an aqua shade. Her corsage was of yellow roses. A topcoat of pastel yellow completed her ensemble. Upon their return the newlyweds will be making their home in the Tofield district, where the groom is employed by the CNR.

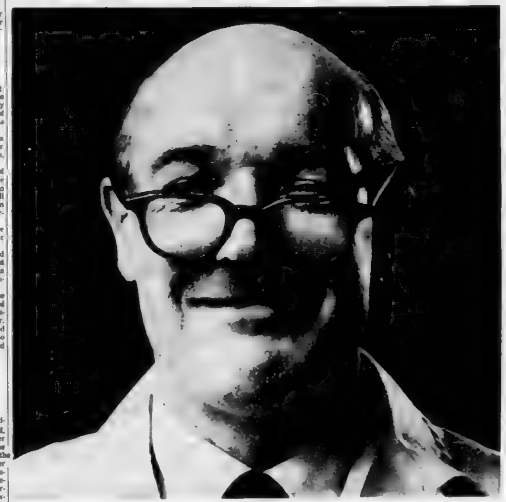
Mrs. Ken Nyback was the soloist, and at the reception that followed in the church parlors Mrs. Nyback and Mrs. S. Holomes [illegible].

The bridesmaids, gowned in blush pink organza were Mrs. Larry Johnson and Mrs. Eleanor Yitri. The groom's attendants were Norman Ronsberg and Larry Johnson.

At the reception, Pastor Holomis was master of ceremonies. Daniel Reum, uncle of the groom proposed the toast to the bride, and Mrs. Vern Reum was in charge of the guest book.

The three-tier wedding cake was made and beautifully decorated by Mrs. Henry Stensrud. Following the honeymoon the happy couple will reside in Camrose.



Fabelhaft!

Brewmaster Steinecker said it first. It means "fabulous" and he should know. The Brewmaster comes from a long line of dedicated Bavarian brewers. He took all the traditions of his forefathers, added the touch of genius—and came up with a better way to make beer. Our new Steinecker Brewhouse, the first in North America, guarantees that every bottle is naturally brewed to consistently great flavour. Not a single one is sold until the Brewmaster says the word.

And the word is "Fabelhaft!"

Tofield downs Ryley tying the finals 1-1

The Tofield Lions have battled back to deadlock the finals in the Power Line Baseball League with Ryley, at a game apiece, by dumping Ryley at Ryley last Thursday evening by a score of 7-1.

Ryley had earlier been awarded the first game in Tofield when the home team had been unable to field a team by the scheduled game time. This final series is a best two-out-of-three affair.

In Thursday's game, Ed Williams went the route for Tofield, scattering four hits along the way to gain credit for the victory. Blaine Lysko started for Ryley and was charged with the loss, but was greeted with a six-hit barrage, including three home runs, and was relieved in the second inning by Robert Lysko.

Robert Lysko pitched for about an inning and a half, but had control problems, and was in turn relieved by George Becker in the fourth inning, who controlled Tofield for the balance of the contest.

The weatherman has failed to co-operate with the two teams, with the result that the playoffs have dragged on longer than expected.

No definite date has been set for the third and final game, which will be played in Tofield; although it could very well be played this evening.

Trail ride is a huge success

(Mrs. Gus Schmidt)

On the morning of Sunday, August 11, a group of about 36 riders from Tofield, Kingman, Hastings Lake and Spilsted districts gathered at the home of Gus Schmidt, west of Tofield, to go on a trail ride west through Ducks Unlimited reserve

The ride started about 11:00 o'clock, with Ed Regehr as trail boss and Gus Schmidt as scout. The trail wound over hills and through meadows that smelled of new cut hay, and along the shore of Ministik Lake along trails lined with spruce and birch.

The ride continued until about 1:30 p.m., when they were met by the chuck-wagon with supplies for dinner, and very soon the trail boss had a wonderful barbecue dinner cooked for all, topped off with ice cream and pop

After a rest for both riders and horses, the return trip was made by a different trail to the starting place, where the horses were loaded in trucks and all returned home, after a happy ride of about 13 miles.

Kolodychuk - Wirun vows exchanged

On August 9, at St. John's Cathedral, Edmonton, a lovely double-ring wedding ceremony took place, when Maxine Wirun, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wirun of Edmonton, became the bride of Douglas Kolodychuk of Ryley. The matrimonial rites were performed by Rev. Luchak.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length fitted gown of white satin, with lily-point sleeves, a rolled collar and long train of lace. Her chapel veil was held in place by a large white gardenia, and she carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses.

Her attendants, Miss Donna Rautuk, cousin of the bride, and Miss Margie Wirun, sister of the bride, wore fitted floor-length pink satin gowns, with long lace trains. In their hair they wore rhinestone tiaras, and carried nosegays of pink carnations and white daisies.

The pretty little flower girl, Rosalie Kolodychuk, niece of the groom, wore an identical dress to the bridesmaids, and carried a basket of pink carnations and white daisies.

The groom was attended by Jerry Wirun, brother of the bride, and Rodney Kolodychuk, brother of the groom. Ushering the guests to marked pews was Don Wirun.

For her daughter's wedding, the bride's mother chose a one-piece dress of white brocade with pink accessories, and a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother chose a turquoise suit and white accessories, and her corsage was also of pink roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Norwood Legion banquet room, where the bride and groom's parents received their guests, numbering over 130. Miss Rosalind Kolodychuk was in charge of the guest book.

The bride's table was centred with a beautifully decorated tiered wedding cake, banked with red roses and tall white candles. The bride's uncle proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. Master of ceremonies was Mike Polish; and following the reception a dance was held.

Out of town guests arrived from Vancouver, B.C., Vernon, B.C., [illegible], Ont., Illinois, U.S.A., [illegible], Lamont, Vegreville, Star and Grande Prairie.

Although fires don't always kill trees, they often cause injuries which may eventually kill the tree or affect it for life.

Fabelhaft!

Brewmaster Steinecker said it first. It means "fabulous" and he should know. The Brewmaster comes from a long line of dedicated Bavarian brewers. He took all the traditions of his forefathers, added the touch of genius—and came up with a better way to make beer. Our new Steinecker Brewhouse, the first in North America, guarantees that every bottle is naturally brewed to consistently great flavour. Not a single one is sold until the Brewmaster says the word!
And the word is "Fabelhaft!"

Lions win crown by downing Ryley

For the third straight year the Tofield Lions have emerged as champions of the Power Line Baseball League, and were presented with the PLBL Trophy.

Tofield won the championship by downing Ryley 7-2 in Tofield on Tuesday evening, to win the best of three final series two games to one. Ryley had been awarded the first game when Tofield had been unable to field a team, while the Lions took the second game 7-1.

Ed Williams was the hero for Tofield in the deciding game as he survived a shaky start to go the distance and got credit for the victory. He allowed two runs in the first inning and then pitched perfect ball from there on, as not one Ryley batter was able to make it to first base.

Tofield picked up one run in the first inning and added two in each of the second, fourth and fifth innings to clinch the victory and the league title.

Robert Lysio was the starting and losing pitcher for Ryley, getting relief help from Blaine Lysio in the third inning.

The annual All-Star game has been scheduled for Tofield on Sunday, Sept 8th, with the Lions hosting the Power Line Baseball League All-Stars. Game time has been set for 2:00 'clock.

Another vote on Bruce?

The question of a water and sewage system for the Hamlet of Bruce has again risen in the County of Beaver. The question first came up last fall and a plebiscite on the issue was soundly defeated by the ratepayers, and the matter ground to a halt. The December vote had 346 voters casting "nay" ballots while 168 voted for a water system; and 341 ballots were cast against the sewage system with 172 voting in favor.

But, the Hamlet of Bruce did not let the matter die. A petition was circulated and presented to the County Council, and a delegation attended a council meeting, stating that they had fifty residents firmly committed to installation of these systems if the Council would proceed with the systems.

This resulted in the Council giving first readings to two by-laws at a meeting earlier this month, which would enable the County to borrow money by debenture in the amount of $72,500 for the water system and $52,500 for the sewage system.

Now, the issue rests squarely on the shoulders of the proprietary electors If 15% of these electors should decide that Bruce should not have these systems, and so present a petition to Council to this effect, it could very well end Bruce's chances of becoming modernized. If such a petition is presented, the Council has a couple of choices: they can call a plebiscite on the matter, or they can decide that there is sufficient opposition and drop the by-laws.

It would appear that the people of Bruce have more than demonstrated their good faith as fifty of them have definitely committed themselves to the expense of installing these systems, and now the rest is up to the County Council and the people of the County.

In this day and age it is unthinkable that people might vote against their neighbors having modern conveniences, but it has already happened once, and it can only be hoped, that such a mistake will not be repeated.

The smaller centers in Alberta are fast becoming memories as more and more people move to the larger centers, resulting in the slow death of a large number of these smaller communities. Every effort should be made to see that the smaller centers that presently exist, continue to function in the future. If installation of a modern water and sewage system will help, then these systems should be installed. Alberta needs these small centres and can't afford to have them all become ghost towns

Those bureaucrats

Some of our readers may have enjoyed a catchy new song from the provincial capital recently, bursting with humor, and poking fun at The Bureaucrats. Hopefully one of these days we're going to hear the whole song we've either come in late in the record, or else been interrupted by something or other during the playing, so we've yet to hear the whole song

But it's one of those delightful spoofs that can only happen in a democracy, where nothing is sacred not even the bureaucrats who plan our daily lives, from the number of days and hours we can go shopping to the kind of shows we can look at or the type of liquor we can drink and where we're going to hear the whole song the record, but it's the first of these really light-hearted-laugh-at-ourselves type of songs we've heard since the depression days It probably won't do much good to remedy the evils of the situation, but a little ridicule sometimes makes more miles than a great deal of biting criticism

MacDuff Ottawa Report

OTTAWA — Since November 1 Canadians have cashed about $100 million more of their Canada Savings Bonds than they have purchased. The cut-off for the 1967-68 series which went on sale at that time in August 31 and the federal treasury will be poorer than when it started.

Latest figures supplied by the Bank of Canada show that by August 13 $1,523 million of this series had been sold and it is unlikely that there have been additional sales since that date.

On August 31 the Bank of Canada had issued $1,623 million worth of the series. Bonds surrendered of the million less than before the 1 of the month. Nevertheless, it means that Canadians have cash in some quarters, to the tune of $100 million, that they would not otherwise have had.

Sales of this series averaged $30 million a week but have been cut in half since then. The income from sales

EARLY MATURE

A heavy turn in of Canada Savings Bonds is not unusual. The fact that they can be cashed at par at any time means that the Canadian public often uses them as a means of saving for future planned purchases when the bonds are held to maturity. Each of the yearly series is likely to be more attractive than the last and it has often paid the holder to turn in his old bonds for new. Gross sales of the Centennial series 1966-67 reached a record $2,421 million, but the actual new money that came into the federal treasury was only about $385 million

Between August 31, 1966, and August 31, 1967, the government's net cash intake from Canada Savings Bonds was $356 million. Between August 14, 1967, and August 14, 1968, there has been a net loss of $182 million

Unusual events and developments during the year have undoubtedly contributed to the fantastically high rate of redemptions The panic gold buying in March and April shook faith in paper money, particularly among newcomers to Canada who had had unfortunate experiences with European currencies

But the turn over this year has been heavy enough to suggest that there may be a more basic reason for the lessened popularity of Canada Savings Bonds There is no doubt that the Canadian public generally was shocked at one period by the massive cash requirements for federal government spending and lost a measure of confidence in all government bonds But this is not the whole explanation

SEVERAL REASONS

Only in the first three weeks of the November campaign when peak efforts are made to persuade employees to purchase bonds under payroll deduction schemes did the sale exceed the cash handed out for redemptions In November 23 they reached their all time peak of 66 million dollars At that level they represented nearly 10 per cent of Canada's outstanding funded debt

With the exception of one week in May when the replacement series was being offered for public purchase and the government took in 388 million in new money there has been a consistent decline Today they represent less than 26 per cent of the funded debt

TIMING IMPORTANT

Lessened popularity of the savings bonds may be partly the government's own doing When the first series was issued in 1946 it coincided with the period of Canadian history when the compulsory savings taken from them during the war years was deliberately timed to prevent disastrous inflation of cash incomes and consumer spending when normal supply It was designed primarily to prevent too many dollars chasing too few goods

It is interesting to remember that this first series of bonds matured at the best rate of 2% per cent if held to maturity. The 1968 replacement series it held until maturity in 1979 will have an interest yield of 6.98 per cent

As time went on there was a growing awareness by the government of the advantages of Canada Savings Bonds as a method of financing its cash requirements Costs were relatively high but the savings bonds were tapping new savings. The fact that they could be cashed in at any time without the possibility of loss made it appeal to the small saver who would otherwise leave his money in a savings account

In 1957 the limit for an individual holding of bonds was raised from $5,000 to $10,000 and the interest yield on maturity in 1970 was raised to 4.46 per cent, making it in line with other annual rates. Sales that year jumped from $8.64 million to $1,217 million.

BONANZA ISSUE

Then in 1958 came the first bonanza The series which matures in November of 1970 has a yield of nearly five per cent But in addition to the interest paid it is redeemable at 103 The limit on holdings was raised to $30,000 to draw out a more sophisticated investor

By this time the government was not only offering incentives to buy bonds but to hold them Interest rates were revised periodically over the life of the bond so that it became relatively less attractive to buy for the short hold

But all this has made the man in the street more sophisticated. He is comparing his savings with what he can do in other types of security He has learned that redemption at par and yield to maturity may not be all they are cracked up to be He can buy government bonds if as good or better interest rates with a reasonable assurance that he can sell them on the open market at more than he paid for them if he doesn't want to hold to maturity

If this is so the government and the Bank may be having second thoughts about Canada Savings Bonds. They will continue to be sold in order to tap that pool of small savings But they may play a far lesser role in future government financing

County Council meets

Following are the minutes, in part, of the regular meeting of the Council of the County of Beaver No. 9, held Thursday, August 8:

Business Arising from Minutes

In regards to the Flood Control, last dealt with by motion 344/68, Cr. Reddick reported that work was progressing very slowly due to breakdown of the equipment on the McVittie Project.

Cr. Knudsen reported in regards to the Ilsnis Flood Control, that it appeared to him that no work could be done this year as the farmers involved were not taking too much interest in it, and he was not prepared to push the project.

Cr. Krupinski reported that he had most of the easements on the Krupinski Flood Control but that some changes must be made in the route of the drainage as one or two farmers would not agree to any drainage on their land. On the whole he stated that the project should be alright

It was moved and carried that the report be accepted and that it be suggested that the money allocated for the Ilsnis Flood Control, be transferred to the Krupinski Flood Control

In regards to the Water Control Assistance Program, motion 339/68, it was moved and carried that for 1969 the Ilsnis Flood Control Project and the Wadwell Flood Control Project be considered at an overall cost not $40,000, with the County contributing $10,000

In regards to Rural Fire Protection and motion 351/68, the Secretary-Treasurer advised that he had written to the Counties of Minburn, Lamont and Strathcona, but as yet had had no response to the letters.

Moved and carried that the report be accepted and the matter tabled to a later meeting

Correspondence

Letter from the Administrator of the Viking Municipal Hospital advising that the hospital will not be submitting a requisition for 1969 was referred to the Council. The letter indicates however, that due to fairly large capital purchases in 1969 a requisition could be possible in 1969.

Moved and carried that the letter be received and filed.

Request from the Prairie Farm Assistance Act for information as to yields in the County to be submitted by September 14, 1968, was referred to Council It was considered that no realistic estimates could be made at this time, and it was decided to have the information provided in September

As the Council on September 12 would be too late to get the information to Regina by the 14th, it was moved and carried that each Councillor supply the information concerning the yields he has area by September 10, the day of the School Committee meeting

The Council was informed that Mrs. Florence Barnard in Peebles had requested to have electric power supplied to her property It was noted that the street, on which the power line would have to be established, was not a surveyed road allowance, having been constructed on lots in the Hamlet. The lots were all tax forfeited to the County and the Secretary-Treasurer suggested that the County should buy these lots so as to have direct title to them. The lots involved were Lot 19 in Block 1 and Lot 4 in Block 13.

The Calgary Power Ltd. had also inquired if it would be the intention of Council to supply street lights in the Hamlet, and after some discussion it was moved and carried that the two lots be purchased for road allowance purposes and that two street lights be provided in the Hamlet of Peebles

Cr Gibson had received an inquiry from one of the farmers in the County as to whether or not any assistance would be available in regards to freight on feed being brought into the County

No such scheme had as yet been contemplated by the Provincial Government, and it was moved and carried that it be noted that no freight assistance for feed is provided at this time.

Northwestern Utilities Ltd. Work Order No. W 637-68 covering proposed natural gas distribution system in the area north of Ryley was referred to Council for approval; also Northwestern Utilities Ltd. work order No. W 638-68 concerning extension of the natural gas line in the Landonville area.

Moved and carried that these Work Orders be approved

The Secretary-Treasurer referred to the Council, for information, [illegible] in the new Municipality's Election Act in regards to the procedure of the election of Councillors.

In regards to the street lights at Duvida, dealt with at prior meetings of the Council, Cr Knudsen suggested that two of the street lights should be removed and also that the pump jack and motor be taken out and the service disconnected

Moved and carried that two street lights be taken out in the Hamlet of Duvida, and that the pump jack and motor be removed and this service disconnected

The matter of the Secretary-Treasurer's retirement was brought up, and it was moved and carried that all County employees be required to retire upon reaching the age of 65 years

Stanley Nelson, P. Eng., of Frank J. Asquith Associates Ltd. attended at this time in connection with the proposed water and sewer system in the Hamlet of Bruce.

A list of people in the Hamlet representing 38 services was presented to Council The list was sealed, "I the undersigned will agree to accept water and sewer in the Hamlet of Bruce at the following rate

1. Frontage tax rate being $1.00 per front foot to a maximum of 50 feet per taxpayer.

Mears - Beach vows are pledged on August 17

The Pollockville Baptist Church, Camrose was the scene of a late summer wedding on August 17, when Myrtle Louise, fifth and youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs. L. M Beach of Lindbrook, formerly of Sandfer, was united in marriage to Roy Mears, young son of Mrs Pearson and Mr John Mears of Camrose. Pastor P. Grabke officiated at the double-ring ceremony

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a traditional floor - length gown featuring a full skirt, lily - point sleeves and sweetheart neckline. She carried a bouquet of red roses

Miss Ronnie Mears, sister of the groom, acted as maid of honor, and wore a street-length gown of blue satin complemented by white accessories. She carried a bouquet of pink mums centred by a red rose

Dwayne Falk, a friend of the groom was best man

The organist was Miss Norma Lemphi, who accompanied her sister Miss Gladys Lemphi, as she sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The mother of the bride wore a white brocaded lace dress with gold and bronze accessories, while the groom's mother wore a white and pink figured silk gown with white accessories.

A reception followed at the banquet room of the York Cafe. The bride's table was centred by a three - tiered wedding cake, flanked by arrangements of sweet peas. Gordon Dale, brother-in-law of the bride acted as master of ceremonies and Harold Torkelson, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast to which the groom suitably responded

Beaver School Committee minutes—Tuesday, Aug. 6th

Following are the minutes, in part, of the regular meeting of the County of Beaver No. 9 School Committee, held Tuesday, August 6

Business Arising from Minutes

Bill No. 87, 1968, an Act respecting Health Regions, was referred to the School Committee with a covering letter from the Vegreville Health Unit. The letter contained the following excerpt from a letter to the Chairman of the Vegreville Health Unit Board from the Minister of Health. "This Bill (87) was taken through second reading and Committee as a whole and at that time I advised the House that we would delay further action until the next session (1969) of the Legislature . . . to ensure that all concerned, Local Authorities and individuals would have ample opportunity to study the Bill, and in each Health Unit area review and discuss it, at an open meeting, with members of the senior staff of the Department of Health".

The letter further indicated that a meeting for this purpose in the Vegreville Health Unit would be held in the Centennial Building, Vegreville, on Wednesday, August 7, at 2:00 p.m.

The Chairman of the School Committee was of the opinion that this matter would be of interest to the School Committee in view of the amount of service that the Vegreville Health Unit is providing to the County's Schools and that, in his opinion, the School Board should have representation at this meeting.

It was moved and carried that Crs. Krupinicki and Knudsen and the Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Bruce, attend the meeting on August 7 at 2:00 p.m. in Vegreville.

Superintendent's Report

It was moved and carried that Mrs. Gunhild Berke's resignation be accepted; also that the transfer of Miss Linda Hrbso from Viking School to Grade 1 in Tofield be approved.

It was recommended that the following School Secretaries be appointed: Holden Mrs. Agnes Stambaugh; Ryley Mrs. Irene Pinder with duties to commence September 3rd, 1968.

A motion that Mrs. Agnes Stambaugh be appointed school secretary at Holden School, and Mrs. Irene Pinder, School Secretary at the Ryley School carried unanimously.

A proposal re Internships in 1969, Nursery Arrangements and Teacher Trainees with Majors in Elementary Education was contained in the Superintendent's report. The proposal was submitted for consideration as a means of overcoming the social shortage of teachers for the primary grades and to provide a readiness program for the Grade 1 beginners of September, 1969.

The essential features of the proposal were that at least four teacher trainees who would agree to teach Grade One or Two commencing in September, 1969, would be placed under primary and offered an internship of approximately forty days in May and June, 1969. If at all possible they would have majors in early childhood education in the elementary route.

During the internship period, the interns would co-operate with the Grade One teachers in offering a ten day readiness period to pupils who would be in school in September, 1969. Through proper organization it would be possible to schedule in such a way that overlooking of buses did not occur and no difficulties with accommodation in the schools should occur. It would require eight weeks to enable the four interns to give each pupil a ten day orientation.

It was moved and carried that the proposal as outlined in the Superintendent's report be approved.

It was moved and carried that the Schools in the County of Beaver No. 9 open on Tuesday, Sept. 3, for the purposes of holding staff meetings and general organization and that classes commence on September 4, at 9:00 a.m.

In regards to band instruments for Tofield and Viking, the report contained requests for instruments in Tofield to the value of $795.00 and at Viking $1,460.00. No recommendation was made by the Superintendent in view of the fact that these requests should have been submitted for inclusion in the 1968 budget, however, if the music program in each school is to be expanded in

Stamp honors Henri Bourassa

A Sperd commemorative stamp to be released on the 4th of September will mark the 100th anniversary of the birthday of Henri Bourassa. A politician and journalist, Bourassa was one of the most colorful public figures during the latter half of the 19th century and the early 1900's.

There is a widespread understanding today that Bourassa was a man ahead of his times. Controversial politician's viewpoints of his era, which he advocated with religious fervor, were in many instances accepted today as established constitutional practice. This was also true in 1952, the year of his death, for he lived to see many of his teachings bear fruit. An examination of Bourassa's speeches provides an insight into his own interpretation of the designation "Nationalist" by which he was known. He did not subscribe to the concept of one French province with the remainder as English. It was his hope there would be a spread of French-speaking persons throughout Canada to create areas of their own culture and language. He visualized the existence of such areas in Western Canada as creating a "double mentality" which would serve as a unifying force from coast to coast. He was perhaps the first prominent politician to openly favour the establishment of Canada as a completely independent nation under the Crown.

Prior to founding Le Devoir in 1910, Bourassa had been a contributor to the columns of Le Nationaliste, a Montreal journal, and had been editor and owner of L'Interprete published in Clarence Creek, Ontario. A man whose mother tongue was French, he achieved a mastery of the English language and his adaptability to the two was put to effective use with brilliant skill in his authorship of numerous pamphlets and books supporting his political leanings; as a fiery orator he is regarded to have reached the pinnacle of his power in the early 1900's.

Politically, Bourassa was active at all levels of government. At the age of 21 he was Mayor of Montebello, P.Q., midway between Ottawa and Montreal, an area which he served as Member of Parliament for a number of years. Periods of his career were also occupied as a member of the Quebec Legislature. Death came on August 31, 1952, the eve of Bourassa's 84th birthday.

accommodate some pupils from Grade Seven extra instruments were required. Some discussion followed on the suggestion that, possibly after a student has used the County's instrument for a period of two years he should be required to purchase his own if he intended to carry on with his band training; this would relieve some instruments for use of other beginning students.

It was the opinion of the members of the School Committee that the requested instruments should be purchased, and it was moved and carried the requested music instruments be purchased.

Moved and carried that William Bock, Bus Superintendent of Schools, be appointed Executive Officer for the School Committee for the period September 1, 1968 to August 31, 1969.

The Supervisor of Busses attended the meeting at this time and the various bus routes in the County were discussed. Other matters in connection with the bus drivers were also taken up. It was considered that buses should not arrive at the school earlier than twenty minutes to nine except where transfer of pupils have to be made for attending other schools. It was also suggested that the earliest pick-up should be 7:35 a.m. It was realized that due to road circumstances a bus may be late at times, and it was suggested that, if students are late due to the late arrival of the bus, they should not be marked "late" on the daily register. It was decided that the bus drivers should be responsible for cleaning the bus stalls and the vehicles, and that the vehicles should be kept clean outside and inside.

It was also decided that two service trips per month should be required from the bus drivers without additional pay, and it was moved and carried that each bus driver be responsible for cleaning his own bus stall and for keeping his bus in good and clean condition, and that each bus driver be required to make two service trips to the garage per month without additional remuneration.

It was also considered that the driver, taking pupils to Home Economics and Shop in Ryley could alternate the bus that he is using, thus bringing busses into Ryley for service.

Cr. Gibson stated that Mrs. Annie Harka wished to continue to supply a contract bus for another year.

The Supervisor of Busses advised that the Attorney-General's Department was prepared to put on a driver training seminar and it was moved that a Seminar be put on, on September 3 at 1:30 p.m. with the County supplying the accommodation and coffee and lunch.

It under that the items remaining school drivers and owners discussed at this time be properly recorded it was noted that Registration Cards be amended to include the items discussed at this meeting. Carried unanimously.

As this was Mr Bruce's last meeting before his leave of absence the Chairman of the Committee, Cr Radnich, wished him a pleasant and successful year at the University of Oregon.

Moved at 3.15 p.m. that the meeting now adjourn. Carried.

Soap isn't the only thing that's packaged, advertised and sold. The same thing happens to ideas. Canada's greatest idea—Expo 67—was wrapped up and sold to the world last year. And advertising was one of the things that made it happen. Once the world found out what a great idea Canada was offering, they came in the millions. They spent in the millions. And millions took home the idea that they would return to spend again. The success of Expo 67 cannot be measured in gate receipts alone. Expo told the world what a great place Canada is to visit... and increased tourist business is already being felt. Expo also told the world what a great place Canada is to invest in... to live in... and to trade with. Expo's contributions will extend well into Canada's second century. Expo 67 proved that a good idea, properly merchandised, is the best boost to Canada's economy. It's another example of how advertising helps good things happen... for our country and for you

Ministik news

(Mrs. J. Reddick)

At the United Church, Sunday, Robert Smith, student minister announced that Sunday, Sept. 1 would be Missionary and Maintenance Day for the Ministik and South Cooking Lake churches.

[illegible]

Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. Grant Pearce (nee Gloria Smith), who were married on Saturday at Ft. Saskatchewan United Church with reception and dance following. They have taken up residence in the former home of Mr and Mrs. Max Mulberry, located near the B.A. service station and store of Mac McIntyre.

The dance planned by the Community Club, is to be held on September 21 and not the 14th as stated in the news last week.

Many young people, parents and children attended the big bon-fire and wiener roast at Swabey's beach on Sunday evening, sponsored by the Community Club. A most enjoyable time was had by all who attended.

Deepest sympathy from all neighbors and friends is extended to the Tony Miller family and the other members of the Ward family in the passing of Miss Eliza Ward.

Doug Gilbert of Edmonton is a guest at the home of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Horricks, and cousins Cliff and Keith.

Mr. and Mrs. Hector Hamilton and Marjory, of Fort Macleod, were recent guests at the Russell Rowland home. Mrs. Rowland and Mrs. Hamilton are sisters.

Mrs. Effie Nasichuk was a guest at the home of her cousins in Edmonton for several days recently.

Farmers in this area are trying to harvest crops and hay, despite rain, which would have been welcomed in June rather than at this time.

Brewmaster Steinecker won't award the coveted Molson label to any bottle until he's sure it's earned it.
And he should know: he's the brilliant Bavarian who developed a better way to brew beer.
Here, in North America's first complete Steinecker Brewhouse, every bottle is naturally brewed to consistently great flavour.
Only when the beer is just as it should be does Brewmaster Steinecker award his seal of approval.

Lyseng memorial marks 100 years in America

In Northfield, Minnesota, on August 17th and 18th, the Lyseng and other descendents of other names, held a centennial celebration in honor of the late Engebret and Marit Lyseng, who in 1868 left Norway and came to America. A monument was erected in the Mounda Church cemetery near Northfield, where Engebret was buried. The names of Engebret and Marit appear on the face and the children's names on the back. Relatives were present from a widespread area of Canada and the United States, Alaska to California, and Washington to Chicago and many places between those points.

Accomodation was in Agnes Bothy Hall on the beautiful St Olaf College campus, and the programs and Sunday morning church service were also held there. Rev Gordon Hendrickson preached the service. Meals were served in the college cafeteria.

Those who attended from Camrose area were Mr and Mrs George Hendrickson who drove down with their son Rev Gordon Hendrickson and family, Martin Hendrickson went with Mr. and Mrs. George Hendrickson to Armena; Mrs. Hannah Lyseng of Wetaskiwin and Mrs. Dorothy Lyseng of Camrose travelled by bus. Mrs. Anne Anderson of Tofield. Mrs. Mary Hustane of Wainwright and Mrs. Ella Sajfisky of Edmonton journeyed by train.

A family history book, written by a Lyseng descendant, Mrs Anna Hong Burt, was available at this gathering.

Plans for future gatherings were left in the capable hands of Dr Tancred Lyseng of Moline, Illinois, Mrs Lila Moen of Watrown, North Dakota, Mrs Engberg Walters and Mr. E. C. Baldwin of Minneapolis.

Mrs. Hannah Lyseng stayed in the United States to visit her son Tancred, while Mrs Dorothy Lyseng returned with the George Hendrickssons.

Loco weed seen in Camrose area

Very unusual in these parts, loco weed has been reported by agriculturists at least twice this season. Hal Verna reported to District Agriculturist Larry Williams the weed had showed up on his farm at Ferintosh this summer, and had been stirred up to unusual depths by equipment working on the highway.

This prompted a report to Mr Williams from Regional Agricultural Bob Bishop of Red Deer that the weed had also been seen in the Red Deer area this season.

The weed with a small blue flower, is reported particularly serious to animals, which suffer most painful poisoning after eating it.

FISHING IS A NATURAL HERITAGE

To some people a forest vacation is not complete without an opportunity to fish. Clear, cool, clean water and abundant food are necessary for game fish, and in Canada's forest areas may be found many sparkling streams that fill these requirements. Good fishing grounds are not an accident. They require careful supervision to see that the waters are not contaminated by harmful waste. Game of waste from industrial plants. Indiscriminate logging or forest fires will remove the shade, and thereby change the temperature of the water so that fish cannot live. Destruction of the forest cover on stream headwaters still cause a quick run-off in the spring, with resulting destruction of fish food and fish eggs. Fish have natural requirements, just as the forest animals have, and these must not be disturbed. A fine trout stream, where trout have been living for years, may be ruined by the dumping

Mercury has birthday with this publication

With this issue, the Tofield Mercury begins its fifty-second year of regular publication, since its beginning back in 1917.

Mr. W. Worton began the publication and continued to publish until his death in 1951. From 1942 until 1952 the Mercury was printed at the office of the Wainwright Star. In the early thirties, with the assistance of his wife, Mr. Worton published not only the Mercury, but the Barrhead News and the Hay Lakes Times.

In August, 1952, the Mercury was taken over by Cliff Patterson and Ken Leiske, who had previously been employed by the Lacombe Globe. Unfortunately, Mr. Leiske passed away shortly after the take over.

On February 1st, 1962, the Mercury was purchased by C. A. MacLean and K. E. G. Partrige, owners of The Camrose Canadian, with H. Geo. Meyer taking over as editor-in-chief and Mrs. Olive Pollock as local editor.

Mr. Meyer gave up the editorship in June, 1966, when he purchased the Taber Times and moved to that Alberta center. Publisher C. A. MacLean took on the load of the editor's desk until November, 1967, when Ed Clinton, formerly of Calgary, and before that from Prince Edward Island took over the task.

Tofield looking at pavement for streets

Considerable interest is developing in the possibility of paving the streets in Tofield, as citizens circulate a petition for an open meeting to discuss the matter.

No date has yet been set for the meeting, but it is felt the matter may be explored next Monday evening when the town council holds a meeting, and possibly a delegation will be present asking for a date to be set.

It is expected a great deal of information will be presented to the meeting dealing with the relative costs of paving a portion of the streets or most of the streets in town. It is already clearly established that the rate is a great deal cheaper as the number of blocks increases.

If it is felt there is sufficient interest and support, council will likely be asked to provide a plebiscite on the matter at the October election.

Spokesmen for the plan suggest it is possible a substantial portion of the cost might be shouldered by the department of highways since the Main Street through town could be part of the main secondary road connecting Highways 14 and 16. Suggestions of other roads have been made, but it is felt the Town is in a strong bargaining position, with the railway crossing in their favor.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce are strongly behind the plan, pointing out that many other communities are doing this sort of thing. In addition, they say, it seems that those communities which adopt a paving program seem to be the centres which are progressing, rather than slowly going back.

North Western Pulp and Power Ltd. signed a new agreement with the Hon. A. J. Hooke, minister of land and forests in Alberta, under which they exercised a 14-year-old option to increase the forest reserve area held for them The increase is contingent on North Western expanding mill capacity to handle the additional reserve.

The company has agreed to expand capacity to more than double its present 550 tons per day level, at a cost of more than fifty million dollars. The agreement specifies that construction must start by January 1, 1971, with the new mill to be in operation at least by July 1, 1973.

How did those six Sioux get on our beer label? (Six? Count 'em. Six.) To say nothing of three crows. And a Hupmobile. And twenty-nine trees. And our House of Lethbridge. How? Frankly, we don't remember. It all happened many moons ago. But one thing's certain: we'll never change our label. Or the great beer behind it. In Lethbridge, we go right on brewing it the slow, natural way, for real flavour. We have spoken.

Drainage Board meets

(Mrs. G. H. Taylor)

HOLDEN—The regular monthly meeting of the board of the Holden Drainage District No. 1 was held Friday evening, August 30th. Present were trustees Oscar Alseth, Nick Laskoski and Hans Huseby and secretary-treasurer Ray Hovland. Regular business was attended to.

A general report was given by trustee Laskoski regarding the survey and staking of new ditches to be made at various places; also the complaints of those ratepayers in regards to poor ditches, which had been investigated.

A machine has been engaged to start the cleaning of ditches beginning this week. Easements were to be obtained for registration where ditches will be diverted from the road allowance to inside property lines, this preventing ditches being clogged with snow during the winter when roads are snow ploughed.

The regular accounts were approved and passed for payment.

Mid-summer celebration marks 54 years in Canada

(Mrs. J. Reddish)

"We will be back soon", was heard repeatedly when some 60 happy people left the home of Mrs. Helen Hennessy after a most unique celebration. It was the 50th anniversary of the F. W. Schon family in Canada in July 1964.

Now, four years later, a repeat celebration of this family who had settled at Kirriemuir, Alberta, was held on July 1, 1968.

It was a very happy group who gathered together, there being five sons and three daughters and their families. They started arriving on June 28, and campers, trailers, tents, etc., [illegible] to be seen on Mrs. Hennessy's lawn and yard. They [illegible] from California, Sa[illegible], British Columbia and Alberta.

Fifty-four years ago the F. W. Schon family left London, England, to settle on a homestead at Kirriemuir. Mr. and Mrs. Schon are buried at this Alberta town, having passed away in 1931 and 1935 respectively; but their eight children are still well and hearty.

Attending this wonderful reunion were Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Schon, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Schon, Venice, Calif.; J. H. Schon of Summerland, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Schon, Powell River, B.C.; C. T. Schon of Brooks; Mrs. M. J. Liknes, Winter, Sask.; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Moore of Whitecourt, and Mrs. Helen Hennessy.

Their children and grandchildren from Regina, Sask., Estevan, Sask., and Calgary brought the family total to 38 for dinner. During the afternoon and evening, friends and old neighbors from Kirriemuir, Edmonton, Viking and Tofield swelled the total that day to 60.

You make it even better.
That's why we called in Brewmaster Steinecker.
And why Molson's Edmonton Brewery now has the first complete Steinecker Brewhouse in North America.
This brewhouse is the brainchild of a brilliant Bavarian who developed a better way to brew beer to consistently great flavour.
Naturally, the idea appealed to Molson's.

King size puffball

Harold Sitler of Tofield found this king-size puffball last Sunday on the land he owns about two miles north of Miquelon Lake. One of the biggest of the season, the big growth tipped the scales at 14 pounds, 11 ounces. Mrs. Van Carr above right, took the big plant to the plant of The Mercury in Camrose, where she is holding it with Eleanor Olofsen.

Protest extension of Beaver Hill refuge

100 local sportsmen were successful in protesting to the provincial government over the enlarging of boundaries for the Beaver Hill Lake game refuge The new boundary markers were pulled down this week by the provincial government, acceding to the protests of the local group

A protest was registered in Tofield at a meeting last Thursday attended by several officials of the fish and game branch, in addition to 100 local sportsmen and farmer sportsmen. Included in the group were 33 land-owners who were directly affected by the new regulations, which greatly extended the old half-mile limits

Heading the game branch committee was Mr Stuart Smith He was accompanied by Mr. Alex Gardie, MLA for Vegreville and Don Mazankowski, newly elected Member of Parliament. The Farmers Union was represented by Bill Harper, Keith Williams was present for Ducks Unlimited, and Mr Morick of the Alberta Fish and Game Association represented that committee

Garnet Burnstad recorded proceedings of the meeting, which was chaired by Mr Willie.

Mr. Smith explained some of the problems connected with the old half mile limit boundaries, which he pointed out were very nearly impossible to enforce while the newer and larger boundaries left little difficulty He also pointed out that under the new regulations the land-owner had complete control of land under crop, through his ability to obtain a damage permit if this were justified.

Spokesman for the Tofield group was Mr. Al Warner, who presented a petition signed by 25 of the land-owners, claiming that extension of the game bird refuge without consent of the land-owners constituted an infringement of their legal rights and a threat to the normal operation of their lands, and urged the department to revise their boundaries again They also urged the mounting of permanent boundary makes, brilliantly painted in fluorescent blaze orange or flame red, so that hunters could not claim ignorance.

Mr Smith explained that the department thought all land-owners had been contacted, and expressed his personal concern at the lack of communication The intention of the department had been to get away from the present very flexible boundaries, which depend on the existing water level, and establish some clearly defined boundaries such as road

Mr Smith promised to take the petition back to the minister of his department (Mr Ray Speaker) for study, and as soon as he had a firm answer promised to advise the various groups who attended the meeting for their interest in the problem Since this meeting, the boundary markers have been removed

The petition presented by the farmers follows

To The Dept. of Lands & Forests, Edmonton, Sept. 5, 1968—We, the undersigned landowners and occupants, whose lands are included within the Beaverhill Lake Game Bird Refuge believing that the inclusion of these lands within the refuge without the consent of the legal owners does so constitute an infringement of the legal rights of the undersigned; and believing that the restrictions imposed upon the owners and occupants by the inclusion of these lands does so constitute a threat to the normal operation of farming on the said lands hereby petition the Alberta Dept of Lands & Forests to revise the boundaries of the Beaverhill Lake Game Bird Refuge to exclude any privately owned land, any cultivation lease or cultivation permit now included therein

We further recommend that the refuge boundary be clearly marked by means of permanent marker posts, painted a flame orange or fluorescent red color.

Mennonite relief director to tell plight of refugees

Director of the Mennonite Central Committee's relief efforts in Jordan for the past year, Harry Martens is expected to visit in Tofield at Salem Church on Tuesday, September 24 It is expected that definite arrangements and times for his visit will be made known very shortly so that interested members of the church and the community will have an opportunity to discuss the situation with Mr Martens.

Mr Marten has just returned to this country after a year in Amman, Jordan, where he directed the Mennonite committee's relief efforts for the past year Since returning to this country, he has become deeply disturbed over the ignorance of most North Americans about the plight of the refugees in the Middle East, and has launched a cross-country tour to inform local communities.

Following his tour, he will return to Mennonite Biblical Seminary, Elkhart, Indiana, where he will resume his former position as assistant to the president

Since November, 1967, the Mennonite Central Committee has sent 70 tons of clothing, bedding, and children's bundles to Jordan Besides this, sufficient funds were received to purchase nearly 20,000 blankets

Tens of thousands of refugees have streamed to Jordan's East Bank since last year's fateful Arab-Israeli war These displaced persons live in tent camps which lack proper sanitation facilities Water is not readily available

Martens has been responsible for the administration of the distribution of relief goods—clothing and blankets—in one of the most difficult relief situations the Mennonite Central Committee has dealt with in recent history

Mr. Maten won the respect of governmental officials and other relief agencies in Jordan For several months he has served as chairman of the Council of Voluntary Agencies of Jordan

Tofield Edges all-stars

The first All-Star game of the Pipe Line Baseball League was held Sunday, and proved to be very interesting

The game turned out to be a real pitchers' duel between Ed Williams for Tofield and Blaine Lysio for the All-Stars Tofield took a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning and held it till the top of the ninth when, with two out, Vic Zinuk singled, went to second when pinch-hitter Roth was hit by a pitched ball, and scored on John Boychuk's single

Tofield then came up and, with one out, Floyd Tayler walked, stole second and got to third on a pass ball by the All-Stars' catcher

Al McNaughton then hit a ground ball to the All-Stars' shortstop, who fired the ball home but a second too late to catch the sliding Tayler

The P.L.B.L. would like to thank all the fans who supported them throughout the year, and look forward to seeing you all next season

OLEH SHYKORA

Oleh Shykora, 28 year old school teacher, has announced he will be a candidate for Village Council in Holden

The term of Paul Baise councillor for the past number of years expires this fall Mr. Baise does not intend to seek re-election

Mr. Shykora has lived and taught school in Holden since 1961 He is active in several local organizations holding a number of executive positions

As yet, no other persons have declared themselves as candidates.

Don't leave it to George

It's less than a week to nomination day, when most of the urban communities get a chance to put forward candidates to run the affairs of local government. These are the people who decide which streets are to be paved, where sidewalks are needed, what public works are to be undertaken, points out The Wetaskiwin Times in an excellently worded reminder to the voters. They decide where the tax dollars are to be spent. They decide on new schools, and on the renovation and use of existing halls of learning. They hire our teachers and help to run our health units and our senior citizens homes. They have the say about hundreds of things, from the removal of garbage to building the cemeteries, from setting the millrate to declaring the August holiday.

They are very much involved in the everyday life of their hometown. This is a big business, spending more money and taking in more money than most businesses in town. We should choose the caretakers of our lives and property with at least as much care and thought as we put into the purchase of a new car or washing machine.

But it seems every year we wonder who is going to run, and almost anyone can suggest some excellent material for council or school board. It's not at all unusual for the best people not to come forward without encouragement, so if you have someone in mind who offers time and business acumen to the public service, make your ideas known to them. In this way, maybe the best people for the big job of running the community will be encouraged to allow their names to stand.

Combining for strength

The strong support given the registration for a plebiscite on a hog marketing board this week, following immediately on the heels of a recent registration of egg producers, seems to us to indicate that the primary producers want to build a little more strength into the marketing picture than they now have. By building in a little more order to the present marketing situation, they would expect to come out with a little more for themselves in the final result.

The support given the hog registration would lead us to believe also that the marketing board will be supported. It seems that the support for some marketing board is strong even among opponents of the present scheme, who want their own variation instead.

For instance, it seems strange that many farmers can also find support for the newly opened futures market in beef at Winnipeg, which, in the words of the exchange may one day soon go into additional commodities soon go into additional commodities.

Supporting the exchange's role, one spokesman points out that when a feeder bought young cattle for fattening, he would sell a contract pledging delivery at a future date, at a specified grade and price. Should prices fall in the regular cash market by the time the herd was ready, he would purchase a contract for a similar delivery at a lower price than his original sale because the value would decline as the cash market declined.

"In effect," says this supporter, "the feedlot operator would make on the futures market any loss he might sustain on the regular cash market."

Which is lovely and rosy and happy for everybody. Except that he neglects to point out the feeder may just as easily lose on the futures market any profit he has earned on the regular cash market.

Thousands of older farmers can look back to the grain market before the days of the Canadian Wheat Board, and recall how year after year the big profits from the western wheat crop wound up in the hands of the market operators, while the primary producers often wound up with only the bills.

Agriculture minister for Manitoba, the Hon. Harry Enns opened exchange trading recently, commenting "if it brings stability in price, it is well worth going into". It may well bring price stability, but probably at the lowest possible level for the producer, and the highest possible level for the trader. It doesn't seem likely that a feeder preoccupied with problems and difficulties right in the feedlot can come off ahead of a professional trading team consulting the completest information spewed out of the computer.

Alternates help

With all the emphasis on the tie-up of grain at the Lakehead due to the elevator workers' strike, it's too bad there hasn't been more attention focussed on the possibility of shipping more grain through the port of Churchill. It's probably too late now to do much about it, for freeze-up will hit the Bay shortly, and those thousands of cars loaded with wheat and just sitting at the head of the lakes couldn't quickly be re-routed north.

However, this sort of alternative is what the western farmer needs in order to be able to count on moving his grain to market with a little more certainty, and this sort of competition would undoubtedly help in keeping shipping and handling competitive.

The western producer has faced this controlled movement of all the goods he produces and all the goods he buys for so long that it has become accepted almost like the rising of the sun tomorrow. But the Hudson's Bay Route has for years been a dream of many of them as a cheaper, faster supply line to the markets of the world.

It could have, and should have, gained something of an assist as a valued alternative because of the prolonged shutdown of what is today virtually the lifeline to the markets of Europe for the prairie grain producer.

MacDuff Ottawa report

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Trudeau dropped some encouraging words for taxpayers at a press conference over the long Labour Day weekend that rang alarm bells in [illegible] offices.

He said his Cabinet was engaged in a continuing review and re-examination of its expenditure program.

"The financial and budgetry circumstances with which we are confronted are such that it is essential to maintain the greatest possible restraint with respect to expenditures by all levels of government", he added.

EVERYBODY WONDERING

Top level civil servants began to wonder what government programs were going to get the axe. They had reason to wonder and worry because at that conference Mr Trudeau had disclosed that the $35,000,000 Winter Works program had been cancelled for the winter of 1968-69. This will stir up a political storm.

Last year the federal government paid out that amount in grants to 1,727 municipalities for projects involving 86,041 men. The works program provided about three million man days of work. It had been in operation for 10 years—introduced first by John Diefenbaker when he was Prime Minister.

During that decade some $300,000,000 in grants were pumped into thousands of community projects.

Taxpayers [illegible] cheer the Prime Minister's declaration that his government was out to cut down such expenditures. However in the next breath Mr Trudeau suggested that much of the money that had gone into the winter works program might go instead into the manpower re-training programs.

WISER SPENDING

If the money is plowed into the manpower re-training it will not mean a saving for the taxpayer. But Mr Trudeau makes the point that on a long range basis it is better to reduce pockets of unemployment and assist the growth of the economy by re-training manpower so that it can do some other work rather than providing federal grants to "make-work" activities.

Another project that hit the scrap heap under the government's economy drive was the $22,000,000 Queen Elizabeth II Observatory in British Columbia. It was to be erected on Mount Kobau to mark the visit of Her Majesty to this country in 1964. The government said continuation of the costly project could not be justified in "this period of retrenchment and financial difficulties".

SENSITIVE AREA

Biggest headache for the cabinet in its determination to cut costs has been the Czechoslovakian invasion by the Soviet forces and the repercussions that have occurred. During the general election campaign this spring there were strong hints dropped by the Liberals that they would cut back on the Canadian armed forces after a review of foreign policy.

Unease and unrest has resulted within the Defence Department. Even before the election campaign the Minister of National Defence Hon Leo Cadieux was warning on March 13 this year in a public speech in Ottawa that in this period of rising costs, inflationary pressures and restricted budgets his Department was hard put to keep its commitments. He cautioned that unless the Department was given "considerable financial relief" Canada's commitments in NATO and NORAD would be soon in jeopardy.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

Last month former Conservative Defence Minister Douglas Harkness declared that the Canadian forces now are unable to meet Canada's defence commitments. Spokesmen in the national defence department disagreed. They said early this month that Canada was still able to keep its commitments, but admitted that it was a tough struggle and that the defence budget would have to be stepped-up—not cut back.

Canada has a vital role to play in NATO. Rather than reducing her role in that alliance it may become necessary for Canada to expand its role.

Clearly the USSR is now engaged in a testing period in which it is pushing and prodding along the borders of the European areas within which it has exercised its influence. If the NATO countries do not respond quickly to these tests of strength the Russians could become emboldened to expand their sphere of influence in Europe.

The review of Canadian foreign policy which has been underway will now have to be re-[illegible] in the light of the Czechoslovakian developments. There is no doubt that Canada, along with the other NATO countries, was taken completely by surprise by the action of the USSR.

COSTS UP IN ANY CASE

This country can of course decide that it wants to continue to reduce its [illegible] and pull back from NATO. The cabinet, if it took such a decision, would be in effect saying that Canada was only a very small middle power with no [illegible] and no desire to have [illegible] on world affairs in the future. Canada would no longer have an effective voice on the international scene.

The federal cabinet must make its critical decision either to enlarge the defence budget or start to make major cutbacks in this country's commitments.

Even if the government decided against enlarging our armed forces so that they could more adequately handle the existing commitments, there would be an increase in the defence budget needed because of another pay increase in October. If the forces do not get that pay increase—at least six per cent—in line with what other government employees are receiving, it would lead to a slump in morale and more key people leaving the services.

That's a big fat help

There is a television commercial that claims that although Canadians are normally well informed, only one in 10 is sufficiently well informed to know the difference between polyunsaturated fat, and saturated fats.

Now along comes the health department's food and drug directorate with a helping hand. Announcing new regulations for labelling fats and oils, the directorate explains that labels, to be meaningful, should state facts in words the consumer understands.

"Frequently", the announcement goes on, "the character of corn oil and other unsaturated oils is changed during the hardening process and the original characteristics so modified, their value as a good source of polyunsaturated fat is lost.

"When this happens to the product it will not carry the special labelling because the processing will have changed the polyunsaturated content of the product."

Now we know.

—The Ottawa Citizen.

DUTCH COURAGE

An ant stood looking longingly at the carcass of a dead horse, wondering if she could nibble some of it to take back home.

Just then a truck with cases of whiskey passed by and a bottle jolted off near the ant [illegible] broke. The ant took one sip [illegible] then [illegible] another, [illegible] soon began to feel mighty good.

Grabbing a piece of the dead horse's tail, it shouted, "Come on, big boy, we're going home!"

Former Holden woman wins USC recognition

(Mrs. G. M. Taylor)

HOLDEN — Mrs. Annie Stackhouse, now resident at Parkland Lodge, Edson, a former Holden district farm resident, has recently received special recognition from the Unitarian Services Committee and has been presented with a USC Gold Pin Award.

Mrs. Stackhouse is 86 years of age and has been resident for the past seven and a half years in Parkland Lodge. She and her husband came west from New Brunswick in the early 1900's, homesteading west of Tofield, where her family were born, then moving to the Holden district, farming the quarter section east of George Hunchak's where one of the Good brothers had farmed for a number of years after World War I.

Mrs. Stackhouse moved to Edmonton after the death of her husband and resided there for several years with one of her daughters and family. The Gold Pin Award was given to her for her knitting contributions to the Unitarian Services during 1967, which amounted to probably more than 200 sweaters, sizes 6 and 8. The wool is supplied to her by the USC, and Mrs. Stackhouse adds brighter colors of wool in a design, donated by friends. The garments are sent overseas to one of the areas in great need, under their jurisdiction.

Many people around Holden will remember her eldest daughter Gertrude (Mrs. Minor Wohl) who resided in the district for a number of years before Minor passed away and has later often visited his aunt here in Holden, Mrs. Laura Christianson, now of Bethany Home in Camrose.

FRUITS FOR BABY

Apple sauce is a good fruit for baby to start with. If you are making it or any other stewed fruit, do not use much sugar. The only raw fruit which is advised for small babies is ripe banana, mashed soft with a fork. About three tablespoons of fruit makes a good serving. Work up to this quantity gradually. The fruits should be added at noon, says the federal health department publication, "The Canadian Mother and Child."

The Canadian Red Cross sends medical, technical and material assistance valued in excess of $400,000 to about 50 countries each year.

Oslund - Bruha wedding vows pledged July 20

On July 20, the Tofield Catholic Church was the scene of a lovely wedding, when Joan Helen Bruha was united in marriage to Wayne Allan Oslund. Rev. L. Scriven performed the double-ring ceremony at 2:00 o'clock before an altar graced with coral gladioli and white chrysanthemums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional floor-length gown featuring a full billowing skirt. The fitted bodice of lace over organza with lily-point sleeves, was studded with pearls, which were also used to enhance the skirt of organza over satin and layers of net. A train of lace-edged organza was attached to the top of the gown by a bow. Her bouffant veil was held in place with a headpiece of pearls and white roses with buds cascading down the skirt. Her only jewellery consisted of pearl tear-drop ear rings.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Stinson and Mrs. Dorothy Shewchuk rendered a solo while the register was being signed.

The bride was attended by Diane Kushnir, friend of the bride, as matron of honor, Barbara McGinitie, cousin of the bride, Marilyn Bruha, sister of the bride, and Charlotte Oslund, niece of the groom, as bridesmaids. They wore identical slim, Empire-waisted gowns of chiffon over taffeta in a stunning capri blue. Their dresses featured billowing chiffon trains suspended from the top back of the gowns. They wore crystal tiaras in their hair, and carried bouquets of open white roses with sprigs of dainty flowers in the same blue as their dresses.

Attending the groom as best men were Joe Yurkowski and Gary Stevenson, friends of the groom, Ken Bruha, brother of the bride, and Gerald Kushnir, cousin of the groom. Ushers were Clifford Oslund, brother of the groom, and Johnny Monchak, cousin of the bride.

The bride's mother chose a two-piece suit of aqua color, and white accessories. Mother of the groom was attired in a flowered silk dress. Both mothers wore corsages of white roses.

The reception was held in the Tofield Community Hall at 6:00 o'clock. The bride's table was centred with a beautifully decorated four-tiered white wedding cake baked by the bride's mother and decorated by the bride's aunt, Agnes McGinitie. The bridal bouquets adorned the bridal table along with gladioli and 'mums'. Master of ceremonies was John Monchak, uncle of the bride, and Father Scriven said the grace. Joe Yurkowski proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded. In charge of the guest book was Shirley Bruha, sister of the bride. A delicious supper was served by the Tofield C.W.L. An enjoyable dance in the Ryley Community Hall followed the reception.

The bride donned a two-piece daffodil yellow going-away outfit, with white accessories and corsage of white 'mums.

An outdoor gathering was held the next day at the home of the bride's parents, with opening of the gifts. The couple are making their home in Edmonton.

EATON — In loving memory of Owen Richard Eaton, a loving husband and father, who passed away on September 24, 1958:

Ten long years have passed and gone
Since you left us here alone,
You're not forgotten, Owen dear,
Nor ever shall you be,
As long as life and memory last
We shall remember thee.
It's a lonely life without you,
And weary seems the way;
Our hearts still ache with sadness
Since you were called away.

County of Beaver Council meets Sept. 12

Following are the minutes, in part, of the regular meeting of the Council of the County of Beaver No. 9, held Thursday, Sept. 12.

A delegation from the Town of Tofield, consisting of Mayor Dr. W. H. Freeberg, Deputy Mayor W. A. Swift and Councillor R. A. Everitt interviewed the Council at this time in connection with Recreation Facilities. It was suggested that an area around Tofield be designated to combine with the Town of Tofield for recreation purposes. A per capita grant could then be obtained to be used for various recreation purposes in the area. It was mentioned that Mr. Riddell of the Department of Youth, who is in charge of this program, was prepared to meet with the Tofield Recreation Board and representatives from the County of Beaver Council to discuss the matter.

After the delegation retired the proposal was discussed, and the Council was of the opinion that something would have to be done in regards to recreation through out the County.

It was moved and carried that the Town of Tofield be advised that the County Council is interested in the proposal, and that Crs. C. W. Sloan and George Donaldson be appointed to attend, together with the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer, a meeting with the Town of Tofield Recreation Board and Mr Riddel from the Department of Youth.

Business Arising from Minutes

In regards to Flood Control, last dealt with by motion 304 and 305 68, the Secretary referred to the Council the letter from the Water Resources Division. The letter indicated that the transfer of monies from the Shonts Flood Control Project would not present too much of a problem.

In regards to assessment of roads on Crown land, the letter suggested that the County might absorb this cost rather than the province.

The suggested $40,000 expenditure for 1969 work had been recorded for preliminary estimates.

Moved and carried that the information be accepted and the letter received and filed.

In regards to Gravel Lease, it was moved and carried that application be made for a lease in L.S. 16 in Section 4-52-19-W 4th and L.S. 1 in Section 9-52-19-W 4th.

In regards to street light in the Hamlet of Poe, motion 306 68, the Secretary-Treasurer advised that he had discussed the matter with the Calgary Power representative Herb Bunner from Camrose and the District Manager Mr Fraser, having first forwarded the request to the Calgary Power local representative. As a rule the Calgary Power will not consider less than three street lights at any one point, but until written advice was received no further action could be taken.

Moved and carried that the report be accepted and the matter left in abeyance for a later meeting.

In regards to the street lights at Dodds motion 602 68 the Secretary-Treasurer referred to his

Costs still rising

Members in the House of Parliament learned yesterday, that, despite slashing in various departments, government spending is rising steadily, instead of holding the line as was promised. The government now is caught between raising taxes or deficit financing, and seem to be leaning towards the latter, at least for the present time. The government places the blame for the rising deficit on the cost sharing program it has with the provinces. While it is true that the provinces cannot operate without assistance from the federal government, both sides should be prepared to sit down and select 'priorities' that merit immediate attention, and put the other [illegible] aside at least for the moment. The provinces will argue that [illegible] their programs are urgent and [illegible] not be shelved, but if the federal government remained firm, they could probably find that some are not quite as important as others. Trudeau has promised a more efficient government, and let us hope that he doesn't just mean in policy making. The publicity departments of both provincial and federal governments spend lots of dollars sending out news releases each week. It is not uncommon to find a number of releases from the same department, mailed on the same day, each containing one item of news, whereas one envelope would have held the lot. Envelopes aren't all that costly, but over the run of a year, it adds up to a lot of wasted envelopes and money. That's a small item they could start with. Too many governmental departments are overstaffed. At least that's the impression the average citizen gets on paying a visit to these departments. People are standing about chatting and often, aren't very interested in dealing with the waiting public. Streamline all these departments. Hire only the number of employees who are really required, and there's some more money saved.

Each year, more money is spent on stamps than is absolutely necessary. We must use stamps or our mail won't arrive at its desination, but, do you ever look at these stamps, outside of checking to see that they are the proper denomination. Very few people do. Yet, the government is always changing the pictures on these stamps, which can be expensive. Select one face for each stamp, and then leave it alone. Save money.

Same old rowboat

'Striker', while being a perfectly legal form of protest used by employees, can get out of hand, and often create a hardship, not only for the companies involved but for the nation as a whole. The very fact that strikes can create a hardship on the companies involved is, of course, the prime factor behind the success of a strike. Rather than have their entire organization tied up and losing thousands of dollars daily, companies would prefer to settle unsatisfactorily, but at least stay in business.

History proves that the working man has been exploited by employers down through the years, but the strength of the unions has changed this considerably, and a long list of companies that have failed because of employee demands has been one of the results.

But now, the situation is getting critical. Employees and employers are not only the parties involved when strike action takes place. Everyone suffers. The union demands, the company accedes and the general public suffers, not only the inconvenience that the strike caused, but usually the wage increase is added to consumer goods and everyone pays the increase. In this day and age of the free enterprise type of business, nobody wishes to deter the businessman from making a reasonable profit, but one solution detestable though it may be, would be to limit a company's profit to a certain percentage. If the company is not making this profit then wage demands are not to be considered. If they are showing a goodly deal of black ink, then certainly the employees, who have to be a main consideration in making these profits possible should be shown some consideration, and in this case, the company would not be allowed to increase their prices so that the buying public would not be hurt.

The time has come for action of some kind from the government. At the present time it is a vicious circle. Prices are high, employees demand higher wages and prices go higher. What is the sense in getting a proper raise in pay when the company can immediately raise prices and you're back in the same leaky old rowboat?

Early "pay later" plan

In case you think 'buy now, pay later' is a modern development, a clay tablet has been unearthed at Nuzi [illegible] Iraq showing that installment buying was a feature of life as early as 2,[illegible] B.C.

Workers can't escape noise even at home

Home isn't the quiet retreat it used to be. In fact, it can be a noisier place than work. And this fact notes Plant Administration & Engineering, may undermine the efforts of industrial safety directors to dim the din in manufacturing plants.

A typical quiet house in the early 1930's would have registered about 20 decibels. Today, many appliances later, background noise alone in a quiet single-family detached home is about 45 decibels. In multiple dwellings the level is around 50.

Safety experts say this [illegible] plant worker's chances of [illegible] to his job [illegible] and could make him more prone to suffer a permanent hearing loss. [illegible] most industrial [illegible] at least expected off the job [illegible] expected [illegible] Plant Administration [illegible] the [illegible] suggested that there [illegible] relationship between noise and off-the-job accidents because it is known that noise creates tension and fatigue and both contribute to accidents.

Workers in a noisy plant are not seriously affected if they have a 16-hour recovery period off the job, according to safety experts, but quickly add this just isn't possible in today's cacophonous world.

It becomes difficult for people to communicate when sound reaches levels of about 85 decibels. Short exposure to levels between 100 and 125 can cause temporary hearing loss at certain pitches. And sound [illegible] begin to cause pain at 125. The noise level in many homes sometimes approaches this point.

Here is a decibel scale based on modern daily life:

117 - jet plane passenger ramp
[illegible]16 - circular saw
[illegible] - loud motorcycle
[illegible] - loud power mower

Ambassador to visit Camrose

Norwegian ambassador to Canada, His Excellency Torfin Oftedal and Mrs. Oftedal will visit Camrose briefly next Tuesday, October 1st.

Arrangements for his visit here are being co-ordinated by the Camrose Chamber of Commerce public relations committee, with Stan Holliday as chairman. Although his time in Camrose is extremely limited, Mr. Holliday is trying to plan his visit to show him as much as possible of the people, the town and the district.

Mr. Oftedal will arrive at the Chamber of Commerce [illegible] some time early in the afternoon and meet local officials, then will be taken on a quick tour of the city. Length of the tour will depend on his time of arrival, but in any case, he is slated to appear at Bethany Home at 2:30 for a public reception and tea.

Following the tea, he will move on to inspect Camrose Lutheran College, and then will be taken on a short trip to the country points, to see some part of the Camrose countryside, winding up at the Sivert Ness farm home just east of Camrose.

His tour then demanded that he return to Edmonton immediately, for a formal program that evening.

It is hoped that any city or district residents wishing to see the ambassador can arrange to be present at Bethany Home during the tea program.

County School Committee minutes . . .

Following are the minutes, in part, of the regular meeting of the County of Beaver No. 9 School Committee, held Monday, September 9.

A team from the Department of Education, appointed to make a survey of high school facilities in the County, attended the meeting at this time. The team consisted of: Mr. N. J. Andruski, Inspector of High Schools, Chairman of the team and members, W. D. Worobets, Inspector of High Schools and U. R. Shogren, Field Administrative Officer. The request for the survey had been made in a letter to Dr. R. E. Rees, Chief Superintendent of Schools, May 14, 1968 according to motion 180-68 at the April 16th School Committee meeting. The terms of reference, as outlined in this motion, had been transmitted to Dr. Rees and were now discussed quite fully with the School Committee. Mr. Andruski stated that he hoped that the survey could be completed in a month's time. The Chairman thanked the members of the survey team for their assistance and they retired at 11:25 a.m.

It was moved and carried that in regards to Bill No. 87, 1968, concerning Health Regions dealt with by motion 264-68, Crs. Kropielnicki and Knudslien, who had attended the meeting on August 7th in Vegreville stated that it appeared that some modification was now proposed in the plan and that, on the whole, the plan did not appear too bad. The proposed ceiling of two mills had been reduced to ¾ of a mill. It was also mentioned that the professional staff would be paid by the Department of Health as well as any bursaries that might be given out. This, according to Cr. Kropielnicki, was a very good decision.

The proposed ward system where a ward might contain three different Counties with one member was not considered too good and the Department had been requested to take a hard look at this proposal. It was noted that the Bill could not receive third reading until the 1969 sitting of the Legislature at the earliest.

Letter from M. T. Paton, Maintenance Supervisor, Department of Education, concerning a proposed course for caretakers at the NAIT or SAIT, was referred to the Committee. It was suggested that this should be discussed with the Supervisor of Buildings and it was moved and carried that the letter be tabled to the next meeting.

It was moved and carried that the letter from Eddie D. Faryna resigning from his position as bus driver for the County be received and filed and his resignation accepted.

Advice from the Principal of the Viking School that an amount of supplies and equipment had been stolen from the Industrial Arts Shop in Viking, the estimated value being $[illegible], was referred to the Committee. The secretary-treasurer advised that, at the present time, the County did not have theft insurance but that this could be obtained, at a rate of approximately $1.00 to $1.10 per hundred dollars of insurance for a term of three years, through Jubilee Insurance Agencies Ltd. It would be necessary to have an inventory of all tools and equipment and insurance must be placed for 80% of its value. The Superintendent suggested that possibly insurance against vandalism should also be considered and he suggested that he would obtain an inventory of the equipment and tools in the Industrial Arts Shops and Home Ec Rooms in the County.

It was moved and carried that the matter of theft and vandalism insurance be tabled to the next meeting.

The Committee was advised that Taylor's Garage Ltd. in Viking [illegible] been given the opportunity to supply the Driver Training car for the coming school training program. It was moved and carried that the arrangement be concurred in.

The committee was advised that the County had taken delivery of the last two school buses from Golka Garage Ltd. and that the purchase price, $13,[illegible], had been remitted to the Golka Garage Ltd. It was [illegible] carried that the report be accepted.

Notice of the 1968 Annual Convention of the Alberta School Trustees Association to be held in Calgary, Alberta, November 3, 4, 5 and 6th was referred to the Committee.

It was moved by Mr. Gibson and carried that all School Committee members that wish to attend be authorized to do so, also the Superintendent of Schools and the Assistant Secretary-Treasurer.

It was moved and carried that the Chairman, Cr. J. H. Reddick, be appointed balloting delegate with the Deputy Chairman, Cr. W. Kropielnicki, as substitute balloting delegate.

A delegation from the area east of Holden attended the meeting in regards to the bus route in their area, some considerable changes having been made in the route this year. Present were: Steve Kondrat, Fred Lackosky, Steve Sokowski, Lawrence Hurum, Mrs. A. Lakawiecke, Ted Appleby, Art Grinde, William Chupka and Allen Christensen. Considerable discussion took place and it was finally decided that the route, as set up at this time, would be tried for a week to see how it worked out.

The Superintendent stated that he and the bus supervisor would drive the route and check it out and see whether it was satisfactory or could be improved on.

It was moved and carried that the appointment of Mrs. Ada R. Hudson to the County's teaching staff be confirmed.

Adventures in Music Concert, Saturday, November 9th, 1968 at the Northern Jubilee Auditorium at 1:00 p.m., cost 50 cents per pupil. It was moved and carried that, as in previous years, the necessary school buses be supplied for pupils that wish to attend this [illegible].

A request for a part-time secretary for the Bruce School was noted for approximately 12 hours per week. It was moved and carried that the request be approved.

It was moved and carried that the schools in the County of Beaver No. 9 close for Christmas holidays at 4:00 p.m. December 20th to open at 8:45 a.m. on January 2nd, 1969.

Summary of Grade 12 examination results in the County of Beaver were presented to the committee. The enrolments as of September 1, 1968 compared with September 1, 1967 was noted in the report. List of the teaching staff for 1968-69 was also attached to the report.

The Bus Driver's conference on September 4th was mentioned and it was felt that this conference had been very good with much information given by Mr. Eisenstadt of the Attorney General's Department who was in charge of the conference. Mr. Marvin Bruce had been in attendance and outlined the County's policy. The Assistant Secretary, A. Robert Cross, had discussed the various forms with the bus drivers.

Soap [illegible] the only thing that's packaged, advertised and sold. The same thing happens to ideas. Canada's greatest idea — Expo 67 — was wrapped up and sold to the world last year. And advertising was one of the things that made it happen. ☐ Once the world found out what a great idea Canada was offering they came in the millions. They spent in the millions. And millions took home the idea that they would return to spend again. ☐ The [illegible] ness of Expo 67 cannot be measured in gate receipts alone. This district has been fortunate in having had no snow, but the cold wet weather of the past week has halted all harvesting operations. Most of the farmers in this district have their wheat crops swathed but no combining has been done. It will be some time before it can be combined unless warm winds and sunshine prevail.

Skies cleared Monday morning and warmed up some but Monday night a killing frost hit the district blackening the gardens for the second time this year.

Canadian Facts up-to-date

Quick Canadian Facts, 24th annual edition, 164 pages. Paperback edition, 75 cents, hard-cover library edition, $2. Published by Quick Canadian Facts Ltd., Box 699, Terminal A, Toronto 1, Ontario.

The new edition of this annually-revised Canadian Pocket Encyclopedia is not only enlarged but so up-dated that it includes even figures on the 1968 federal election, 1968 population counts and 1968-69 Ottawa spending estimates. The volume packs in thousands of facts on geography, history, government, politics, people and every other phase of Canadian affairs. The book's history section, probably the only one of its kind in print, spans in chronological order the period from the year 1000 up to 1968. It not only summarizes the significant events that every student must cover, it also reports many unusual and amusing sidelights of our history. This year, for the first time, Quick Canadian Facts is available not only in paperback but also in a hard-cover library edition.

Theatre Calgary ready for season

Plans for Calgary's Professional Theatre are rapidly drawing to a head as opening date Oct. 23 draws near.

This year's plans call for seven plays to be presented, with each play to have twelve performances. The last performance will be on April 19.

Three mini-shows, each lasting one-half hour, will be presented October 22, November 29 and December 20 at lunch hour so that Calgarians can eat while watching a performance.

The artistic director for the coming season is Christopher Newton, a 1967 Tyrone Guthrie winner, while four winners from the Stratford Festival have been signed for the 1968-69 season. They are James Blendick, Eric Donkin, Peter Scupham and Molly Harris.

Twenty graduate from Ryley High

by Paul Voogtlin

The Class of '68, Ryley High School, graduated attendedly as Ed Marches of Camrose told them in REACH HIGHER as they enter life. The interesting and humorous address carried with it the challenge to rise to the immediate situation and be a man or woman of the calibre of John Wesley. Each of the twenty graduates will be able to contribute something special to the society in which he lives only as he develops his ability, with courage and conviction.

The Ryley Gymnasium, which was decorated with a canopy of green and blue streamers for this festive occasion, was filled with parents and well - wishes. The graduates filed on stage as Miss Linda Cross played the processional. Mr. Harold Parsons, vice-principal of the school, acted as chairman of the exercises. Mr. Paul Voogtlin, of the High School staff, offered the invocation.

The valedictory was given by Miss Valeria Zook, whose Grade 12 average was second highest in the County of Beaver. Her address was well illustrated with analogies from everyday life. She received a cash award from the Students' Union for continuing the highest standing in Ryley High

Mr. Keith Rowan, Supervisor of Instruction spoke briefly and presented the new Superintendent of the County, Mr. William Beck. Their encouraging words of congratulation were followed by some semi-true facts of class history as sung by the Ryley High Chorus. The Chorus wished the graduates farewell with the song "Now Is The Hour". Miss Judy Barnard then introduced Mr. Marken

Mr. Harold Ross Principal, presang two appropriate selections and Miss Faye Lashoski gave the valedictory.

The guest speaker, the Hon Raymond Reierson, Minister of Education then addressed the exercises. Mrs. Mary Semotiuk, on behalf of the Order of the Royal Purple Lodge presented Miss Faye Lashoski with the OOUP bursary. Diplomas were presented by Mr Ogrodnick and Mr Robert Stecky, president of the Holden High School Students' Union, presented the pins to each of the graduates.

Chevrolet introduces 1969.

'69 Caprice Coupe

Every Chevrolet has to make it before we mark it. GM MARK OF EXCELLENCE

Caprice. Match this, you other 69's.

Should we have made the '69 Caprice shorter? Or adorned it with flashy knicknacks? Should we have skipped the bigger new 327 cu.-in. standard V8 engine, the added interior elegance, and the improved Astro Ventilation System? Some people think so—our competitors.

'69 Camaro SS Sport Coupe [illegible]

Camaro. Who needs to say 'announcing' or 'new' or 'better.'

Just look how the '69 Hugger hangs together. Not a line that isn't leaning into the wind. We've improved the interior, too. Quieted the ride. And made the Astro Ventilation ventilate even better. No wonder the other sportsters are gnashing their gears.

'69 Chevelle SS 396 Sport Coupe

If somebody else made a car like this '69 Chevelle, we'd be worried.

Think of the '69 Chevelle as 'concentrated Chevrolet.' It's got Big Chevrolet features, but a naturally active personality all its own. Just add gas—and let the other mid-size cars step aside.

'69 Chevy Nova

Ryley Lutheran Church marks anniversary

The Bethel Lutheran Congregation in Ryley are celebrating their 60th Anniversary this coming weekend, with special services under the theme "The Living Church". A former pastor of the Ryley Church, Pastor A M Vinge, now of Vancouver, B.C., will be the guest speaker. Pastor Vinge served the Ryley congregation from 1939 to 1944.

The special services to mark the anniversary will get underway Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock, with three more services on Sunday; the first being at 11:30 in the morning, followed by services at 2:30 p.m. and 8:00 o'clock in the evening.

The Congregation was organized on October 13, 1908, and was known at that time as the Bethel Norwegian Evangelical Lutheran Congregation, with Rev A. Hjortaas as president. The following year, Rev. Hjortaas accepted a call as pastor of the congregation. The same year, the Congregation became a member of the Hauges Synod of America, to which they belonged until the union of churches in 1917 when they joined the newly formed Norwegian Lutheran Church of America.

Present officers of the congregation include Carl J. Nord as president, along with W Maaren, Ivan Jacobsen, Mrs Hans Neraasen, A Bugge, J Knudslien, R Magneson, O Branes, E Magneson, S Finseth, Mrs. R Dyer, Mrs. Pearl Kushner and Mrs. O Branes.

The ladies of the church will be serving lunch and dinner during the anniversary services, and extend an open invitation to join the celebrations.

From the mail bag

Roslyn Lodge,
October 8, 1968.

Greetings Folks!

Still enjoying my duties with the Senior Citizens. It keeps one young seeing how they carry on from day to day, most of them over eighty, a few in their nineties.

Sending my kindest wishes to The Tofield Mercury, the news reporter for Rose Creek, Ed VanBuskirk, for her faithful work of the district, to all the folk everywhere for a wonderful blessed Thanksgiving. We do have very much to be thankful for in our Canada.

Would like to conclude with this verse:

The secret of living is learning to pray—
It's asking our Father new strength for the day!
Will overcome care and each problem we face.

Sincerely,
Bessie Pederson

Area livestock attends the Royal Winter Fair

This part of Alberta will be well represented at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair in Toronto according to W. C. Gordon, Alberta's Livestock Commissioner. Mr. Gordon announced this week that 16 carloads of Alberta livestock will be going to the Central Canadian city. The shipment will be made up of five cars of registered beef cattle, seven cars of market cattle, one car of dairy cattle, one of mixed livestock and one of horses. The shipment includes 16 single steers, seven groups of five, four groups of twelve, sixty registered beef cattle, twenty registered dairy cattle, sixteen horses, ten swine and nine sheep.

Contributors from this area include:

Shorthorn — Gordon Rattray of Viking.

Market Cattle — E. Beddoes of Daysland, Byers Flour Mills of Camrose, William McGee of Camrose, and L. Kallal of Tofield.

Scouting '68 supper to be October 16th

The new concept in the Boy Scouts of Canada, termed Scout '68, will be explained to Boy Scout, Wolf Cubs and prospective members of both troops when a potluck supper is held next week.

There will be at least one, and probably two, members of the Northern Alberta Region council present to explain the new program to the boys and their parents, on Wednesday, October 16th in the Memorial Hall. All parents are asked to attend in order that a clear understanding of Scouting '68 will be had, in that there will be considerable change in the program from the traditional concept of previous years.

The Tofield Group Committee feels that a pot-luck supper, where everyone is asked to bring one item for the menu, as well as their own dishes and cutlery will prove the best way to get all the parents together. All are asked to be present at the Community Hall at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, October 16th. There will be no charge for the evening, except for a contribution of food, and the committee will supply the coffee and entertainment.

Churches sponsor cancer canvass

Last Thursday a group of ladies representing the churches in Tofield met at the home of Mrs. Jim Francis for the purpose of organizing the annual canvass for the Canadian Bible Society in this area. The town canvass was assigned and rural people are asked to make their contributions through the use of envelopes on hand in the churches. Last year a total of $415.29 was turned in from the Tofield branch. You are asked to continue to support this worthy work when the canvasser calls during the month of October.

Capitol is releasing a Bev Munro album

Bev Munro's first record album is being released by Capitol Records sometime this week. The picture on the album shows Bev in a telephone booth on Main Street in front of the Bank of Montreal.

Other tunes on the album include "There's Nothing Like My Love For You", "Poor Little Doll", "I'm Not Supposed To Think Of You", "Too Close To Home", "Blue Boy", "The Wheels Fell Off The Wagon", and many more.

Since signing with Capitol Bev has had three singles released including "Hello Operator", "Baby Sitting With The Blues" and "Let's Have A Blue For The Blues".

Bev has had a top career in the country and western music field, making many tours and appearing on some of the top shows on radio and television. He is scheduled to make an appearance this season on "Country Music Hall", considered to be the top country and western music show on television.

Buy into Canada.

There are probably as many good reasons for buying Canada Savings Bonds as there are Canadians. There are the hopes, plans and ambitions you have for yourself and your family. There is the desire, which all of us share, to play a part in building the future of our country. The simple, safe, profitable way to help realize these goals is to buy Canada Savings Bonds.

They offer an excellent return. The average yield to maturity is 6.75% a year. There are fourteen annual interest coupons which begin at 5.75% and rise to 7.00% for each of the last nine years. These can be cashed each year as they become due. Better still, if you choose to keep these coupons uncashed, you can earn interest on your interest. Take full advantage of this option and, when your Bonds mature, your total interest earnings plus your original investment will amount to $250 for each $100 invested.

They are available to everyone. Canada Savings Bonds are available to every Canadian resident in amounts from $50 up to $50,000, for cash or on instalments, wherever you work, bank or invest. Adults, children, businesses and institutions—all may buy them.

They are instant cash. You can cash them any time at any bank in Canada at their full face value plus earned interest.

Few investments are so profitable. None builds more surely for the future. Buy into Canada today. Buy Canada Savings Bonds. It pays.

It pays.

District news items from Ryley

(Mrs. Roy Davick)

RYLEY — The hunting season is in full swing, with ducks and geese quite plentiful in this area. Many hunters are able to "bag" their quota. However, the wet season is not so kind to farmers, as many fields of grain have been swathed for some time, with no chance to be combined, and wild fowl are beginning to feed in these fields.

Seated at the nicely decorated table were the bride and groom, also Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Pope, Sandra Durnford, the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Durnford, the bride's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Pope. Bobby Hagen presented Dale and Donna with huge gold cans of lovely gifts. Lunch was served by the ladies of the community.

FIRE PREVENTION IS YOUR JOB TOO

Stop Fires, Save Lives ... It's Everyone's Responsibility

You can never be too careful when it comes to preventing fire!

That's why good safety habits at home, at work, at play are the rule, never the exception. At home, check often to guard against accumulation of flammable debris, faulty wiring, other fire hazards. At work, obey fire department regulations to the letter. At play, make sure campfires are out, dead out. Caution now may save lives later.

EVERY FIRE COSTS HARD CASH!

In the last five years the Town of Tofield has lost $1,200 a year in taxes alone — because of business properties being destroyed by fire. Ten family men lost their jobs! The loss in wages can only be a guess.

The tax revenue loss puts an average of $3.50 each on property owners' tax bills. Due to the loss of these businesses, shoppers now travel to other centres for goods and services once supplied by burned-out stores and thus decreasing sales for Tofield.

Your Fire Department thinks these fires could have been prevented! Fire prevention is basically good housekeeping and a good deal of common sense. Qualified tradesmen are available in Tofield for technical aid, but you must also be alert for all fire hazards!

Your Fire Department is trained to help put out fires . . . You alone can prevent them!

YOUR FIRE DEPARTMENTS ARE ACTIVE!

Tofield Rural Fire Department—

Training with the Tofield Fire Department and serving in rural areas are three groups under these captains: Group #1, Tofield North—Capt. Allen Warner; Group #2, Tofield Southeast—Capt. Norman Weber; Group #3, Tofield South-West—Capt. L. Shewchuk. All rural crews have complete training in portable pump, pump truck and rescue with breathing equipment and many have their first aid certificates. All those living in rural areas should acquaint themselves with these captains and their trained crews. Help them to help you!

Tofield Fire Department—

Headed by Chief Bill Friesen with George Bosse as deputy chief, Jock Tiedemann as pump expert and Archie Klassen for first aid. Firemen include Arnold Swift, John Baergen, Rudy Huebert, Bert Clark, Nery Nachtigal, Stan Voltner, George Thiessen and Walter Neufeld.

Sport plebescite faces Tofielders

Voters in Tofield will be going to the polls next Wednesday to decide whether or not they wish Sunday sport to be permitted in Tofield

Voting on this plebiscite will be the only task the voters face, as council seats were filled by acclamation on Nomination Day Sept 18 At that time, incumbent Mayor Dr. W H Freebury and newcomers William M. Christensen and Lloyd A Cribb were declared elected as there were no other [illegible]

Voters in Ryley and Holden have it easier as they have no plebiscites to vote on, and all candidates were declared elected by acclamation on nomination day In Holden, at that time, Oleh Shykora was named to the Village Council while over in Ryley, George Cline picked up a seat on the Village Council quite easily as he was also unopposed.

Initiations held at Junior High

by Linda Nesvold

On Friday, October 4, an initiation party for the Grade Seven students and new teachers was held in the Junior High School gymnasium. President Kerry Blacklock gave a speech of welcome to the Grade Sevens.

A costume contest was then held, with Mrs. Conn and Mrs. Roberts as judges. The winner of all the Grade Sevens was Joyce Thiessen. Others were Linda Eastlake, Sharon Hansen, Robert Appleby and Ronald Lindsay.

After the costume contest, we had a "lucky hand-shake". The winners were Janice Coombes, David Schultz and Mr. Russell. When everyone was seated again, Kangaroo Court was opened and presided over by Judge Kerry Blacklock, president, and Susan Appleby, social convener.

After a lively hour, Court was adjourned, and everyone was invited to a lunch of hot-dogs and pop, served by the Grad. Lights.

This coming weekend, Camrose Lutheran College will be hosting former students of the college when they hold their annual homecoming celebrations.

The first step in selecting a homecoming queen was taken last Thursday night when the ten candidates competed in talent competitions in the Convocation Centre before a large crowd of students and other interested persons.

Candidates competing for this year's honors are, Marilyn Deuel, Edmonton; Judi Fullerton, South Burnaby, B. C.; Irene Hanson, Vancouver; Gwen Klassen, Tofield; Anita Morck, Camrose, Avis Murray, Camrose, Wendy Nesvold, Camrose RR2; Diane Sand, Camrose; Marilyn Skretting, Camrose, and Pamela To, Hong Kong.

The girls had to show their individual talent first, and this included dress-making, singing or reading. This was followed by two-minute speechettes, in which the girls spoke after drawing a topic from a hat. Then came the bathing suit contest. In this part of the program, each girl modelled a 1920 bathing suit which she had made herself.

Then came the group skits. In these affairs, the girls and their classmates had to act in skits they had written themselves. This part of the program was highly enjoyable. Gordon Myrehaug was master of ceremonies for the evening, being helped over the bad spots by Lorraine Anderson.

The climax of the competition will be reached Friday evening when the new Queen is crowned. This solemn ceremony will take place in the Convocation Centre following an entertaining program and preceding a fellowship hour, which is open to the public.

On Saturday, Homecoming swings into high gear, starting off with a Viking pancake breakfast at 8:15 a.m. Then there will [redacted] Alumni Basketball Tourna[redacted]. The boys' division pits '58-'60 vs '61-'63, '64-'65 vs. '66-'67, [redacted] then '68 vs. '69. The first two winners meet in the semi finals, with the winners advancing to the finals.

The girls' part of the tournament pits '63-'67 against the 1969 grads. All games will last 30 minutes.

At noon, the students and alumni will march uptown, and this will be followed by a songfest in the downtown area. Then at 2 30 p.m. the annual Homecoming Football Game will be played between the Vikings and the CCHS Trojans at the Fairgrounds.

The Alumni Banquet will be held in the Convocation Centre at 6:30 p.m. This will be followed by an alumni program which will feature folk singer Rev. Ray Schultz, a '60 grad.

There is no planned schedule for Sunday, which is expected to be filled by visiting, sharing and a fellowship day.

60th anniversary is this weekend

We goofed in last week's issue of The Mercury regarding the story about the 60th Anniversary of the Bethel Lutheran Congregation in Ryley.

The anniversary celebrations were not last weekend as the story indicated, but rather will be held this weekend.

The list of officers in the congregation was wrong. This list was correct ten years ago when the Congregation celebrated its 50th anniversary, but a new slate is now in existence.

The present officers are headed by Gordon Knudslien as president, and includes W. Maaren, Mrs. Larry Johnson, Harold Berke, A. Bagge, O. Hagen, C Sorensen, R. Hammer, O. Phillips and P. Mankedal.

The first anniversary services will commence on Saturday evening at 8.00 o'clock, with special services on Sunday at 11:30 a.m., 2 30 and 8 00 p.m. Guest speaker will be Pastor A. M. Vinge of Vancouver.

A LETTER TO A TEENAGER

Nuptial vows pledged in autumn ceremony

Twin baskets of pink and white gladioli graced the altar of Fifth Avenue United Church for the recent wedding of Patricia Holden to Barry Chris Clark. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holden of Medicine Hat and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Clark of Ryley. Dr. D. B. Johnson performed the double-ring ceremony, with Adele Armstrong presiding at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a classic gown of crepe, styled with a pearl appliqué collar. Her cathedral train fell from a large bow at the neckline to swirl at the hemline; her bow-shaped pearl-tiered veil misted from a bouffant-piece of pearls and orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations. For jewellery, she wore a pearl drop necklace, gift of the groom.

Trudy Millette attended the bride as maid of honor, with Ann Dynes serving as bridesmaid. Wendy Clark, sister of the groom, attended the bride as junior bridesmaid. The attendants were all tired in identical gowns of pale pink peau - de - soie covered with nylon net and overlays of pink organza. The gowns featured cape panels of white nylon lace.

Boris Lesyuski attended the groom as best man, with Toby Lampard serving as groomsman. Guests were ushered to their pews by Doug Ball and Bill Holden. Rings were carried to the altar by Todd Holden, brother of the bride.

Dick Holden proposed the toast to his niece at a reception held for 180 guests in the Four Seasons restaurant. A low arrangement of pink and white gladioli and carnations decorated the bride's table, which was centred with a triple tiered cake topped with pink bells.

Before leaving on a honeymoon to undisclosed points the bride changed to a grey Italian knit ensemble, trimmed with pink. A corsage of pink roses completed her ensemble. On their return, Mr and Mrs. Clark will make their home in Edmonton.

Out-of-town guests were from Edmonton, Ryley, Holden, Brooks, Stettler, Fort Saskatchewan, Wainwright, Lethbridge, Red Deer, and Victoria, B.C.

If you have even the vaguest idea of what I'm trying to say, let it show the next time you ask for a job. You'll be head and shoulders over the rest.

Look, KID, the only time jobs grow on trees was while most of the man-power was wearing uniforms. For all the rest of history you've had to get a job like you got a girl—"CASE" the situation, wear a clean shirt, and try to appear reasonably willing. Many be jobs aren't as plentiful right now, but a lot of us can remember when master craftsmen walked the streets. By comparison you don't "now the meaning of "SCARCE. Modern etiquette

Q Just what are the proper uses of the napkin at the dinner table?

A. For wiping the lips and the fingers. It is NOT for cheeks, perspiration, or the nose. The napkin is lifted as inconspicuously as possible, lightly brushed across the lips or the fingers, and then returned to the lap.

Q. Is it necessary to write anything besides your name on the card you enclose with a wedding gift?

A. You may if you wish, but it isn't necessary.

Q. Is it still an ironclad rule that the bride's family must give the wedding, and that the groom's family cannot under any circumstances do this?

A No There are now quite acceptable solutions when the bridegroom's family may do the honors — as, for example, when the bride lives in the city of the bridegroom and her family is abroad or at a great distance, or when the bride has no family at all

Q. Just what is the proper way to remove a bone from the mouth at the dinner table? Do you use the fork, the spoon, or the napkin?

A None of your suggestions is correct. Use the thumb and forefinger and lay the particle on your plate.

Q. Is black-bordered mourning stationery still in vogue?

A No This custom is now almost obsolete It's all right, if you wish, but very seldom seen.

Q. Is it absolutely necessary that a girl receive her engagement ring before any formal announcement of her engagement is made?

A Not at all Many a young couple cannot afford, and certainly do not need, such material expressions of their devotion. It is a mistaken idea that a ring MUST be given to seal an engagement.

Pope - Durnford wedding rites on September 17

RYLEY — A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Saturday, August 17 at 2:30 p.m. when Dale Lloyd Pope, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. William Pope of Ryley, exchanged vows with Donna Margaret Durnford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Durnford of Edmonton, with Pastor Rasmussen conducting the ceremony at the Forest Heights Lutheran Church in Edmonton.

The bride looked lovely as she entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. The bride's gown was a floor length model in white lace, the bodice glistening with pearls and sequins, and finished with long lily-point sleeves. The billowing skirt was made in four tiers, with a peplum. She wore a chapel veil and carried a cascade bouquet of deep red roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Sandra Durnford, sister of the bride, wore a floor-length gown in light blue satin and a diamond tiara, and carried white daisys.

Delbert Pope, brother of the groom was bestman and ushers were Gordon Pope and Bob Hagen of Ryley.

The bride's mother chose a blue dress with white accessories and corsage of white roses. The mother of the groom wore a light dress with white accessories and white roses on corsage.

A reception was held for a number of guests in the banquet room of the Rosslyn Hotel in Edmonton, following the wedding. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered cake, decorated with pink roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom, and flanked with a bouquet of white gladioli and mums. In charge of the guest book was Barbara Durnford, sister of the bride and Debra Budinski, niece of the groom.

For the occasion, the uncle of the bride was master of ceremonies, and Mr. Louis Anderson, another uncle, proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded. Out of town guests came from Ryley, Winnipeg, Moose Jaw, Peace River, Calgary and Holden.

50,306,648 sales in six months

Soap isn't the only thing that's packaged, advertised and sold. The same thing happens to ideas. Canada's greatest idea — Expo 67 — was wrapped up and sold to the world last year. And advertising was one of the things that made it happen. □ Once the world found out what a great idea Canada was offering, they came in the millions. They spent in the millions. And millions took home the idea that they would return to spend again. □ The success of Expo 67 cannot be measured in gate receipts alone. Expo told the world what a great place Canada is to visit, and increased tourist business is already being felt. Expo also told the world what a great place Canada is to invest in, to live in, and to trade with. Expo's contributions will extend well into Canada's second century. □ Expo 67 proved that a good idea, properly merchandised, is the best boost to Canada's economy. It's another example of how advertising helps good things happen — for our country and for you.

Modern etiquette

Q. Is it more proper, when setting the dinner table, to put the butter on one plate and pass it around — or to put it on individual bread-and-butter plates?

A. Either way is correct. This is more a matter of convenience than of propriety.

Q. Are there ever exceptions when a letter of condolence may be typewritten?

A. If writing to a person whom you know only through business, it is all right. Otherwise, letters of condolence are always written by hand.

Q. What apology should one make for a sudden sneeze in public?

A. "Pardon me" is sufficient.

Q. How is the ex-governor of a state ...

A. He is called "Mister,", but referred to as "The Honorable."

Vancouver girl chosen as Homecoming Queen

Just good friends

Gwen Klassen and Ron Foshaug made a lovely couple as Ron escorted Gwen to various functions connected with the CLC Homecoming Queen competition. This was how they appeared on the reception line following Friday night's festivities. —The Mercury Newsphoto

A 16-year-old Grade XII student from Vancouver is the new Homecoming Queen of Camrose Lutheran College. Irene Hanson was crowned by last year's Queen Bette Hoppe of Biggar, Sask., in impressive ceremonies at the Convocation Centre on Friday evening before a "standing room only" crowd.

The crowning ceremony was preceded by a program offered by present students of CLC as well as members of the Alumni, including Lorraine Anderson, Warren Smithsted, Daniel Otteson, Dodie Traan, Marlene McClements, Jimmy Chow and Mr. and Mrs. Norris Berg.

Following the program, last year's queen, Bette Hoppe, now a nurse-in-training in Regina, was introduced by Ron Christianson, president of the Alumni Association. After Miss Hoppe took her place on the throne, the ten candidates were introduced, and then the big moment arrived, and the winners were announced.

Seventeen-year-old Wendy Nesvold of Camrose was selected by the judges (Dave Mulloy, Mrs. R Peterson and Mrs. Maryann Ferner) as a princess, as was 18-year-old Pamela To of Hong Kong. With the announcement of Miss Hanson as the new Homecoming Queen, Miss Hoppe left the throne and crowned the new queen and turned the robes of office over to the new ruler. The Queen, her princesses and attendants then led a procession to the cafeteria where an informal fellowship hour followed.

Of the first duties Miss Hanson undertook was, accompanied by her two princesses, to lead a parade of CLC students to downtown Camrose at noon on Saturday, where a sing-song was held in front of Lyseng's Studio. Later, at the football game between the CLC Vikings and the CCHS Trojans, she kicked off the ball to officially begin the game. (Football story on sport page).

Another evening of entertainment was presented in the Convocation Centre on Saturday, with both students and alumni participating. Highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Alumni Association's "Distinguished Alumnus Award" to Luther Olsen of Camrose. Mr. Olsen, a past chairman of the CLC Board of Regents was presented with the award by Ron Christianson, president of the Alumni Association.

The Board of Regents held meetings during the Homecoming and elected a new executive to serve for the coming year. The new chairman is the Rev. O Kaminski of Edmonton, while others elected are: Cliff Brager, Camrose, vice-chairman; Marvin Swenson, Edmonton, secretary, and Arthur Wenhardt, Saskatoon, as member at large. John Singer of Edmonton was elected to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Geoffrey H. Saxton.

The CLC Alumni Association held meetings during the Homecoming celebrations, and elected five members to the Board of Governors for two-year terms. Four of those were re-elected, with one new face appearing on the Board. Elected to the Board were Don Ostrem, Edmonton (re-elected), Dave Stolee, Calgary (re-elected), Darryl Ness, Edmonton (re-elected), Jim Brager, Calgary (re-elected), and Lyle Thronsen of Edmonton. Sitting members on the Board include Larry Berg, Stettler, Don Myrehaug, Edmonton, Ron Christianson, Edmonton, Ron Marken, Saskatoon, and Rudy Magneson, Camrose. Messrs. Christianson, Magneson and Stolee form the executive.

Next meeting of the Board will take place in Camrose on Saturday, Nov. 2, at which time a new executive will be chosen.

Holy Trinity parish has mortgage - burning

A very happy event was celebrated in the parish of Holy Trinity, Tofield, on October 18, to celebrate the paying of the final instalment towards the purchase of the new rectory, built in 1963.

The evening commenced with a dinner in the Community Hall under the convenership of Mrs. Frank Dunham and the ladies of the A.C.W.

The Rt. Rev. W. G. Burch had hoped to officiate at the mortgage-burning ceremony, but owing to other engagements regretted he was unable to do so.

Archdeacon Wilson and Rev. D. V. Bloom were piped to the head table by Gordon Kyle. Grace was said at 7:45 p.m. by Archdeacon Cole. After dinner, Rev. Bloom welcomed the guests and all present; and letters were read from former clergymen.

Archdeacon Cole, Canon Teape and Archdeacon Wilson spoke humorously of their stay in the Parish of Holy Trinity in former years. Archbishop Wilson, Bishop's Commissioner, and Rev. Bloom then participated in the burning of the mortgage. J. W. Robinson gave a brief history of the Parish in the early days, from the time of Canon Newton until the present day, and introduced the guest speaker, Dr. Leadbeater of Holy Trinity Parish, Edmonton. Dr. Leadbeater and Mr. Robinson come from the same part of northern England, so were able to dialogue in the Tyneside language.

Edith Mary Smith was guest soloist, singing "The Impossible Dream" from le Mancho and "Wouldn't It Be Lovely" from "My Fair Lady".

Cavelle Rebekahs fete Vialta Lodge residents

Members of Cavell Rebekah Lodge No. 38 of Ryley visited Vialta Senior Citizens Home in Viking on Sunday to honor Mrs. Sorensen, Mrs. Hogstead, Mr. McFadyen and Mr. Hollar, who celebrated October birthdays.

Miss Terecita Encarnacion of Bruce entertained at the piano during the afternoon, playing all requests. Joining her were Miss Aracelli Reyes of Bruce and Miss Amy Gomes of Viking, who led a very lively sing-song. Members of Cavell Lodge visited the Senior Citizens in their rooms and in the lounge; then adjourned to the kitchen and served a birthday supper to all present. A large birthday cake bearing the names of those celebrating birthdays was brought into the dining room to the tune of "Happy Birthday" sung and played with many variations. Each one having a birthday had his or her picture taken beside the huge cake.

To conclude the evening, Cavell members "washed-up" and left everything ship-shape for the morning staff.

The birthday party has become one of the highlights of the year for Cavell Rebekah Lodge.

CF-TCA, Air Canada's first new aircraft, purchased in 1937, is shown next to the airline's newest and largest airliner, the long body DC-8-61, shortly before it was flown from Montreal to Ottawa for presentation to the National Museum of Science and Technology. The Lockheed 10A was flown to Ottawa and presented to the Museum by H. W. Seagrim, Air Canada's Executive Vice President. After a long search, Air Canada found CF-TCA in the U.S., purchased it and had it completely reconditioned. CF-TCA was purchased by Trans-Canada Airlines shortly after the airline was formed in 1937, and through the years, it has seen service with several airlines and private owners. It was turned over to the Museum after the last entry in its historic log book was made by the Honorable Gerard Pelletier, Secretary of State and The Honorable James Richardson, Minister without Portfolio. CF-TCA carried 10 passengers at 175 miles per hour compared with the 196 passengers a modern DC-8 61 carries at close to 600 miles per hour.

BENSON AND TRUDEAU'S LAUGH-IN

Beat Muscular Dystrophy

The annual campaign to raise funds to combat the ravages of Muscular Dystrophy will get underway tomorrow and last for half of the month of November. In most areas the campaign is conducted by the members of the fire departments in each community. This year, close to 600 fire departments across the country will be trying to raise seven hundred thousand dollars to aid in the fight against this dreaded destroyer of life

The life span of the average Canadian is close to seventy years, but the life span of a child with Muscular Dystrophy rarely exceeds nineteen years. MD, as it is commonly referred by, results from a breakdown in the body's chemistry resulting in the destruction of the muscle cells in the legs, arms and shoulders. Paralysis and death follow. Unfortunately, the cause of MD is still unknown

Medical research today is an expensive undertaking, and yet, because of MD, about 10,000 young Canadians may be at death's doorstep. While it is a pitiful sight to know a middle-aged or older person fighting the ravages of some illnesses that still prevail in this modern world, it is an absolute horrible experience to watch MD take its toll from the young. MD cannot be hidden from its victims, as they all know the ultimate outcome MD must be beaten, and every person should do what he can to overcome this malady

Each and every Canadian owes it to his or her conscience to help, by making a contribution to further research for the solution to this killer of young Canadians. If the firemen in your area are not conducting a fund-raising campaign, you can respond by forwarding your contributions to the Muscular Dystrophy Association of Canada, 160 Bay Street, Toronto 1. What rights for children?

What actual rights does a child have these days? The basic right merely to live would seem to be the most obvious prerogative of every child born into this world, wouldn't it? For without the right to live, what other rights are there? Yet every day thirty thousand children on this planet die of hunger and disease Every day thirty thousand children lose the most fundamental rights a human being can have And every day, relatively speaking, the world loses — in children — the entire population of a medium-sized Canadian city That's every day — of every week — of every month of the year . . . because they couldn't get enough to eat

Now what can a dime dropped in an orange and black UNICEF box on Hallowe'en night accomplish in the face of such a mind-shattering daily tragedy? The child holding the UNICEF collection box (UNICEF stands for the United Nations Children's Fund) will tell you that one dime will provide sixty glasses of milk anywhere in the world where they are needed That's a lot of nourishment

For a very small coin and a lot of very small coins collected from across this country on Hallowe'en night would undoubtedly keep that medium-sized city full of children who died yesterday alive and well today All children have a right to live and we all have a duty to see that they do See to it on Hallowe'en night, eh"

MacDuff Ottawa report

OTTAWA.—It was not long ago that Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba was urging the federal government to make a study of priorities before it embarked on new joint programs with the provinces for social welfare spending He was a voice crying in the wilderness. Ottawa, almost obsessed with medicare and determined to push it through, turned a deaf ear to pleas from Manitoba and other provinces which were alarmed by new [illegible].

Medicare is now on the statute books as everyone has been reminded frequently when there has been any suggestion of further postponement. If all provinces participate this year it will cost $835 million in federal taxes alone, to say nothing of what you will be paying provincially in some form or another

But today it is the federal government, already paying out nearly $2 billion in transfer payments to the provinces administering joint welfare programs, that is taking up the Roblin cry When federal and provincial finance ministers meet here next month it will be Finance Minister Benson who will be urging the provinces to sit down with Ottawa and make choices among the competing demands on limited resources. As he puts it, "there are far more good things to be done in Canada than there are resources available to do them"

The major miscalculation of expenditures on these programs, particularly contributions to post secondary education, has been a shock to Ottawa officials Calculating university population may be a relatively simple procedure What apparently threw everyone off were the much larger numbers taking advantage of other forms of post secondary education and training Included in post secondary education where costs are shared by Ottawa are senior matriculation courses in secondary schools such as grade 13 in Ontario

TWELVE TIMES HIGHER

Costs of the post secondary program are increasing at an annual rate of about 20 per cent Total federal contributions in the field of education have risen from $40 million in the fiscal year 1965-66 to about $490 million in 1968-69 or more than 12 times.

When he meets Provincial Finance Minister Mr. Benson plans broader discussions than a look at [illegible] He wants an examination [illegible] the efficiency with which these programs are being carried out An assistant professor of commerce at Queens University at one time Mr. Benson [illegible] to put some ideas forth in the field of education.

With [illegible] of the current federal [illegible] to education it seems [illegible] that Ottawa should [illegible]. But education [illegible] guarded [illegible] and so far Ottawa has been [illegible] [illegible] The Minister of Finance will be [illegible] [illegible] in [illegible]

LONG LOOK AT HEALTH

Another field to be explored will be health. Mr. Benson would like to apply modern systems analysis and operational research to improving the efficiency of health services provided for the people of Canada He promises to be "pretty serious in our dealings with the provinces" and believes the provincial ministers faced themselves with soaring expenditures will appreciate this approach and be ready for full co-operation

While the federal government will continue to work towards the broad goals of employment economic growth, price stability, balance of external payments and an equitable sharing of rising real incomes it will face up here too, to the most urgent priorities Mr Benson last week made it very clear where the most urgent priority lay

LOOK FOR NEW INFLATION

Unless policies were firmly set to resist inflation, he warned there was danger that that the continued prosperity in 1969 would cause pressures that would set in train a new round of price and cost increases

One of the most interesting features of Mr. Benson's budget statement was the recognition that current inflation was hurting many more than the numbers who suffer through unemployment This appears to be an admission that you cannot go out for a goal of full employment and expect at the same time to control inflation. If so, Mr Benson is one of the few politicians with courage enough to face up to it publicly

SMALL CHOICE

But Mr Benson argues in any event that we are not in a position to choose between bending efforts towards high employment or towards stabilizing prices. Without price stability material and manpower resources can't be allocated so as to achieve maximum production and income Inflation slowly but surely erodes the competitive position of Canadian producers at home and abroad

Finally inflation and fears of inflation mean reluctance to lend money except at high interest rates that will protect the lender against loss through repayment in dollars with less purchasing power Yet growth and development require large scale investment of savings in mortgages and bonds that are fixed in terms of money

These securities are the only means of borrowing open to home owners, to school boards, municipalities and governments Unlike large corporations they cannot offer equities on the capital market As these borrowers continue to play an increasing role in the capital markets even a moderate degree of inflation poses a larger problem than ever

MORE OF BOTH EVILS

All this ignores the discriminatory feature of inflation that bears most heavily on older people and those who don't possess the bargaining power necessary to protect themselves against the increase in the cost of living.

"We should not deceive ourselves", Mr Benson concludes "into thinking the choice is between either policies of fiscal ease to counter [illegible] or policies of [illegible] restraint to fight inflation. In our present circumstances [illegible] would precipitate the kind of economic [illegible] in which unemployment would [illegible] increase and we would end up with more of both evils

The new Bonds have fourteen regular annual interest coupons which can be cashed each year as they come due. The first pays 5.75%; the second, 6.50%; the next three, 6.75% each, and the last nine a big 7.00% each. Total regular annual interest amounts to $95.50 on each $100 Bond.

If you choose you may hold all these regular annual interest coupons uncashed until your Bond matures. If you do, you will then get interest on your interest totalling an additional $54.50 on each $100 Bond.

In each service, Sunday the theme "The Living Church" was presented in a most interesting and enlightening way.

Nearly 150 people were served a lovely turkey dinner by the ladies of the church.

SERVICE FROM THE WORD GROW

Beaver School Committee meets Tuesday October 8

Following are the minutes, in part, of the regular meeting of the County of Beaver No. 9 School Committee, held Tuesday, October 8.

Present were: Crs. W. A. Dorin, A. L. Gibson, W. D. Johnston, G. Knudsen, W. Krupski-archi, J. H. Reddick and C. W. Sears, also present were J. B. Allen, N. Semeniuk and H. Wilkie, representing Towns and Village; Superintendent of Schools, William Beck and the Supervisor of Instruction, Keith Robson.

The meeting was called to order at 10:15 a.m. by the chairman.

It was moved and carried that the minutes of the September 9 meeting be confirmed as written.

It was moved and carried that the minutes of ASTA Zone 3 meeting, August 28th be accepted.

It was moved and carried that the disbursement statement to September 30 be accepted.

SCHOOL BUS SIGN

A letter from Mr Herman Bilfert of Holden requesting a school bus sign on the road near his farm was referred to the Committee. It appeared that Mr. Bilfert's children, as well as those of Mr Russell Robyn, were being picked up by a school bus from the County of Minburn and that they were attending school in Vegreville.

A letter from the assistant secretary-treasurer to Mr. Robyn stated that the policy of the County of Beaver No. 9 does not allow children to attend school outside the County except under certain circumstances and Mr. Robyn was invited to attend today's meeting to discuss the matter with the committee.

Mr. Russell Robyn had been advised of the situation verbally by Cr. Krupski-hrl. It appeared that, actually, Bilfert's wanted their children to attend school in Holden, this being their shopping centre whereas Russell Robyn wished to have their children continue to attend school at Vegreville. Mr. Robyn attended the meeting at this time and stated that he had received permission some six years ago for his children as well as some others to attend Vegreville school. He was of the opinion that it was better for his children to continue to go to Vegreville school, his oldest child attending for the seventh year, and he was definately against having to change schools. Vegreville was their centre and the children had their friends there; he considered that it was a better school, the bus service was as good or better and the recreation facilities such as skating, swimming were much superior to what was offered at Holden He stated that he would not agree to send his children to Holden. The secretary-treasurer stated that he would have the minutes from 1961 to 68 examined to see if any record could be found of Russell Robyn having been permitted to send his children to Vegreville. Examination of the records gave no indication that such being the case. It was however, considered that, possibly, some record would be found in the Vegreville County Office and the Superintendent of Schools ordered to investigate this case. The committee felt that, and it was agreed to by the Superintendent that it was not in the best interest of the children for them to have to change schools during the school year already started and it was moved and carried, with one school committee member voting against the motion, that Mr. Russell Robyn and Mr. Herman Bilfert be advised that their children may continue to attend the school at Vegreville for the 1968-69 school year but that beginning September 1, 1969 they will be expected to attend the Holden school.

In regards to theft and vandalism insurance, dealt with by motion 359-68, the committee was advised that vandalism insurance could be added to the fire insurance policy at an approximate cost of $0.05 or $0.06 per $100.00 of insurance on those years The cost would approximate $1,200.00 for the three year period The committee was of the opinion as very little actual vandalism had occurred since the County was established, this type of insurance was not necessary, rather was it felt that theft insurance was required and it was moved and carried that no consideration be given to the placing of theft and vandalism insurance in the County's schools.

In regards to the bus routes, page 81 of the September 9th meeting, Mr. Beck reported that he and the bus supervisor and some of the school committee members had checked out the proposed routes after the meeting of September 9th and that satisfactory arrangements had been made for the operation of the routes as they are now set up. It was moved and carried that the report be accepted.

In regards to the proposed course for caretakers at the NAIT or SAIT, dealt with by motion 358-68, Mr. Beck advised that he had discussed this with the maintenance supervisor who had been of the opinion that it would not be necessary to have any of the County's caretakers take this course; his feeling being that they were getting good training through W. K. Greer's Ltd. and that the caretakers were well up on their job.

It was moved and carried that the report be accepted and no action taken.

The chairman, Cr. Reddick, stated that Mr. Roger Foster had discussed with him the directive, given by motion 358-68, that his bus be stored in Ken Stambaugh's Garage in Bruce due to the fact that Mr. Foster had not supplied heated storage for the bus on his farm as had been agreed to when he received permission to store the bus at home. Mr Foster had stated that except for the first year he had provided heated storage. last year by oil and now propane. Cr. Dorin stated that to the best of his knowledge the garage was not licensed. After some discussion it was moved and carried that Crs. Reddick and Dorin be appointed a committee to investigate this matter and report to the next meeting

The bus supervisor's report was now read. It was noted that Mr. Reid requested that regulation 7070 item 7 be rewritten as outlined in the report. It was moved and carried that the recommended regulation 7070 be adopted.

Mr. Reid also referred to remuneration for extra trips which start after the regular route, in other words, for evening trips. At the present time payment was $4.00 per trip and Mr. Reid suggested that the rate of pay should be $1.25 an hour for this type of trip. After some discussion it was moved and carried that payment for extra trips be increased to $5.00 per trip.

Some further discussion took place and it was considered that the matter should be investigated. Cr Sears asked permission to withdraw his first motion and he moved that the matter be referred to the Superintendent of Schools and the Bus Supervisor for investigation and report to the next meeting

The report also mentioned the

fact that if new buses were to be purchased for delivery prior to December 31, bids should be called for before the end of October Mr. Reid suggested that only four buses would be required and in his opinion one 54 passenger bus should be purchased. He also suggested that in the specifications 36 candle-power light bulbs be prescribed

Moved and carried that bids be called for one only 54-passenger school bus and three only 48-passenger school buses, 1969 models for delivery late in 1968 and that specifications be amended to provide for 36 candle-power light bulbs being supplied.

In regards to overload or school buses, Cr Knudsen inquired "what might happen if, as has been the practice children from the village or from the town rode on the school bus i.e. attend a birthday party after school in the rural area the bus concerned if, in the case of an accident, the fact that the bus was overloaded might have some bearing on the insurance It was decided to look into this matter.

Moved and carried that the Bus supervisor's report be accepted

Since prosecutions of persons not observing flashing lights have been made in one community Mr Beck referred to the fact that, according to the highway regulations, flashing lights in an urban area are not applicable that it is not necessary to stop in an urban area when a school bus is loading or unloading students This matter is to be further investigated.

The Bus Supervisor stated that, at the present time, they had in the shop a four-ton hydraulic jack which did not give the service that it should, and he suggested that this be traded in on a 20-ton screw type jack. This 20-ton jack could be purchased for $1000.00 and a trade in of $250.00 would be allowed for the 4-ton jack in view of the financial situation at the present time he was asked to bring this up after January 1 so that purchase could be handled under the next year's budget

FINE WEATHER

A break in the cold, wet weather came on the weekend with high winds which helped dry the swaths and stooks but tangled a lot of the standing grain and also shelled out much of the oats Some combining and threshing has started in the district but few claim their grain is really dry, but only dry enough to keep for feed. Continued warm weather would see quite a number of farmers finished harvesting soon.

Retirement party for two CNR employees

(Mrs. G. H. Taylor)

HOLEN — Mike Manchur of Edmonton, a former Holden resident for many years, was recently honored at a social evening when the B.M.W.E. Local No 117 were hosts at a retirement party for Mike and Mr. E. Krukoff of Viking, both of whom were retiring after many years of service with the C.N.R. Railway officials, employees, families and friends were in attendance at the Viking Legion Hall, October 19, for the occasion.

Headmaster Walter Kortzman was master of ceremonies for the evening, and presentations were made by G. H. Bloomfield, area manager, William Russel, Safety Rule instructor for the Edmonton area; and Joe Gusta, secretary-treasurer of Local 117, B.M.W.E. Mrs. Manchur and Mrs. Erikson were presented with lovely corsages by Mrs. Joe Gusta. The guests of honor were presented with R.R. Plaques engraved with their name and years of service, tie clips and cuff links with the C.N.R. symbol, and were also recipients of a Lazy Boy chair each.

Dancing was enjoyed during the evening, with lunch served after which all present joined hands encircling the guests of honor and singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows".

The Manchurs were residents of Holden for many years in the house now owned by Mrs. Hovanko and later on the outskirts of the village on a C.N. cottage before they left to make their home in Edmonton. Their son Don of Wainwright and their two daughters received most of their education at Holden School and Don was active with the Sea Cadets for several years before leaving Holden with his family to reside in Wainwright.

'Little White Schoolhouse' is ready for publication

A letter was received last week from Mr. J. C. Church, B.Sc. M.Ed., principal of Hanna High School, Alberta, to Mrs. J. W. Robinson announcing that the story of the country one-room school has been completed and the book, "The Little White Schoolhouse" was to be off the press and on the market by October 24th. This project turned out to be a much bigger activity than he had first anticipated and it took three years over and above that he first estimated it would take to complete the research work and the writing.

The publisher has printed the first part of the manuscript as Volume I. Most bookstores will be handling the sale of "The Little White Schoolhouse" at $7.50 per copy, or one can be procured from The Western Producer, the publisher of the book, Saskatoon, Saskatchewan.

The manuscript extended to some 800 pages and over 300 pictures, thus providing enough series of the country schoolhouse, with the hope that the books will preserve the history of the once proud and valuable institution of our land. The writer would be pleased to know what you think of the book.

If Volume I gets a good reception from the public, Volume II will be published soon after.

Holden man dies in traffic mishap

(By Mrs. G. H. Taylor)

A 64-year-old Holden farmer was pronounced dead on arrival at Viking Hospital following a traffic accident Thursday.

John Misyk was the lone occupant in his small truck when it was in collision with a half-ton truck on a municipal road at the entrance to Misyk's farm. The mishap occurred about two and-a-half miles northeast of the village. The victim was married with a grown family.

Driver of the half-ton, Martin Osadchuk was admitted to Viking Hospital suffering from serious internal injuries. After initial treatment, he was transferred to hospital in Edmonton for further treatment and surgery.

Rev. S. Bessey and Father L. Scriven raised the possibility of establishing a coffee house for Tofield teen-agers. Possible locations were considered.

Mayor Dr. W. H. Freebury had asked the League to consider the coming Jubilee of the Town of Tofield, which was incorporated in 1930.

Suggestions as to how to celebrate this event are being sought from interested citizens. Father Scriven, secretary of the League, asks that all such suggestions be put in writing and mailed to him. They will then have the full consideration of the League.

From the mail bag

Dear Sir:

The law enforcing officer was here "You are summonsed to appear before court at such and such a date for unlawfully failing to return your migratory Bird Kill permit within such and such a time". Trying to argue with the officer was useless, as "things are completely out of my hands". But, since there is a moral issue involved here, I would like to [illegible] on.

Now this permit, which was requested for on a certain Friday when the ducks come swarming in, was not issued until the next Tuesday because of it being a long weekend, and there was not enough help left in the office to send someone out to verify that there were actually ducks landing and doing damage in the said field. When the permit was finally granted it was tucked in the wallet without another thought given, "now we can go out there and drive the ducks out". Certainly there was no thought of reading the fine print.

We have been one boys, and are trying to teach them respect for the law. We all know a permit is only good for so long—till the season opened and just before the season opened regular licenses were bought, with not another thought for the permit.

"There has been leniency, and a number of weeks have expired since the permit was to have been handed in", the officer said. I would say that a phone call "Have you read the fine print on the permit", would have been more to the point; or, to have mentioned the fact when the permit was granted. It might have brought out the fact a bit that any officer of the law is actually a friend — or supposed to be — rather than "try and get you".

The question comes up, "Is it really necessary to get a permit in the first place to protect your own crop, when a farmer has to contend with so many other elements and a crop is hard to come by. Especially in a case where you wait three days to get one and have to pay a fine on top of that?

It is not the easiest at times to teach the youngsters to go strictly by the law, especially when "no one else bothers to", and it would certainly help if there was separation from law "powers that be!"

$100 grows to $250 with Canada Savings Bonds

The new Bonds have fourteen regular annual interest coupons which can be cashed each year as they come due. The first pays 5.75%; the second, 6.50%; the next three, 6.75% each, and the last nine a big 7.00% each. Total regular annual interest amounts to $89.50 on each $100 Bond.

If you choose you may hold all these regular annual interest coupons uncashed until your Bond matures. If you do, you will then get interest on your interest totalling an additional $54.50 on each $100 Bond.

At maturity, therefore, you can get back total interest of $150 plus your original $100 investment. This way each $100 Canada Savings Bond becomes worth $250. Other denominations can grow at the same exciting rate.

Adults, children, businesses and institutions—all may buy Canada Savings Bonds. They are available in convenient amounts of $50 up to $50,000 for cash or on instalments, wherever you work, bank or invest. And, as always, Canada Savings Bonds are cashable any time at full face value plus earned interest.

Few investments are so profitable. None builds more surely for the future. Buy Canada Savings Bonds and make your savings really grow.

Girls are hostesses for school luncheon

The Tofield School grade eight girls entertained the grade eight boys and the junior high teaching staff at a luncheon on Thursday, October 31.

The table centres and the place-cards featured the Hallowe'en motif. After the boys and teachers took their places, Lois Koop welcomed them to the luncheon. The meal began by singing grace, which Sharon Hudacki accompanied on the piano.

Following the delicious meal, served by the grade seven girls Celeste Young then proposed the toast to the Queen, to which everyone responded. Alice Baerg, Joanne Riediger, Louise Shewchuk and Irene Schmidt then sang "Four Strong Winds", with Wendy Baergen at the piano. Then Ken Thiessen, representing the boys, thanked the girls for inviting them to the luncheon.

Viola Taylor and Brenda Hurbert introduced the principal, Mr Kastlick, and vice-principal, Mr Lampitt both of whom gave short talks. To conclude the luncheon, Eileen Fairbrother thanked Mrs. Phillips for helping the girls organize the luncheon, and the teachers and boys for coming to make it a success.

The annual convention of the Union of Mayors and Municipalities was held last weekend, with Ed Albrecht and Garnet Burnstad of Ryley in attendance. The two men reported a very successful convention, although noting that it took on the tones of a Social Credit leadership convention as both Mr Reierson and Mr. Strom were guest speakers and both used the opportunity to put forth their platforms of their party leadership candidacy.

have you ever met...

... an upside-down observer of Alberta?

Harold Von Hollen usually remains right-side-up, but to him most of our province appears topsy turvey. He is an instrumentman with the Surveys Branch of the Alberta Department of Highways and spends a great deal of his working time peering through a transit, which gives him a "bottoms-up" view of the land which he is surveying. This branch is charged with the tremendous task of surveying every inch of the 255,285 square miles that go to make up the Province of Alberta. Highway right-of-way is only a small portion of the work done which also includes duties ranging from advising on the marking off of a homestead, to providing the survey datum for locating an oil well site. From prairie farmland to mountains to northern bush, the Surveys Branch is engaged in a complicated system of triangulation that charts property boundaries to a very small margin of error, providing an accurate measurement of Alberta's terrain.

As Horticultural Technician in charge of vegetable production at the Alberta Department of Agriculture Horticultural Station in Brooks, Allan Reesor is a man with a garden most people wouldn't believe. He is responsible for growing the raw materials for a pilot project to determine the feasability of a vegetable production industry in the province. From his plots come recommendations as to the variety of each vegetable best suited to the area, the most efficient methods of planting, growing and harvesting. Experts at the Horticultural Station not only experiment with the production of various vegetables but also test methods of processing, types of packaging and methods of marketing. Every possible assistance is given to Alberta farmers in selecting the fruit, ornamental and vegetable varieties most suitable to local conditions.

To make a proper study of the migration habits of Alberta's black bears, each animal must be identified in some manner. Milan Novak, wildlife biologist with the Fish and Wildlife Division, Alberta Department of Lands and Forests takes care of this problem by first tranquilizing the bears, then attaching colored streamers to their ears. This makes the animal easily identifiable from a distance and assists in the inventory of Alberta wildlife being conducted by the Branch. This survey has a dual purpose. It is meant to determine the extent of the province's wildlife population and to measure the amount of natural habitat and forage available. With this information on hand, Fish and Wildlife Division personnel are able to maintain a proper balance between population and land necessary for their support. Such research is a continuing and important segment of the activities of the branch on behalf of Albertans.

John Flaherty, of the Counselling and Guidance Branch, Alberta Department of Education, has the responsibility of keeping the province's many school vocational guidance counsellors up-to-date on the latest developments in career opportunities for graduating students. The Branch is currently preparing an exhaustive reference work called a "careers kit" which will be circulated to schools in the province and which details the latest reference material available on the increasingly diversified careers in our urban society. Through Mr. Flaherty, and the Guidance Branch, hundreds of school guidance counsellors in Alberta are better prepared to advise the youth of our province on their choices of future careers.

[illegible] people need a properly balanced diet to thrive and grow. [illegible] is an expert at determining the contents of [illegible] skills are available to Alberta farmers through the Soil and Feed Testing Laboratory of the Plant Industry Division, Alberta Department of Agriculture. Laboratory services include the analysis [illegible] feeding recommendations and [illegible] special feeding problems. Any livestock producer can [illegible] of the services of the Laboratory and its expert personnel [illegible] by supplying his District Agriculturist with a sample of the feed for analysis and a prescribed information sheet. More efficient use [illegible] feeds, gained through the services of the Soil and Feed Testing Laboratory, means improvement in the economy of Alberta livestock production.

Kenneth Kremer does most of his movie-going when the house lights are up and the screen is dark. He's one of the theatre inspectors who travel the province for the Amusement Branch of the Alberta Provincial Secretary's Department, inspecting every theatre and entertainment hall. It is their responsibility to ensure that all precautions are taken to safeguard the public and that regulations regarding facilities and cleanliness are followed. In addition, the Branch supervises training of motion picture projectionists, conducts examinations to make sure that they are properly trained in the use of the very advanced equipment used in today's movie houses, and issues licenses to those who qualify. In this way, the Amusement Branch contributes to Albertans' enjoyment of uninterrupted motion picture entertainment in safe, pleasant surroundings.

UCW meeting

A regular meeting of the Tofield U.C.W. Afternoon Unit was held in the church parlor on Thursday, Oct. 24, with Mrs. Storkson presiding. Fifteen members were present.

The treasurer's report showed that $32.95 was realized from the September auction plus talent money contributed by several members.

The U.C.W. president, Mrs. Patterson reported on the October general meeting. It was decided that, due to other commitments, no Fall turkey supper would be held this year. Also, the Hong Kong girl, who had been sponsored by the Tofield U.C.W. being now independent, the local U.C.W. would not sponsor a child for the next year or so.

Members were asked to bring bandage material from old sheeting, also plastic bags of all sizes, open at only one end, and plastic pill bottles, to be used in overseas hospitals. These were to be left at the church for wrapping.

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. A. Innes and Mrs. C. Rogers.

The next meeting will be held Thursday, Nov. 21.

Deone Pettit was maid of honor and Gail Widynowski and Carol Hall of Edmonton were bridesmaids They were identical Empire waisted gowns of pale blue brocade, with crystal tiaras in their hair, and carried cascade bouquets of yellow shasta daisies.

Attending the groom as best man were his cousin Jim Stansbough from Edmonton; Pat Nolan, his brother, and Bill Glover, brother of the bride Ushers were Bill Stansbough, cousin of the groom and Gregory White, cousin of the bride

The wedding music was played by Miss Elaine Boergen, and duets were sung by Mrs. Melba Wall and Mrs Edith Segeler.

The bride's mother wore a blue dress with matching coat and hat and white accessories. Mother of the groom wore a pink dress with matching coat and hat, and white accessories. They both were pink roses on corsage.

Tofield curling to begin in December

At a curling meeting held on Friday evening that was very well attended by members and interested curlers, it was decided to try and commence play during the first week in December, kicking off with a Friendship Spiel

The compressor which had been repaired in Edmonton was installed on Wednesday by Con-don Ice and yesterday putting on the ice was started This year no caretaker will be used, making ice and looking after the rink will be on a volunteer basis

Cec Pattison has kindly consented to oversee the proper ice-making with Bob Wilbe and Walter Neufeld appointed to get help whenever needed.

This year the setup for the curling schedule has been somewhat changed in an effort to accommodate as many curlers as possible Four different league have been set up with each league curling once a week The four different leagues will be the Men's Open, the Mixed, the District and Club League these three clubs will curl in the evenings, and then the Afternoon Curling Club who will curl on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons

Those wishing to curl in the "Men's" should contact either C. Sears or Elmer Gosgjen

Looking after entries for the "Mixed" will be Al Farmer, Betty Swanson and Irma Fransoo, while those wishing to curl in the "District & Club" should contact either Andy Hedberg or John Meyer.

The fees have been set at $60 per rink for any team in the District & Club League. Fees in the other three leagues have been set at $15 each However, should a shortfall occur in the two different leagues it will be given a $3 reduction; should a curler wish to play in three different leagues, the holler will be charged $30 and a non-shareholder $75

Andy Hedberg and Ed Hegler were appointed to try and sell some shares in the curling rink.

Those wishing to curl in the Spiel should contact the first week in December, or enquire at the curling rink (Mr. Nordcom, Earl Rose or Laurie Wetherill

It was felt at the meeting that if every body cooperated, a very successful year at the curling rink would result

These would have to be modified to come up to the County's specifications. Storm windows would be an extra $100.00 per bus and there would probably be a two-week wait before they could be delivered.

Mr John Glanville, who was also present on Thomas built buses was asked why it was not possible to have the windows on the buses which were bought last summer brought up to specifications. He advised that they were short of windows in Edmonton and that it took time to get the new ones from the factory but that he expected that they would be in within the next very short while

In regard to teacherage rentals Mr Bock advised some information had been received from the County of Minburn in regard to the policy they have with their teachers occupying teacherages However, there had not been much work done on this and it was agreed to leave this committee report to the next meeting

Mr and Mrs. Thomas Newcomb have requested a two-year leave of absence to teach in Europe under the Department of National Defence It was moved and carried that this request be approved

The recipient of the 1968 Governor General's award is Miss Ruth Ann Dickson of Tofield

Runners up were Cheryl Nanette Lovenuck of Viking, Craig Nestor Semeniuk of Holden and Dianne Elizabeth Caldwell of Viking The award would probably be made early in December and that a gift from the School Committee has been ordered.

Mr Bock advised that the last third of equipment order under the Foundation Program established for the County was now due for purchase. This involved an expenditure of approximately $7 038 00. It was noted that the equipment would be purchased but would not be paid for until 1969 as it would not be in the schools prior to that.

It was moved and carried that this Education Bulletin be approved.

In regard to pay telephones in the schools Mr. Bock advised that he had contacted the AGT and they advised that a rental of $6.00 per month would be charged and that each phone would have to show a profit of $15 00 per month

It was moved and carried that this item be tabled to the next meeting for more information

Mr Bock advised that he had checked with Camrose Stationery in regard to renting certain equipment for the Commercial Program to Ryley. Improve the CBC

Many Canadians wishing to watch television have no choice in which network they desire to watch, as they are served only by the CBC. Others have two choices in that they can watch either CBC or CTV, while still others have multiple choice because of either cable television or their location near the United States border.

It would be interesting to see the results of a popularity poll taken among those Canadians who have a choice between the two networks— CBC or CTV All indications point towards CTV being the more popular network of the two, and this does not include all the sports programs put on by both networks. Yet although taking second place the CBC is costing taxpayers millions of dollars each year while CTV is run successfully in fashion and must show a profit.

The CBC, because of supposedly outstanding cultural programs and more public affairs programs is able to show a profit and the taxpayers are expected to make up the deficit But, the so-called extra special programming we see on CBC is hardly worth watching, and is a burden to the taxpayer Yet, each year CBC has had its budget increased at the taxpayers expense It is high time that the government cracked down hard on the CBC and told them to make a profit or else have their budget cut off so that Canadians would benefit in two ways first it would be a saving in the pocketbook and second it would probably mean better entertainment on the CBC — meaning what is sadly lacking at the present time

The CBC must be made to realize that despite what they might think they are not in competition with other networks and if they are going to succeed in attracting the viewing public to the CBC programs they must put on programs that the viewers want to watch. Until the CBC changes their attitude and begins putting on programs that people want to watch instead of what they think people should watch, they will continue to lose money and the taxpayers will continue to foot the bill.

AFFLUENT SOCIETY MAKES FOR MORE MEAT-EATERS

Canadians are eating more meat at all year, per capita consumption of meat in Canada advanced to a new level in 1967 By The continued rise in personal income is the major factor in boosting consumption reports Neil MacVicar, assistant bureau news editor of Maclean-Hunter in Ottawa, quoting government officials. MacVicar says that the new level represents an increase of 11 lb over 1966 and 16 lbs over 1963 and 26 lbs more than in the 1956-60 period This change is almost entirely due to beef and poultry meat However, the average of the 1956-60 and 1966, per capita consumption of beef rose by 12 lb. or nearly 20%. Poultry meat increased by 12 lb. or nearly 50%. Pork consumption declined by almost 2 lb. and other meats had slight change.

Santa comes Dec. 14

Late word from Santa Claus, received just this morning (Thursday) by The Mercury, announces that Santa will be arriving in Tofield for his annual pre-Christmas visit on Saturday, December 14.

The reason for his later than usual trip to Tofield is that the reindeer are suffering from the flu and he has been forced to use an elephant for transportation.

This, of course means that he will be longer than usual on his road. Assurance was given that the jolly old fellow, like the elephant, won't forget Tofield. He especially asked all boys and girls to remember the day—Saturday, December 14!

Curling starts on Wednesday

Organized curling is now underway in Tofield, as plans for the Friendship Bonspiel were announced yesterday.

Three games are guaranteed curlers, and the draws commence next Wednesday, Dec. 3. There will be one afternoon and two evening draws until the bonspiel is completed. Entries to this bonspiel are accepted by Geo McFarlane, Earl Rose and Laurie Weatherill.

Meanwhile, the afternoon curlers start their draws on December 10. All interested curlers have been asked to see Andy Hasberg or Eddie Ferguson to have their names included in this group.

Tofield Library will be closed Friday, Nov. 29, and Tuesday, Dec 3, because of the X-ray Clinic.

An enjoyable evening's entertainment was held by all those who attended the YCBW program on Wednesday, Nov. 20.

Mrs. Joan Dunham was mistress of ceremonies. Three films from UNICEF were shown, which proved to be very interesting and educational. Between the showing of the films, musical numbers were presented by three young ladies from the Mennonite Church and members of the United Church Teen Choir. Also presented was a monologue by Malkewich-Babin rites held Oct. 5th.

Mrs. VanBuskirk

ROSS CREEK — Yellow 'mums decorated the St. Bonaventure Roman Catholic Church in Chipman on October 5th when Leona Mary Babin became the bride of Donald Joseph Malkewich. The bride is the only daughter of Mrs. Mary Babin and the late Peter Babin of Mundare, and the groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Malkewich of Tofield. The bride was escorted to the church by her brother, Lawrence Babin. Rev. J. Leszczynski officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The organist was Mrs. Florkow and she played the accompaniment for a choir from Mundare.

The bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white imported crepe with delicate white lace neckline and lily-point sleeves. The circular train was trimmed with matching lace appliques. Her headpiece was tiny white roses under a shoulder-length veil falling from a cluster of white roses on lace. A bouquet of fresh-cut white gardenias completed her ensemble.

The bride's attendants were two of her friends, Miss Irene Filewych and Susan Zuk, and her cousin Ann Nakonechney. The attendants wore identical floor-length gowns with matching capes of imported crepe in fall colors of rust, gold and green respectively. Their headpieces were assorted fresh 'mums with bouquets to match.

Attending the groom were his brother Ken Malkewich, and two friends Lester Ferrel and Ron Somkowich. Ushers were the groom's brother Wayne Malkewich and the bride's cousin Marvin Nakonechney.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Babin chose a rust colored two-piece suit with beige accessories. Mother of the groom wore a rust-colored dress with matching jacket and brown accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of orange and white carnations.

About 250 guests attended the reception in the Sands Motor Hotel following the ceremony. Francis Sheptycki acted as master of ceremonies and toast to the bride was proposed by the bride's cousin John Kubin to which the groom ably responded. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, adorned with crystal bells and orange flowers.

Upon returning the happy couple will reside in Edmonton.

Students protest to Hippy Label

Dear Sir:

Students in any high school are aware that they attend classes to further their learning and prepare for a higher education which they realize is so very important. Since Tofield High School has become a stale, uninteresting structure, how can students keep interested in their school and studies so as to be of much more successful" Schools must teach things beyond education to acquaint students with practical and lifetime experience. A majority of the students seem to be extremely discontent and dissatisfied with the movement of school participation towards the betterment of extra - curricular activities and the movement of school spirit, which is essential to unite a body of students, never before have I seen such apprehensive attitude such a degrading form of school spirit.

The fall of 1968 looked very interesting, and there were many people who turned out to try for a position on the football team The players were very lucky to have an understanding coach, willing to put up with their inabilities and teach them the importance of the game Finally, the sport that everyone waits for all year long basketball, came along and teams were practising hard by the end of October, getting ready for homecoming and the league opening game in Holden on November 22 Just when the teams were all excited, a proud shout roaring into three season, a rash, unmotivated statement was announced to the team members by the powers that be: "You will wear no blue jeans of any shape, form or sort to any basketball game or in the good old County of Beaver No. 9"; excluding the four home games, at which the players are actually allowed to wear what they see fit

At this statement, turmoil not only broke into full-scale bloom members, but all over the school by a good majority of the one hundred and twenty or so students who wear blue jeans most or all of the time without giving it a second thought When the team members asked why they could not wear neat blue jeans they were seriously told by their learned elders that they looked like undesirables or hippies and created bad impressions in the other three towns of the county. It takes a lot of nerve to call a person a hippy when he is so far from it

Tofield students have always been good sports and have always been proud of it Never will anyone see a Tofield student hoo or harass an opposing team to a degrading point Is this not the most important factor for representation of a town and school—being good sports and leaving a desirable impression on another town's people? Are students asking too much when they want to dress in style neatly or dress as they see fit for an occasion when they leave town? These students are not talking about dirty, faded, frayed blue jeans and sweatshirts, they are talking about new, clean, well pressed blue jeans worn with clean shirts, sweaters and dress shoes. If the rules are not met, they are just simply not allowed to play.

Students are supposed to respect the decisions of their elders because they are experienced and tend to know best, but when I see how one person can wreck a school and its spirit and go against the will of so many people, how can this decision be respected and correct?

It is trivial issues such as this that has caused the fall of school spirit to Tofield in the past couple of years. Foolish issues tend to make students say "well, to heck with this school Why should we partake in and support school activities when we don't gain any enjoyment or satisfaction out of representing our town and school due to childish boundaries with no apparent motives" The students now are mostly playing basketball for their own personal enjoyment and not for school representation Why must the school spirit be destroyed"

End in a nutshell: "Some are so blind as those who fail to see", Suitable, eh?

Yours truly,

B.H.S.

Santa to visit Tofield riding on an elephant

by Grace Phillips

Gerry Weins of Ryley and Randy Long of Irma groom two of the animals entered in the Royal Winter Fair by the Kalal Hereford Ranch of Tofield. These steers captured the grand championship for the group of five market cattle, and Kalal Ranch also took second and fourth in the Hereford senior calf competition, at the Toronto show. Alberta Gov't Photo.

Santa Claus has changed his plans for visiting Tofield this month. He was shown to travel with his famous sleigh and, as far this year, he hasn't had any.

He has been worried about how he could visit his young friends in Tofield, but when he remembered his friend Al Oeming, his worries were over.

You see, he remembered that Al Oeming (whom he met when Mr. Oeming was capturing reindeer in the far north) had an elephant!

Now, Santa has never travelled on an elephant before, but he decided to borrow Mr. Oeming's "Packy" for his Christmas visit to Tofield.

So, when Saturday, Dec. 14, rolls around, Santa will be riding Packy down Tofield's main street to the Tofield Community Centre Here, all the children in the district will be treated to bags of candy provided by the Tofield Lions Club, the Tofield Branch

Alberta Government Telephones crews buried the last mile of the 1968 Rural Buried Cable program last Saturday, just south of Calgary. Initiated by the Hon. Raymond Reierson in 1964 when he was Minister of Telephones, the program now has a total of 32,770 miles of rural cable in the ground. The cable, buried 30 to 36 inches below ground for protection that normally plagues overhead wires, provides almost trouble-free service to rural subscribers where in some areas as many as 16 parties share the same line. The aim is to reduce this number to four per line.

Gentlemen, you ARE involved

Straight talk from a "Mountie"

The following speech was delivered recently to a county dance by a member of the RCMP. The subject matter should be of much general interest, and in so well treated, that it warrants printing so that many more people can "hear" what this "Mountie" has to say. All reference to communities, although quite close to Tofield, and which were included in the original talk, have been intentionally eliminated by the editor.

Mr. President (Gentlemen I have been invited to give a short talk dealing with trouble at teen dances and what other communities are doing in this respect as well as touching on the subject of drug use by our students.

Regarding the use of drugs in our youth I do not feel qualified to give a talk on this subject at this time as my talk is strictly dealing with the teen dances. Drugs, or the use of drugs by students is a subject which should be given by itself at a future talk if requested and if requested I do know however drugs are being used in our schools. Those youths involved in the taking of drugs are your children, and I feel you should be taking counsel to change as your children, be they changes with respect to their general behaviour attitude or physical behaviour should you observe changes in their personality, you should immediately with them about the possibility of them taking drugs, and if so, report to us for his appropriate action.

Gentlemen, I have walked over 10 years to give this little talk. And at your request, I am however quite willing to give it to you.

Getting onto the subject of teen dances gentlemen, I personally would not like to see the end of teen dances in this town just because of two of your policemen being manhandled at two of your teen dances this year. I believe the teen dances are places where the youngster can let off some of the bottled up tension and steam, and I feel this is a necessity in this day and age To put a stop to the teen dances would be the same as the ostrich who sticks his head in the ground. To stop the teen dances would be giving the hoodlums the satisfaction of closing down the teen dances, you are defeating your purpose as parents and citizens

And don't forget — it is your own children who will patronize the teen dances in the other towns at the other teen dances and vehere they will raise cain — and not here in the home town before your very eyes where you could — and should — be keeping an eye on them. You want to know what they are doing in the other towns.

It has been said that youth of today are tornadoes in their behaviour and turbulent in their actions. You look at the teenagers and students around the world in which we live, and it is startling. And I draw particular reference to the student unrest and rebelling in Ireland and Latin America, and yes, even Canada. And of course there's the Hippies and Yippies and so on, much closer in the United States of America.

It has been stated ours is a changing society. You say times change Things aren't the same as they used to be Is that bad? Well I don't think so within reason of course. I think it is good, for in progress, times and things must change We don't want to go back to log and paper shacks lugging in firewood, warming our fronts at the fire and having a cold back within lights brawls, depressions, no phone no power, no roads or dirt paths for roads, no cars back to the team of horses, and so on But today, they seem to be changing to the extent your children stand by not once but twice while the police are being beaten or physically abused

Where does this place attitude begin" I am suggesting a great amount of it starts right in the home Yes—right in your own home Nobody is perfect There was only one person ever on this earth who was perfect and he is no longer on this earth in the physical sense at the present moment Let me give you an example of what I mean You and your family have been visiting and are on the way home late at night There's no traffic on the road and all seems to be in order Suddenly there's a car passing you—it's not passing you—it's a police car with the red light on, so you stop Lo and behold, you find yourself at the end of a ticket for speeding 15 miles over the speed limit This annoys you because of the lack of traffic and you state your feelings out loud in the presence of your family complaining bitterly that this "stupid cop" should be pinching people who are criminals or crooks And so with a little remark and with your action, you have planted a seed in the minds of your children without realizing it. Your open opinion and attitude toward the "stupid cop" is helping your children form their opinion toward the police. And you can rest assured, it's not a good opinion

I think this is where I should remind you that as taxpayers you are hiring us to enforce the laws which are in force by you

On two occasions in this area a policeman has received physical abuse in the presence of your children You it seems defy the laws have police powers but yet you won't protect your police You want assistance and I may add that you receive it, yet you won't assist your policeman. On these two occasions you must remember it was your children—and you who stood back and watched It was also your children who were being led by the nose by only about four agitators, that hands were tied by the law from using force and therefore cause you much can and do stop force we would ask Come on dads, and mothers of this land You complain and your children 50 to 70 years of age Tofield is small town and in 30 minutes after the first call to the police a group of 12 to 15 year-old youth the required force is used It is not brother and Brother that you—through your children who of your time with your children. Thus unfortunately is the feeling of the adults of today and we still have the audacity to wonder why the youth are rebelling

Gentlemen—if you weren't at the last dance I refer to, you should have been. If for no other reason, you could have had the opportunity to observe firsthand what happens when four agitators get a crowd of about 150 kids worked up. You could see and hear how your children act and talk in your absence or in the absence of their parents. Even 13 - 16 year old girls had language which would literally curl your hair. I had thought I had hear' most obscene words coming from the mouth that night was atrocious. If you are inclined to take my remarks with "a grain of salt", then I suggest you acquire with those few adults who were present.

We as police sometimes wonder why the youth are so obnoxious, belligerent or just antagonistic to-ward us when we check them. Then, after giving it some thought, we realize the youth have the same attitude in their homes toward their parents And we realize it stands to reason that when the youth have no respect for their parents or others in authority, we cannot expect it for us

Did you know gentelemen, that all crimes are on the increase? Did you know that all crimes committed by persons between the ages of 15 and 24? Well, and so it is, it's true. In our own areas in the past two years we have convicted 101 out of 270 in this age group for Liquor Control Act Offences. That means two-thirds of the Liquor Control Act prosecutions in the past two years have involved youth in this age group. These are our youths This is our society. This is our land If it gets progressively worse, we have only ourselves to blame, and unfortunately, it seems the trend is to-ward more decaying society.

I feel it is about time we stopped "cuddling" our youth. I am satisfied this is not what they want they want responsibility, and we should give it to them. When our child is caught we feel My Johnny wouldn't do that" Yet is it not "the Johnny" who not only did it, but was caught doing it? But once again, the "stupid cops" don't know what they're talking about So, rather than allow his fingers to be slapped, we here the best lawyers money can buy and over-protect them Or we pay off his bills even to the tune of several thousand dollars when he has wrapped up the family car while drunk and it doesn't cost him a thing except possibly a bawling out. Is this the answer? I certainly do feel we should protect our children and our society, but not over-protect them But when we take the attitude everyone else is out of step but our Johnny, we are not protecting them in the way we ought I am not here to tell you how to raise your children I have four of my own to raise— and I realize each one is different—but I will make a good try at raising them properly And I intend to accept my responsibility as a father I'm fortunately, while I'm down here investigating incidents caused by your children, I have to make my own children suffer and I can't spend enough time with them, due to my responsibility and my problem though. You have yours and I'm requesting you not to shirk your responsibilities or duties.

I think it is about time you decided to take the initiative on your own and become a progressive community I don' feel you should copy any other community I think you should ignore other communities and take it's

Is it youth or adults at fault?

Tofield,
Nov. 20, 1968

DEAR EDITOR

But few days pass when one hears not the cry from one or other quarter as to Youth's failings. There is nothing for me to do, and they ask for all kinds of work.

Then we hear the other side When I was young we called our own recreation." "Youth of today are too lazy to do again Look at the outstanding youth in what are generally adults forms of recreation" As golf or more strenuous.

We must admit that some of the present day youth could be criticized for the lack of suitable recreational facilities"

From time to time extensive canvas has been made seeking support for several worthy causes which do not expand solely for reason known but for the more energetic types of recreations that benefit all youth regardless of social and economic level, but only half-heartedly.

Gentlemen, you are involved...

And the thing to do is to begin taking care of your youth. To stop the keen dancers is not the answer. To decline to rent the hall to the teenagers is not the answer. The answer I submit to you, is to utilize the keen agent and the manpower we have to help us all keep keen dancers. Some of us will be present in the hall and around the hall during dances and each and every one of you can be present after the dance. And to mingle with the crowd outside the hall so that if anyone begins agitating you are present to stop it. You are a citizen here also to perform. And it is about time you both on your cheeks of responsibility and did your duty—and not just pay your taxes.

If you gentlemen are honestly interested and concerned about local law and order in the community, you should all be making enquiries with your children and other persons who attended the dance to ascertain who the persons were who helped a youth escape, and who the persons were who physically man handled your policeman as well as the party who did the tripping of your policeman notifying us for appropriate action.

It is better late than never, and now is the time to begin correcting your faults, and by doing this the faults of your community will correct themselves. Through assistance of only a few persons the culprit who escaped has apprehended and tried is pending.

If you are no doubt aware good policemen are hard to find. When one is located you tend to work him to death, and so he leaves the profession. You, as a public not only expect him to work all day and every day but also expect him to work during the evenings and on his days off as well. You don't give a "hoot" about him because he is a policeman and it doesn't affect you whether or not you accept the remarks pertinent to immaterial because they are true. When the policeman has some time off to go to a coffee break or to another part of the area, when a complaint of say a speeder comes in from another part of the area and the policeman is not readily available, you become annoyed. And somewhere along the line, someone will remark to the effect, "Where the heck were you when I wanted you", or, "Who the heck do you think pays your wages?" Gentlemen, we know who pays our wages—because you won't let us forget.

Did you know that our particular office covers an area of almost 700 square miles as well as your town, and did you realize each of us—be it two or three men are working between 250 and 300 hours per man per month? This means each man at our detachment is working between 100 and 150 hours overtime every month—and without extra pay or time off. You probably didn't realize it because it doesn't interest you. Yet you expect it from us. This is assisting your policeman?

As I have previously stated—you work him to death. You wonder why we become annoyed and you forget we too are human beings and sometimes make mistakes. You expect us to treat you with loving kindness and with kid gloves at all times. At the same time you tend to ignore our feelings. You show no concern about the safety of your police and don't even bother to find out

PIONEER VISITORS

Friday afternoon of last week grade four and other grades of the elementary school had a most interesting visit from Mr. and Mrs. J. Lancaster of Tofield, who brought an old-time pioneer spinning wheel and home spun wool to demonstrate to the children the old time art of spinning. Mrs. Lancaster was appropriately dressed in old-time costume adding to the interest. She also showed the children a knitted sweater made from the wool she spun, of black and white. These grades are studying pioneer times and learned about one of the pioneer accomplishments at first hand. Mr and Mrs Lancaster were visitors with Miss Ethel Brown.

one which can only be corrected by you—and us—but YOU.

You not only expect to get the policeman when you want him, you show complete disregard toward him. You show no appreciation for his being out in the middle of January in a storm with 30 below temperatures with blowing wind and standing in the middle of the highway for up to three or four hours at a time—even though he's had to work all day. You don't want policemen. You want servants. You don't care to think your police have brought an extra revenue exceeding $2,000.00 into your village coffers within the past year and a half. You don't even show your appreciation when that member has been moved to another posting. You expect it of us. Just as you expect it of us to have to take physical abuse while your children are standing and watching because it's our job and you don't care about our welfare.

Gentlemen, in closing I wish to say I feel it takes a certain amount of intestinal fortitude to not only better a community, but to keep a community rolling along nice and smoothly. But you must expect a certain amount of bumps somewhere along the road. As representatives of your community in that you are be it Chairman of Commerce I am asking each of you to give my little talk some thought and possibly talk it over with your neighbors and amongst your selves. And then as I have said before, take the proverbial bull by the horns and begin taking more interest in your youth—who incidentally, are our leaders of tomorrow

Alberta's new premier

54-year-old Harry Edward Strom won out over four other candidates for the leadership of the Social Credit party last Friday evening, in a victory which almost saw him sweep the field in the first ballot. With it goes the premiership of the province, although Mr. Manning has not yet announced the date of his retirement from that position. A southern Alberta farmer, Mr. Strom has had a wide background of activity, from local councillor to minister of agriculture.

County Council meets Monday, November 29

Following are the minutes, in part, of the regular meeting of the County of Beaver No. 9, held Monday, Nov. 25. Present were Crs. W. A. Davis, A. L. Gibson, W. D. Johnston, G. Knudsen, W. Krupskoicki, J. H. Reddick and C. W. Sauer.

It was moved and carried that the letter from Mr. Noel Dant, Provincial Planning Director, regarding Council's refusal to join a Regional Planning Commission, be received and filed, and that Mr. Dant be advised to have a member of his staff attend the January Council meeting to discuss this matter.

Mr. Bardasi attended the Council meeting in connection with the Subdivision of the S½ of 15-52-19-W. 4th. This had been dealt with at the last Council meeting and Mr. Bardasi wished to explain the road conditions and other matters regarding the subdivision. The Secretary-treasurer advised that it had been approved conditionally by the Town and Rural Planning Commission subject to certain conditions. One condition being that a caveat has to be placed on all lots in the subdivision restricting them agricultural use and that the developer would be responsible for construction of the roads and that these roads must meet the requirements of the County regarding all other construction providing immediate access to the subdivision from a provincial highway. Mr. Bardasi explained that the road into the subdivision from the road on the east side of this section 15-52-19-W. 4th would eventually be assumed by the County, therefore, they should be involved in the requirements, and to see that the road is constructed to County specifications.

It was moved and carried that

Congratulations, Mr. 'Strum'

Introducing the Hon H. R. Strom to Camrose delegates two weeks back while he was still a candidate seeking their support, local MLA Chester Mayers remarked how he had suggested to the cabinet minister on one of their early tours that in a Scandinavian district such as Camrose he would expect to hear the name pronounced "Strum", rather than "Strome" or "Strom". With a charming smile, Mr Strom rose moments later to tell his audience that it certainly sounds more to hear the name pronounced the way his friends around home say it.

So the word is straight from the new premier himself . . . the name rhymes with "from", rather than "gnome" or "dnome".

At the moment, probably the least important feature is pronunciation, but the policies he will follow or try to follow now that he's in office. It may very well be that the luckiest men were those who did not win the election, for there is no doubt but what Mr. Strom will have to shoulder an immensely heavy burden.

It's tough enough at any time to try to follow Mr Manning in the important seat but it must be immeasurably tougher now. There are very definite financial strains on the province's economy and there can be almost no doubt whatever that higher taxes will have to be imposed in certain areas, or new ones found. Any mention of new taxes, of course, brings up the hated sales tax, which was avoided by nearly all candidates for the premiership.

Yet the promised survey of expenditures, and review of any unnecessary programs cannot bring the necessary relief from increasing costs, unless at the same time it brings serious curtailment of programs which are already being developed. And it does little good for instance, to shift the burden from provincial taxes to local taxes. While this may improve the provincial picture, it simply takes the money from the same taxpayer in a different manner.

The leadership convention also provided brief glimpses through the curtain of cabinet and party solidarity, which indicates there are definitely serious disagreements among the "one big family" disagreements over important issues.

The probability is that until this time Mr Manning has been able to keep the lid on in most cases, but there is a feeling that even he sensed this strength was running out, and it was time for the newer elements to take over and see what they could do about controlling disunity, building party solidarity and uniting in the push forward.

It will be interesting to see the changes and the elections in the cabinet in the next short time Mr Strom has said he will definitely not continue as minister of municipal affairs, the portfolio he now holds in that either some new face must be added to the cabinet or a present minister must be saddled with two portfolios which is not, after all, too uncommon.

There are also rumors of some present cabinet portfolios being lifted from those holding them which introduces the unknown new elements into the guessing game. Who will retire, and who will be asked to? Who will get the nod in new appointments?

We'll be surprised if promotions don't go to Bob Clark and Ray Speaker, and Dr. Buck may very well have qualified for a chance to show what he can do, at least in the near future, if not immediately.

It's fun second-guessing the new premier, but it's not going to be any fun for him. This is a rough and tumble game, with high stakes, and they play for keeps.

Albertans everywhere will join in congratulating Mr Strom on his election, even though they differ politically. For the sake of the province they will wish for him the co-operation of his cabinet, his members, and his party.

Ripples in the water

Like ripples in the water reaching ever further out when a stone has broken the surface the effects of a vote of confidence in a community seem also to keep on reaching further and further and further.

First, of course was the remarkable expansion of both Macleod's and Safeway's food facilities, with the huge new Safeway store to let Tofield open next week. Then there's the addition of at least three new firms to the Camrose business community, as the Bank of Nova Scotia and Coop's Shoe Store which open this week and St. Clair Fashions which opened a week ago.

But there is also the effect that's taking on stores all through the neighborhood. Across the street is a handsome new facing and renovation for one of the hotels down the street is an extension and addition to another business and there are rumors of major improvements being scaled for service stations in the area.

Already the change in traffic patterns has been greatly publicized, and with the new Safeway store the change will be even more pronounced. For some years there has been a big move of business establishments out of the business districts of cities and towns to the outskirts where there is more room for parking and where the traffic is not so congested and hazardous. Despite the fact that Tofield's business district is not overcrowded, the new Safeway store will definitely change the traffic pattern to a considerable degree, and there will be some time in store.

Moving . . . [illegible] . . . like another facility . . . [illegible] . . . an impressive . . . [illegible] . . . as a counterbalance.

WAKE-UP PARENTS

Dear Sir:

Reading the article written in last week's Mercury "Straight Talk From a Mountie", I would like to say I'm on the side of the Police but nevertheless I'm in sympathy with our young people too. Who is to blame?

What will become of our teenagers if parents are no better? It used to be we were taught to respect the law and know what was right and wrong. Now, I must say it looks like those days are past, and now it's a "Stupid Cop". Why have a 60-mile speed limit when 70-80 is the go?

If there could be some way to convince our youth the Cops are there protection instead of having to haul them in for Court, I would say it would be a worth while move. There are so many court and legal things that could be done by everyone young folks where they could make use of themselves such as making skating rinks or tobogganing, skiing, helping the helpless shovelling snow, and what have you. The list is not complete, but you get the idea.

If Parents would take a small interest in the young people there would be a big difference. I'm sure I was disheartened to hear of the teen dances that are now planned when our Police are called. The most awful language anyone could utter and I must say as a Mother's could hear their own children utter such words, only loving mother would be heartbroken and the part I felt for the Police I can't explain what a shame so I want to say, Parents be careful what you say and do around the small fry. Some day they will be teen-agers, too, and say and do what Mom and Dad did.

At the best of up-bringing, we find to our despair some go bad, so let us apply the Golden Rule "Do unto others what you want them to do to you" then the "Stupid Cops" will become your best friends.

Thank you,

P. S.

BEWARE

Dear Sir:

Many folks heaved a sigh of relief when the recent strike threatening the Alberta construction industry [illegible] of dollars [illegible] Alberta [illegible] and Ed [illegible] Calgary [illegible] to end. The fact however that Ontario construction workers [illegible] in the union [illegible] has remained [illegible] and Ontario [illegible] and [illegible] Ontario [illegible] Ontario [illegible] Ontario

Introducing the Hon. H. R. Strom to Camrose delegates two weeks back while he was still a candidate seeking their support, local MLA Chester Bayers remarked how he had suggested to the cabinet minister on one of their early hours that in a Scandinavian district such as Camrose he would expect to hear the name pronounced Strum . . . rather than Strome . . . or Strom. With a charming smile, Mr Strom rose moments later to tell his audience that it certainly sounds nice to hear the name pronounced the way his friends around home say it.

So the word is straight from the new premier himself . . . the name rhymes with "from", rather than "prom" or "drome".

At the moment, probably the least important feature is pronunciation, but the policies he will follow or try to follow now that he's in office. It may very well be that the luckiest man were those who did not win the election, for there is no doubt but what Mr. Strom will have to shoulder an immensely heavy burden.

It's tough enough at any time to try to follow Mr Manning in the important seat, but it must be immeasurably tougher now. There are very definite financial strains on the province's economy, and there can be almost no doubt whatever that higher taxes will have to be imposed in certain areas, or new ones found. Any mention of new taxes, of course, brings up the hated sales tax, which was avoided by nearly all candidates for the premiership.

Yet the promised survey of expenditures, and review of any unnecessary programs cannot bring the necessary relief from increasing costs, unless at the same time it brings serious curtailment of programs which are already being developed. And it does little good, for instance, to shift the burden from provincial taxes to local taxes. While this may improve the provincial picture, it simply takes the money from the same taxpayer in a different manner.

The leadership convention also provided brief glimpses through the curtain of cabinet and party solidarity, which indicates there are definitely serious disagreements among the "one big family", disagreements over important issues.

The probability is that until this time Mr Manning has been able to keep the lid on in most cases, but there is a feeling that even he sensed this strength was running out, and it was time for the newer elements to take over and see what they could do about controlling disunity, building party solidarity and uniting in the push forward.

It will be interesting to see the changes and the elevations in the cabinet in the next short time Mr Strom has said he will definitely not continue as minister of municipal affairs, the portfolio he now holds so that either some new face must be added to the cabinet or a present minister must be saddled with two portfolios . . . which is not, after all, too uncommon.

There are also rumors of some present cabinet portfolios being lifted from those holding them, which introduces fascinating new elements into the guessing game. Who will retire, and who will be asked to? Who will get the nod in new appointments?

We'll be surprised if promotions don't go to Bob Clark and Ray Speaker, and Dr. Buck may very well have qualified for a chance to show what he can do, at least in the near future, if not immediately.

It's fun second-guessing the new premier, but it's not going to be any fun for him. This is a rough and tumble game, with high stakes, and they play for keeps.

Albertans everywhere will join in congratulating Mr Strom on his election, even though they differ politically. For the sake of the province they will wish for him the co-operation of his cabinet, his members, and his party.

Ripples in the water

Like ripples in the water reaching ever further out when a stone has broken the surface the effects of a vote of confidence in a community seem also to keep on reaching further and further.

First of course was the remarkable expansion of both Macleod's and Safeway's shopping facilities, with the huge Safeway store in Camrose now set to open next week. There is the addition of at least three new firms to the Camrose business community in the Bank of Nova Scotia and Chap's Shoe Store which open this week, and St. Clair Fashions which opened a week ago.

But there is also the effect it is having on stores all through the neighborhood. Across the street is a handsome new facing and renovation for one of the hotels down the street is an extension and addition to another business, and there are reports of major improvements contemplated for service stations in the area.

Already the change in traffic patterns has been clearly indicated, and with the shift of grocery shoppers to the new Safeway store, the change will be even more pronounced. For some years there has been a slow but steady if not permanent moving of traffic patterns to the south, interrupted and reversed from time to time, but nonetheless moving insistently. Development of an these new outlets coupled with improvement of several of the older stores there, will definitely move the traffic centre a whole block north, and keep it there for some time to come.

Moving it back south again will take another fairly substantial combination of important retail outlets, acting as a counterbalance.

MacDuff Ottawa Report

Ottawa's offshore offer

Ottawa — A new war of [illegible] over mineral rights in the seabed off Canada's coast following the federal government's offer to share the revenues and administrative responsibilities with the provinces, but there seems little prospect of a major railroad from the tundra laid down by Prime Minister Trudeau.

He made it clear that he regards the offer he outlined in letters to the 10 provincial premiers at the end of November as about as good as the human brain can devise, describing it in words like "equitable" and "reasonable after very lengthy and intense negotiations."

His confidence is backed up by a very strong bargaining position vis-a-vis the provinces.

He has a majority government, and does not have to fear transfer of the dispute into the Commons chamber where a minority administration would risk defeat by a hostile opposition.

STRONG BACKING

The Supreme Court has already indicated that it is sympathetic to federal control of the offshore resources. In an advisory opinion last year, it rejected British Columbia's claim to mineral rights seaward of the ordinary low water mark and outside inland waters like Hudson and James Bay.

The provinces are divided among themselves. Newfoundland and New Brunswick almost immediately made known their agreement with the offer while the landlocked provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan are unlikely to have complaints since it could let them share in the revenues.

Most of the other provinces, led by British Columbia and Quebec, are likely to kick, preserving their claims to undivided jurisdiction over natural resources, no matter how they are on dry land or under the sea.

TURN THE PRESSURE

But the terms of the federal offer could divert their attention from Ottawa to an inter-provincial dog fight over the formula for splitting up the share of some revenues is left open to negotiation among the provinces themselves.

Mr. Trudeau's offer would give the eight coastal provinces the right to administer mineral resources—all is the only one that really counts— in about nine per cent of the continental shelf off the east and west coasts, plus in waters south of Hudson Bay. Each province would collect the revenues from the area under its control.

The rest of the shelf, outside of Mineral Resource Administration Lines drawn around the coasts by federal officials, would be administered by the federal government.

Half the revenues from the federally-administered territory off the east and west coasts and in the Hudson Bay area would be put in a pool to be shared among the provinces. It is not clear whether Alberta and Saskatchewan would share. The other half—plus all the revenues from the Arctic—would be Ottawa's.

INCENTIVE RULE

Mr Trudeau raised the offer generous enough it was clearly drawn up as attractively as possible in the interests of a speedy settlement which Ottawa hopes will stimulate exploration by private companies that have been unwilling to get involved in a Federal - provincial jurisdictional dispute.

The federal government is clearly conscious of the potential of the continental shelf which covers an area estimated to be almost 40 per cent as large as the total land area of Canada.

The reference in the British Columbia case could begin again in every province, and indeed I suppose there would be nothing to prevent endless litigation by private companies that would try to get permits from one province or another. Mr Trudeau told the Commons, explaining the federal desire to settle the issue quickly.

"It is to avoid all this litigation that we have racked our brains to come up with some kind of equitable arrangement. And we think a 50-50 sharing is a pretty good place to start. . . One way or the other I think it was important that the federal government state the proposition or state the terms of a settlement that it could live with or else did not."

VIEWPOINTS DIFFER

The provinces can be forgiven for seeing things in a different light as they weigh the federal offer against the hopes many of them entertained to get total control of offshore resources along with the revenues they will bring.

For one thing, they were led to expect that the whole issue would be left in suspension. Instead, Ottawa has chosen to leave them out of the process of drafting a compromise and has simply presented it to them as an offer.

And so they look at their maps, the provinces may get the feeling that Ottawa's offer is not as generous as it might appear at first glance. The nine per cent applies only to the east and west coasts where it represents about 45,000 square miles out of 470,000 square miles. The Hudson Bay - Hudson Strait portion of the shelf represents nearly as much again — 400,000 square miles—and Ottawa will probably keep the lion's share of that.

Then there is the Arctic—one of the places where the search for oil is generating the most excitement. That represents the biggest chunk of all—an estimated 565,000 square miles — and Ottawa plans to hang onto all of that.

Likewise the most active exploration area on the west coast —east and south of the Queen Charlotte Islands—falls into the federally-administered area. All 11 exploratory oil tests off the west coast would fall under federal administration.

Ottawa offers some cogent reasons for refusing to give up jurisdiction over the offshore resources.

Under the Geneva Convention on Continental Shelves, Canada does not have ownership of the seabed, only the right to explore and exploit it. Internationally, Ottawa will be responsible on a continuing basis for example, if new has already claimed a large piece of the shelf under the Gulf of St. Lawrence around its islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon and the federal government is negotiating over this.

Secondly, there is some fear that the provinces might engage in cut throat competition to attract investment. Exploration will be done by the giants of the industry and in terms of countervailing power, it is thought best that Canadians be represented by a single and their biggest government.

But that is not going to prevent the provinces, or many of them at least, from howling that their interests are being disregarded. They could raise the issue at the constitutional conference later this month and inject a sour note into the attempt to reach a consensus on the direction of constitutional reform.

In addition, substantial increases in postal rates for newspapers will be carried unequally by the workers and smaller newspapers. These publications in many cases depend almost entirely on mail service for their circulation to subscribers. The large metropolitan dailies and other publications in larges centers use the mails less and therefore suffer less from the rate increase.

Taken together with the Prime Minister's statement that the government is considering tightening the income tax burden on people with higher incomes these two tax measures give some idea of what the so-called "Just Society" is all about.

The increased postal rates affect farm publications in particular. It appears that many will have to raise their subscription rate substantially or be forced out of business.

There has been little so far in Parliament to change the gloomy outlook for Canadian farmers and particularly Western grain producers. Despite sales of 18 million bushels of No. 4 and No. 5 wheat to China under our long-standing agreement with that country, the wheat marketing and sales picture remains depressing.

Canada has lost sales in traditional markets in wheat, feed grains and rape seed. This country has made no new ones.

So far this government has shown no awareness of the urgent need for changes in our approach to handling and selling wheat and of aggressively seeking out new markets abroad.

The House of Commons is currently dealing with Supply the detailed outlay of tax money to run the complex government machine over the year. It appears as though this lengthy business will occupy most of Parliament's time until the Christmas break.

In the offing for the New Year are several serious and contentious issues such as the proposed amendments to the Criminal Code and the Official Languages Act.

There is no indication of any measures dealing directly with the many grave problems confronting the industry of agriculture.

As your Member of Parliament I would appreciate it very much if you would write to me and let me have your views on both the amendments suggested for the Criminal Code, and particularly in regard to the Official Languages Bill.

This Bill will implement recommendations of the B and B Commission about establishing official bilingual regions in various areas of the country, and will set up a Language Commissioner to enforce the provisions.

My own view at the present time is that the legislation is unconstitutional because it, in effect, seeks to amend the constitution unlawfully. However, before entering the heated and lengthy debate that is promised on it, I would like to have your feelings about it.

Aside from the affairs of Parliament conducted in Commons chamber, as your member, I have been busy with committee and constituency work. I am active on the committees on Agriculture, Trade, Commerce and Industry, Regional Development and Transport and Tourist. Recently I was appointed chairman of the caucus committee on Youth.

In addition to these committee activities I have been much concerned with the problems relating to our native peoples. I plan to attend the Alberta Indian Regional meetings, to be held at Hobbema December 13 to 14. I hope to see many of my constituents at that time and would appreciate hearing their views on this pressing question, as well as any other pr ideas they may have.

I will be reporting to you regularly through your local newspaper about progress on Parliament Hill. If you have any criticism or suggestions, please write and let we have them.

Sincerely yours:

Donald F. Mazankowski, M.P.
Vegreville.

Recipe for rose petal cookies

This recipe calls for one-half cup of rose water (rose syrup) and Mrs Hersey tells in her book "The Shape of the Year", published by Charles Scribner's sons just how easily rose syrup is made.

She advises the use of half a dozen fragrant red roses that you are sure have no spray or residue. Take off the petals and cut off the slightly bitter tasting base of each. Simmer the petals covered, for about one-half hour in a small amount of water and a one-half cup of brown sugar. Strained, the result will make one and one-half tall glasses of fluid that looks like wine and taste the way roses smell. Now you are ready for the cookies.

ROSE PETAL COOKIES

Mix 2 cups of brown sugar with one and one-half cups of soft butter. Add one pinch of salt and one-half teaspoon of nutmeg. Add another one-half cup of soft butter and mix well.

Beat 3 eggs thoroughly and add one-half cup rose syrup. Stir this into the first mixture and add 2 cups of white flour and 2 cups of whole wheat flour. Roll on a well floured board quite thin and cut into rounds with a 3-inch diameter cookie cutter. Cook in an oven about 380 degrees for 15 minutes or until golden brown. Watch carefully as they have a tendency to burn.

This recipe makes dozens and they will keep all summer and longer in the freezer.

Use deep red roses for syrup and the most fragrant ones you have. This gives the cookies a slightly pink cast. The flavor is subtle, but delicious. Can be made partly with honey and less sugar. This is something you must experiment with. They are really awfully good and an old English idea — that of using roses in cookies.

Bathroom carpeting

Mrs. Donna Bagdan, Home Design Specialist with the Alberta department of agriculture, says it's best to choose a durable carpet for the bathroom because it will receive a great deal of traffic. Nylon is a very tough, long-wearing fibre and certain types can be readily machine washed and dried.

You can purchase kits for bathrooms which include the carpet, the toilet seat cover and paper for a pattern. The only equipment you'll need is a pair of scissors to make your pattern and then to cut the carpet with.

The cost of these bathroom carpeting kits varies, depending on the quality. Average price of a 5'-6' nylon plush carpet with attached polyurethane foam backing is $25.00, and $32.00 for a 5'x8'. You can purchase less expensive viscose and rayon carpeting, but it tends to show wear more quickly. A carpet of 50% orlon and 50% fortrel is another good choice for your bathroom.

When your bathroom carpet needs more than a vacuuming, it can usually be washed. For best results wash these bathroom carpets in warm water and then dry on very low heat in an automatic dryer. Mrs. Bagdan says you might find your local coin-operated laundry a convenient place for washing such a bulky article as a carpet.

have you ever met...

People who want to help overcome the problem of alcoholism in their own communities can learn the most effective methods from Mrs. Dorothy Bruer. As a Community Services Consultant for the Division of Alcoholism, Alberta Department of Health, Mrs. Bruer assists in providing a training course especially designed for those who live outside major population centres. Five day seminars, conducted at Henwood, the Division of Alcoholism's new Rehabilitation Centre, train interested individuals in the development of the understanding and knowledge required in the treatment of alcoholism. The Training Course for Community Services is just one of the services in education research and treatment offered through clinics in Calgary, Edmonton and Red Deer by the Division of Alcoholism.

John Clancy is one of ten economists who help promote Alberta's public image by demonstrating with facts and figures the province's continuing progress. The Alberta Bureau of Statistics, Department of Industry and Tourism, helps industries interested in establishing or expanding here by answering specific queries and doing market surveys on request. The branch, which has a total staff of 25, also prepares a number of exhaustive reference works on the province's industries and resources, including population, available free on [illegible].

John Roman is one of a group of inspectors who have the trying task of ensuring that Alberta's thousands of elevators, escalators, sky-trams, and ski tows and lifts are safe for use by the public. The difficult and sometimes dangerous work of the nine inspectors employed by the Elevators Inspection Branch of the Department of Labour has resulted in Alberta having an extremely low accident rate for these conveyances. Every one, whether it be a workmen's hoist, a restaurant dumbwaiter or a 700-feet-a-minute passenger elevator in Edmonton's CN Tower, is inspected at least once a year to make certain it is in top condition. In addition, the Elevators Inspection Branch carefully checks all new installations before they are opened to the public.

Among the most popular youth groups in Alberta today are the 4-H Clubs which flourish everywhere in the province. The committees and councils which guide these groups occasionally need expert advice on organization, special programs and administration. Doug Bienert is one of the seven Regional 4-H Specialists in Alberta whose job it is to provide that assistance. On the staff of the 4-H and Junior Forest Wardens Branch of the Alberta Department of Youth, these specialists are strategically located throughout the province so that their services are available to any club requiring them. Their [illegible] and coordinating counsel have contributed substantially to the fact that the 4-H movement today offers more opportunities than ever before not only to young people on the farm but to non-farm rural residents in towns and villages as well.

Swimming, diving, badminton, bowling, figure skating: these are just a few of the sports in which Mrs. Vicki McClements is a programming expert. As one of the Athletics Consultants with the Recreation Branch, Alberta Department of Youth, [illegible] available to all communities in the province through Regional Recreation Consultants in Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge, Red Deer and Grande Prairie. These local consultants are prepared to offer advice and assistance on any aspect of recreation. When special programs are needed, they have the support of specialists in whatever [illegible] coaching schools and leadership development courses are just two methods used by the Recreation Branch to raise the standards of athletic achievement in our province.

Doug Gibbs checks the flow of air from exhaust vents with a velometer to ensure that the exchange of air inside industrial buildings is sufficient to prevent contaminants injuring workers. Doug is a Senior Safety Supervisor in the Accident Prevention Department, Alberta Workmen's Compensation Board. He and 46 colleagues work to reduce the number of accidents in industry be it in a steel fabrication plant in Edmonton or Calgary or at a remote drilling rig in Alberta's far north. They advise employers and workers of safety measures, make regular on-site inspections to ensure safe working conditions, and investigate accidents to prevent the occurrence of similar mishaps. The Accident Prevention Department conducts a continuing publicity campaign to keep people safety conscious and also organizes courses in first aid for workmen in industry.

Recipe for rose petal cookies

This recipe calls for one-half cup of rose water (rose syrup) and Mrs. Hersey tells in her book "The Shape of the Year", published by Charles Scribner's sons just how easily rose syrup is made.

She advises the use of half a dozen fragrant red roses that you are sure have no spray or residue. Take off the petals and cut off the slightly bitter tasting base of each. Simmer the petals covered, for about one-half hour in a small amount of water and a one-half cup of brown sugar. Strained, the result will make one and one-half tall glasses of fluid that looks like wine and taste the way roses smell. Now you are ready for the cookies.

ROSE PETAL COOKIES

Mix 2 cups of brown sugar with one and one-half cups of soft butter. Add one pinch of salt and one-half teaspoon of nutmeg. Add another one-half cup of soft butter and mix well.

Beat 2 eggs thoroughly and add one-half cup rose syrup. Stir this into the first mixture and add 2 cups of white flour and 2 cups of whole wheat flour. Roll on a well floured board quite thin and cut into rounds with a 2-inch diameter cookie cutter. Cook in an oven about 350 degrees for 15 minutes or until golden brown. Watch carefully as they have a tendency to burn.

This recipe makes dozens! [illegible] they will keep all summer [illegible] longer in the freezer.

Use deep red roses for syrup and the most fragrant ones you have. This gives the cookies a slightly pink cast. The flavor is subtle, but delicious. Can be made partly with honey and less sugar. This is something you must experiment with. They are really awfully good and an old English idea — that of using roses in cookies.

Bathroom carpeting

Bathroom carpeting may sound like a luxury but it's really quite practical. At least it doesn't show the water marks like your waxed floor.

Mrs. Donna Bagdan, Home Design Specialist with the Alberta department of agriculture, says it's best to choose a durable carpet for the bathroom because it will receive a great deal of traffic. Nylon is a very tough, long-wearing fibre and certain types can be readily machine washed and dried.

You can purchase kits for bathrooms which include the carpet, the toilet seat cover and paper for a pattern. The only equipment you'll need is a pair of scissors to make your pattern and then to cut the carpet with.

The cost of these bathroom carpeting kits varies, depending on the quality. Average price of a 5'-6' nylon plush carpet with attached polyurethane foam backing is $25.00, and $32.00 for a 5'x8'. You can purchase less expensive viscose and rayon carpeting, but it tends to show wear more quickly. A carpet of 50% orlon and 50% fortrel is another good choice for your bathroom.

When your bathroom carpet needs more than a vacuuming, it can usually be washed. For best results wash these bathroom carpets in warm water and then dry on very low heat in an automatic dryer. Mrs. Bagdan says you might find your local coin-operated laundry a convenient place for washing such a bulky article as a carpet.

A strange sight Santa has been known to use many modes of transportation to complete his Christmas rounds, but he really came up with something unique when he visited Tofield on Saturday afternoon. The jolly gentleman came to town riding on 'Pachy', an elephant he borrowed from his friend Al Oeming, of Alberta Game Farm fame.

Is Holden dying?

I have heard many people say many times that Holden is dying. Our theatre is closed, we don't have a doctor, therefore our drugstore closed. The Cubs and Scouts have folded. So many of our friends have moved away. But one thing is apparent, these friends are being replaced by other people who also need friends and what better season than Christmas to extend the hand of friendship to all the newcomers and make them welcome.

Well, we may not have all the facilities of a larger town or city but we do have the most important ingredient. We have people and many of these people are young boys—which is what this article is all about.

The County of Beaver is a collection of small towns each with the same problem. They are too small to do everything by themselves so they join together. For many years these towns have formed fine hockey and baseball leagues. We have all the raw material we need that goes into forming these leagues—our young people, yours and mine. But they need help. They need adults who will donate some of their time to help coach the boys. The league is not looking for the Bobby Hull or Gordie Howe type of coach because they don't exist. Really all the boys need is help from fathers, neighbours, uncles etc. Did I say all—a very small word to use when describing people who care enough to give up their own time to donate to a worthy cause. Yet who are more worthy of our time than our children? We give our time to our Churches, Curling, Bowling, Lodges etc. but this is for our own pleasure ... time to spare a few of these hours for our sons.

For the first time ... [illegible]

Dear Sir:

Re: Cty. Beaver No. 9—T.B. Area Status

I am sorry for the delay in replying to your letter of October ... in regard to the standing of the County as a Tuberculosis Accredited Area.

The Department is concerned about this same situation in each of the Western provinces but the program is not discontinued anywhere in Canada.

To keep these areas up to date depends on the availability of Veterinarians to do the testing. I have been able to get some ... General testing done in your County in the past ... Dr. Hedicka of Daysland last June and July ... [illegible]

MacDuff Ottawa Report

Progress en Francais

OTTAWA — Seldom a day goes by now without a newspaper headline touching on bilingualism. As the country shadowboxes with the problem, as Ottawa the Public Service grapples with the actual practical problem of becoming conversant with both official languages. Soon it will be the public's turn.

Another spike in the coffin of bilingualism was driven home last week with the release of the second report of the Duston-Gagnon Royal Commission on Bilingualism and Biculturalism — now universally known as the "B & B".

It officially endorsed these proposals.

● Public education should be provided in both French and English in officially - designated bilingual districts in all parts of the country.

● The mother tongue of the minority group should be the language of instruction in special minority schools.

● Parents should be able to have their children educated in either language, but the number of the majority group attending the minority's language school—either English or French — should be limited if necessary to preserve the school's "linguistic and cultural character".

● Teachers for the minority-language schools should be trained separately from those headed for majority schools; but their qualifications should be fully comparable.

● In the Atlantic provinces, French - language instructors should be trained at the teachers' college in Moncton, N.B. A similar school should be established to serve Western Canada.

● The Federal Government should bear responsibility for the extra cost involved in providing bilingual instruction.

● All students should be required to study both of the official national languages, English and French.

● Minority - language instruction should continue throughout high school.

● French instruction should begin in Grade 1 in English-language schools. English at the Grade 2 level in French-speaking schools.

FEDERAL GRANTS

To cover the cost of these proposals, the commission recommended payment of a federal grant to each province, based on the number of students attending official language minority schools. The grant would equal 10 per cent of the average cost of education per pupil within the province.

But the enthusiastic promoters of bilingualism on the royal commission brushed aside concern about the additional tax money involved.

Commission co-chairman Davidson Dunton, former chairman of the CBC board of governors and now president of Ottawa's Carleton University (an English-language institution itself) termed the extra expenditure required "marginal".

And his fellow co-chairman, Quebec journalist Jean-Louis Gagnon, pointed out it was the federal government's "duty" to promote the development of bilingualism.

HUMAN RESOURCES

Fully as confident as the co-chairmen was commission member Mrs. Gertrude Laing of Calgary, who argued that the extra cost should be balanced against superior development of Canada's human resources. The principle of equal status for English and French, she assured a press conference, was now gaining acceptance throughout the nation.

Although that may have been an over-statement, there was at least a measure of endorsement forthcoming from provincial political leaders.

On the same day the commission issued its report, Quebec's Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand named a "gold B & B" of his own—a provincial royal commission to inquire into the status of the French language within Quebec's borders.

GENERAL SUPPORT

And to set the fears of English language parents to rest—there have been several recent instances of Quebec school boards officially adopting a French-only curriculum—he introduced a bill in the Legislature to ensure them the right of choosing French or English instruction for their children.

Ontario, which with New Brunswick will bear the brunt of switching over to bilingual instruction, indicated it will go along with the commission's proposals. Premier Robichaud of New Brunswick predicted the report will have a "unifying effect" across the country.

Even the heavily English-language extremates of the nation, British Columbia and Newfoundland, appeared ready to back the commission plan, although B.C.'s Premier W. A. C. Bennett expressed concern about a shortage of qualified teachers.

What do you do with money there's no bill for?

That's what was bothering Calgary Power officials in Camrose recently, even though the amount wasn't really very much.

The mail a short time ago brought in a remittance for five dollars, together with a note saying the sender had stolen a rope from a company truck some time ago, and was sorry, so he was [illegible] five dollars which was more than the value of the rope.

He added that he was sorry he had waited so long. In fact, he said, it was more than twenty years ago, and he's now living in another place about a thousand miles away.

The amount isn't big, but it certainly provided some interest for people around C.P.'s office.

Will be at the Tofield Town Office from 1:00 o'clock to 4:30 o'clock P.M. on 1st. and 3rd. Saturday of each month.

Speaker on surface rights brings cheering FUA to feet

EDMONTON — Surface rights consultant Robert Doyle has called for a "brand new set of legislation on property rights" in Alberta.

In a fiery speech to the Farmers' Union of Alberta, meeting for its 39th annual convention in Edmonton last week, Mr. Doyle hit out at oil and gas and power companies and said it was time the "ordinary" people in the province received a break.

"We need this legislation! as much as we need new legal and legislative definition of human rights because in our legislative and our judicial process there is no justice through the law of this land for ordinary people".

He said he stood before the FUA delegates to report on "the virtual theft, without recourse, of your land. . . .

"It is politely referred to as expropriation but more accurately it is confiscation".

This, and similar statements, brought the 300 delegates to their feet cheering with applause.

"I have seen a title to a man's land with 22 other people who have gained interest in it without his consent. It was all quite legal".

It had taken two years, he said, but at last his efforts were beginning to pay off for FUA members.

Three major oil companies paid less in taxes in Canada than delegates had spent in cigarettes that day, he said.

"And these are the very people who are paying a mere $6 a year for oil well sites".

The Canadian National Railway, he said, could walk into a Land Title's Office, file a map covering what they wanted of a farmer's land and ask for a new title to be issued showing them as owners. "They can turn it over to some company for its private use and pay for it at what amount they desire. You can fight back if you are rich enough, you can dispute the payment if you are rich enough . . . but your chance of getting a fair break from either the railway or the courts is nil".

Sometimes, he suggested, it appears the Ministry of Justice should be re-named the Ministry of Law because nobody could afford justice.

However, he added, Surface Rights Commissioners had at least been getting some successes in the courts.

He cited an offer by an oil company for a well site near Three Hills at first as "nothing", then $600 for the first year and $150 for every year after. Mr. Doyle, representing the farmer, asked for $13,000 and got, through the courts, $11,500 and $200 per year.

Another case was a Namao farmer who had pipelines crossing his land. "With reckless abandon they took the right-of-way through his trees. The company, when pressured, settled out of court for $9,000 when normally they would have paid out $15 for trespassing".

The usual offer of "fair compensation is a fair trite phrase".

Present appraisal methods and judicial and quasi - judicial determinations of compensation were primitive, he felt. "They neither reflect value in accordance with natural law nor do they respect the market place that would exist if eminent domain privilege did not".

A change in attitude, he concluded, was just as necessary as a change in legislation. It would be wrong to let down on the pressure needed to pursue a program of public information at this time. The stronger the FUA, the stronger its representation.

Mrs. VanBuskirk

The UCW held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Winnie McLachlan, of Ardrossan. Christmas Eve services will be held in the Ross Creek Church on Dec. 24 at 7:30 p.m., with everyone welcome. Christmas gifts were exchanged with mystery sisters. Mrs. Jewel Becker and Mrs. Gertie Farrell were hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Later Odlorne and family, and Mrs. Alex Ford and Wilfred were Friday evening visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Maurice VanBuskirk.

A large crowd attended the farewell party held for Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ulan and family in the town hall at Chipman, Friday evening. The Ulan family have farmed here for several years and will now be making their home in Edmonton. They were presented with a chime mantel clock, a gift from the community.

The Lamont Division Volleyball Tournament was held at Andrew on Saturday with many local students attending as participants and spectators. The Lamont boys and Lamont girls won the trophies.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Carlisle and family and Beverley Klatchuk were Saturday evening visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Maurice VanBuskirk.

To show their appreciation for the work done on the church by George McLachlan, the members held a pot-luck supper in his home on Sunday evening in the lower hall of the church. Following supper, vocal and instrumental numbers were enjoyed, and Rev. and Mrs. Howe entertained the crowd with some contests. On behalf of the congregation, Rev. Birse presented Mr. and Mrs. McLachlan with a clothes hamper.

Christmas Seals fight tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases.

from Alberta's rock-ribbed Premier E. C. Manning. But his newly-elected successor, 54-year-old Harry Strom, is expected to take a softer approach at this week's constitutional talks in Ottawa, and may be persuaded to go along with the majority of his fellow premiers in adopting the two-language policy.

The battle is far from ended. Resistance to the federal government's policy of bilingualizing the public service continues to well up, particularly among the English - language majority in the capital itself. But the government is pressing ahead relentlessly, and even the most bitter holdouts now acknowledge that there is no effective way of holding back the tide.

Which makes all the more poignant the last-ditch effort being marshalled in newspaper advertisements by the so - called Voice of Canada League, which terms the French Fact a gigantic conspiracy to rob English-speaking Canadians of their birthright to remain steadfastly unilingual and run the country without the help of the other language group on the Quebec side of the border.

The debut of this never-say-die group of English-language militants was signalled months ago when the Liberal party chose Pierre Elliott Trudeau as its leader, and the Canadian People went on to elect him as head of Canada's first majority government in six years.

Mr. Trudeau never concealed his intention to confront the French Fact head-on by establishing full equality throughout Canada for the two major language groups.

He has proceeded to carry out his mandate in a forthright manner, and it is clear there will be no pulling back now for the faint-hearted.

If this is to be the defined course of our subsistence in nationhood for the balance of this century, we might just as well relax and enjoy it. C'est la vie.

The World Health Organization estimates that 15 to 20 million people somewhere in the world have active tuberculosis, and that during the next year they will infect 100 to 150 million others.

Lieut.-Gov.'s Christmas message

Ministik

Mrs. Jim Roddick

It was announced at the United Church on Sunday that Christmas Eve services will again be held their year, and all are invited to attend. Student minister Miss Ann Stephanson will not be able to attend, but as these have been a tradition at Ministik for many years, services will be held regardless.

Friends regretted to hear that George Kleinschrath is a patient in Tofield Hospital, having met with a nasty accident.

Mrs. Joe Davenport is also a patient in Tofield Hospital, having undergone minor surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill George were Sunday guests of Mrs. S. George.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Likacs and family were Sunday guests of Mrs. Helen Hennessy. She returned to the city with them in the evening and spent Monday shopping, returning home that evening.

Mrs. Paul Lafontaine commenced teaching duties at the new Robin Hood School at Sherwood Park last week. Her husband is now working at the university.

A most enjoyable afternoon was enjoyed on Sunday at Cooking Lake by all who came to have a ride on Edna Roddick's new power toboggan.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Schuster attended the funeral on Tuesday of an old friend, Mr. R. Hagen of Winterburn, Alberta.

Mrs. Effie Nasichuk is spending a couple of weeks with cousins in Edmonton.

As we approach the holiday, may I extend warmest Christmas wishes to all. I hope good health will prevail, and good appetites, and good will. There will be homecomings and family reunions and music and laughter.

I would like to think that this Christmas could find us one year nearer that goal of Peace On Earth. The day-to-day news about unrest and protests and riots and violence does very little to reassure those who long for a more peaceful world community. People of good will must feel discouraged at times, wondering if Peace On Earth will ever be achieved. Perhaps they should ask themselves exactly what they mean by Peace On Earth and having defined it to their satisfaction, work at it a bit harder. Commonly, people think of Peace On Earth as simply silencing the guns of war aimed at fellow humans, but I wonder if it should not mean more than that. I like to think of Peace On Earth as the attainment of a complete harmony between humans and all the segments of Nature's community. Peace On Earth should mean Peace On Earth—not just peace between man and his human neighbours, while mankind is at war with Nature. If we want understanding and peace between the nations, it may be that we should begin by cultivating a philosophy of peace with all the creatures and creations in Nature's wonderful world. It may sound a little like that great citizen of the world, the late Dr. Albert Schweitzer. If so, that is the way I would want it to sound.

Anyway, a Merry Christmas to all.

Grant MacEwan,
Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta.

Treat with Jap oranges

Toss aside some of the old recipes you're using for years and go dramatic this Christmas.

To add flair to your holiday dinners, serve a "Mikan Soufflé" for dessert. It's a dish that is easy on the hostess—she can prepare it the day before and forget about it until dessert time.

For the recipe, use fresh Japanese mandarin oranges, a traditional Christmas treat available only at this time of year.

MIKAN SOUFFLE

2 envelopes plain unflavored gelatine
¾ teaspoon of salt
1¼ cup granulated sugar
4 eggs, separated
1½ cups Japanese mandarin orange juice; (approx. 7 oranges)
1½ cups whipping cream
chopped nuts
Japanese mandarin orange sections

Method

Fit a double thickness of heavy foil on outside of 7-inch (1-cup) soufflé dish. Extend about 2 inches above top rim of dish. Tie tightly and fasten with cellophane tape. Brush dish and foil with cooking oil.

NOTE: Foil rim may be omitted. An attractive serving dish may be used instead of a soufflé dish, but the dessert will not extend above the dish.

In a saucepan combine gelatine, salt and 1 cup of sugar. Beat together egg yolks and orange juice; stir into gelatine mixture. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine is dissolved. Cool in lukewarm.

Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in ½ cup of sugar and continue beating until stiff and shiny. Whip cream until still. Fold meringue mixture and cream into gelatine mixture. (If desired, add a few drops of orange food colouring).

Turn into soufflé dish. Mixture should extend about 1 inch up foil rim. Chill for several hours.

To serve, carefully remove foil rim. Gently pat nuts around sides of soufflé. Garnish with orange sections.

CANDIED ORANGE PEELS

Cut peel into ¼-inch strips. Place in saucepan and cover with cold water. Bring to a boil, then drain off water. Repeat twice.

Measure the peel. Combine in saucepan with an equal amount of granulated sugar. Add water just to cover. Bring to a boil and cook to 226 degrees F., or until syrup drips from a fork to form a thin thread about 2 inches long.

Remove peel and drain on rack, separating strips; allow to cool slightly. Roll in granulated sugar. Store in air-tight container.

Goose not popular Christmas dinner

Bob Cratchit would have a hard time finding that Christmas goose this year.

Of course, if you remember Dickens' "A Christmas Carol", the goose existed only in the vision shown to Scrooge by the Ghost of Christmas Present. After Scrooge reformed he sent the Cratchits an immense turkey for their Christmas dinner.

Turkey is what you probably will have, too. American poultry production breaks down into about 85 per cent chickens and four per cent turkeys, with the remaining one per cent consisting of ducks, geese, guinea fowl, pigeons, and other birds.

So if you're planning on goose for Christmas, you'd better get your order in right now. Unless, of course, you have a lucky hunter in your family.

Curling season well underway

Curling for the 1968-69 season at the Tofield Curling Club is now well underway.

Curlers are presently curling on natural ice because of a compressor breakdown, but this should be repaired by the end of this week. But, by this time, the Friendship Bonspiel will have been completed. Details on this 'spiel will be released in the next issue of The Mercury.

With the completion of the Friendship Bonspiel, the various leagues that will operate throughout the winter will get underway. Most leagues are about ready to get underway, but the Mixed League and the District and Club League each need more teams to complete full draws.

The next bonspiel will be held Sunday, Dec. 29, with cash prizes.

Ice rentals are available, and arrangements in this regard may be made by contacting Conrad Patterson or Andy Heiberg.

Premier's Christmas message

I sincerely appreciate this opportunity, my first as Premier of Alberta, to extend on behalf of the Government sincere and hearty greetings to each and every citizen of this Province.

Once again the day has come when we pause amid the rush and turmoil of life, to commemorate the most important event of all time. That event was the miraculous birth of the Babe of Bethlehem. None can deny that this holy event has influenced the course of humanity more than any other in the long history of mankind.

The Christ Child came for the express purpose of recovering men from the curse and the consequences of man's inhumanity to man. There can be no true observance of Christmas unless this fact is recognized. No words of men can improve on the message voiced by the heavenly choirs when they heralded the birth of th. Prince of Peace on the world's first Christmas Eve. They sang, "Peace on earth, good will towards men" and their song echoed and re-echoed in the hearts of men throughout the world ever since. Even though the fulfilment of that ancient promise of Christmas may seem beyond our present reach, its ultimate realization is assured to all who recognize that peace on earth and good will among men are bound up inseparably with an unfeigned allegiance to Him and to the practical daily application of the Christian way of life.

The past year has been marked by far - reaching world developments which have given even greater magnitude and added importance to the age - old problem of human relationships as between men and nations.

As we celebrate this Christmas with all the joy and wholesome happiness we can command, we should not forget that we live our "tomorrows", and celebrate our future Christmases in a world that will be what we ourselves make it.

In our keeping of Christmas, let us not forget those less fortunate than ourselves, the stranger in our midst, the homeless and friendless, the sick and afflicted, and all who are in need of understanding and a helping hand.

May all of you, in your homes, enjoy a blessed and joyful Christmas with your loved ones and your friends, and may I, personally, and on behalf of your Government, wish for each of you the best and happiest festive season you have ever known.
